BREWING TROUBLE.

"Lavender Lady" to Ask Divorce.

Millionaire W. J. Lemp Left Home to Save His Child's Peace of Mind.

Wife Had Him on the Hop With Her Temper, Say Intimate Friends.

Beautiful Woman and a Lavish Entertainer, but Servants Won't Stay.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 16.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] William J. Lemp, millionaire head of the Lemp Brewing Company, and his beautiful wife, "The Lavender Lady," have separated, and it is understood divorce proceedings will be begun immediately by Mrs. Lemp on the grounds of incompatibility.

Lemp has left his wife in undisputed possession of the beautiful South Side home, and has taken up his residence at the Washington Hotel, where his brother has rooms. The 6-year-old son is with his mother.

Mrs. Lemp, who was, before her marriage, Miss Lillian Handlan, daughter of A. H. Handlan of the Handlan-Buck Manufacturing Company, acquired her title of "The Lavender Lady" by virtue of her penchant for wearing stunning gowns in which lavender sounded the dominant color note. She is a beautiful woman of many accomplishments, a lavish entertainer and has many friends, but is said to have a temper.

FRIENDS WILL GOSSIP.

Friends of the Lemps in the aristocratic Kenwood society in which they ... years ago, that all was not well between them. It was a matter for quiet gossip that Mrs. Lemp was unable to retain her servants and it was known that several times Mrs. Lemp's father was obliged to intervene to restore peace between his daughter and his son-in-law.

Mrs. Lemp refused to discuss her marital troubles. Her father also was noncommital, while her brother, E. W. Handlan, contented himself with saying that the trouble between Lemp and his wife was a matter of temper, "and it would be a hard matter to tell which is most to blame."

GOOD WORD FOR LEMP.

He added that "Mr. Lemp has led an exemplary life, and is one of the straightest men I ever met. There will be no sensational charges on either side. Mr. Lemp is too much of a gentleman not to permit my sister to sue for a divorce, now that their differences have reached a point where the breach cannot be healed."

WHY LEMP LEFT HOME.

Lemp said: "If the conditions had affected me alone, I might have continued to bear with them. But they also affected our little son, William. The child is now 6 years old, and would not be benefited by being a daily witness to the bickerings of his parents. I had him and his welfare in mind first when I left my home last Saturday. It is very detrimental to a child to live in an atmosphere such as pervaded my home of late years.

"I shall always do my duty by my family, and in removing myself from my wife's presence, I considered that I removed the first impediment to her happiness."

Shares in Manchurian Railroad Are Taken Fully Thousand Times Over.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

TOKIO, Oct. 16.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Baron Terauchi, chairman of the South Manchurian Railway Commission, asserts that while some of the subscribers to shares in that railway are actuated by speculative motives, with the result that the amount required has been oversubscribed one thousand times, nevertheless people are anxious to improve fruits obtained at a sacrifice of thousands of human lives. Its shares, carrying 6 per cent. guaranteed interest, are profitable investments.

SEARCH FOR CLAY CHILD.

Brutus's Young Wife Fled With Assumed Name and Divorce Proceedings.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CHICAGO, Oct. 16.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Chicago is being searched for a child of Brutus J. Clay of Kentucky, relative of the noted Cassius Clay. The young wife fled after instituting divorce proceedings, seven years ago, and came to Chicago and died in the hospital under an assumed name.

It is now claimed a child was born and disappeared, which has an important bearing on the contest for the estate.

MRS. JEFFERSON DAVIS, widow of the President of the Confederate States during the Civil War period, now deceased.

"FIRST LADY" OF CONFEDERACY.

DEATH OF MRS. JEFF DAVIS IN NEW YORK CITY.

Her Wonderful Vitality Lasted Until a Late Hour Last Night When a Decided Change in Her Condition Led on to Demise—Her Son-in-Law En Route to Join Mourners.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

NEW YORK, Oct. 16.—Mrs. Jefferson Davis, widow of the President of the Confederacy, who had been ill for a week at the Hotel Majestic in this city, died at 10:25 o'clock tonight. Death was due to pneumonia induced by a severe cold, which Mrs. Davis contracted upon her return from the Adirondacks, where she had spent the summer months.

Although grave fears were felt from the first, Mrs. Davis's wonderful vitality, which brought her safely through a similar attack a year ago, gave hope of ultimate recovery until last night, when a decided change for the worse was evident, and the attending physicians announced that the end was near.

It was then believed that Mrs. Davis ... morning, she had a similar spell, and Rev. Nathan A. Seagle, rector of St. Stephens Protestant Episcopal Church, was hurriedly summoned to give religious comfort to the patient in her last moments of consciousness. The clergyman remained some time, and an hour later it was announced that Mrs. Davis had lapsed into a state of coma. The period of unconsciouness continued to the end.

At the bedside, when death came, were Mrs. J. Addison Hayes of Newark, N. J., the only surviving daughter of Mrs. Davis; Jefferson Davis Hayes, a grandson, who is a student at Princeton University; Mrs. Charles E. Bateson, a niece; Dr. and Mrs. Gustave Webb, the latter a granddaughter, and Dr. Robert H. Wylie, who, with Dr. Webb, cared for Mrs. Davis throughout her illness.

J. Addison Hayes, husband of Mrs. Davis's only living child, had been summoned from Colorado Springs, and was hurrying across the continent when a message anouncing Mrs. Davis's death intercepted him.

Mrs. Davis has for some years made her home in this city, where she had a wide circle of friends. Throughout her illness solicitous inquiries regarding her condition were made at her apartments. She was 80 years of age.

Melvin of Oakland, Cal., grand exalted ruler, who was unable to be present because of an automobile accident.

FRENCH SUBMARINE SINKS WITH CREW.

Horrible Disaster Off the Tunis Coast Follows a Plunge.

The Lutin Goes Down With Lieut. Phoepen and Fourteen Men and Fails to Rise When Expected. Admiral Bellue Attempts Salvage Operations, but the Heavy Seas and Night Prevent.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

BIZERTA (Tunis) Oct. 16.—The French submarine Lutin left this port, this morning, for plunging experiments. Signals received at 10 o'clock tonight reported her disappearance. Two torpedo boats and three tugs went in search of the submarine.

The Lutin is a single-screw steel submarine boat, built at Rochefort in 1901. She carries a complement of nine men. She is 135 feet long, and has a displacement of 185 tons.

CONFIRMS THE SINKING.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

PARIS, Oct. 16.—M. Thompson, the Minister of Marine, has received an official dispatch from the naval commandant at Bizerta, confirming the sinking of the submarine boat Lutin. The message says:

"The submarine Lutin, while exercising off jetties, disappeared from the view of the accompanying tug. Search and dragging operations were begun at once, and resistance was felt at a depth of 130 feet, near the place where the Lutin sank."

BISERTA, Oct. 16.—It now appears almost certain, according to news received at a late hour tonight, that the crew of the Lutin has suffered a fate similar to that which overtook the crew of the submarine Farfadet here recently. The crew of the Lutin numbered fourteen men, under command of Lieut. Phoepen.

Admiral Bellue, commander of the Tunis naval division, who went out on board a tug, returned at a late hour tonight, and said that, owing to the heavy seas and the obscurity, it was impossible to continue salvage operations until dawn.

The tugs and torpedo boats, however, will remain through the night at the place where the Lutin made her final plunge.

One of these boats reports that its ... belonging to this port, which are at present about to assist in raising a French schooner wrecked on the coast, will return in the morning and participate in the work.

The British Consul-General proposed to the French Resident-General to telegraph to the British Admiralty at Malta for salvage and assistance. This offer was accepted, and powerful salvage apparatus will be sent at once to the scene of the catastrophe.

RECALLS FARFADET INCIDENT.

The reported loss of the Lutin recalls the catastrophe to the French submarine Farfadet, July 6, 1905, at the entrance to the port of Sidi Abdallah, Tunis. Commandant Rotier of the Farfadet noticed at the moment of plunging that one of the doors was not closed properly, and rushed to try to adjust it. He was too late, however, and the boat sank. Fourteen men perished.

March 12, 1904, the British submarine A-1 was run down by a steamer while submerged, near Portsmouth. ... submarine A-5 sank off Queenstown, only one of her crew being saved.

A third British submarine sank off Plymouth June 8, 1905, after an explosion on board. Fourteen of her crew were killed.

AGED LADY FALLS HEIR TO MILLION.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CHICAGO, Oct. 16.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Miss Jennie Phipps, aged 66 years, of Troy, N. Y., has fallen heir to $1,000,000 by the death of Mrs. Anna Morgan-Baker, the widow of W. T. Baker, a multimillionaire who was a prominent citizen of Chicago.

The spinster, who for years has been assisted by the Baker family, comes into possession of this vast amount because she is the only blood relation of Mrs. Baker, being a sister.

W. T. Baker died three years ago, and left no will. His wife, who was mentally deranged, received a widow's dower, amounting to $1,000,000, all in personal property. She was the second wife of Baker.

CHILDREN LOSE SHARES.

The rest of the estate was divided among his five children. According to the law, not a dollar of the estate can go to the children, because they are not blood relations. The estate would have been disposed of differently had it consisted of real estate, but under the existing conditions the children of Baker cannot lay claim to any part of the personal property, therefore it passes into the hands of the sister of the dead woman.

HOLDINGS IN LIGHT.

Among the holdings of Mrs. Baker were bonds and stocks in Western Power and Lighting properties and a big block of stock in the National Biscuit Company. She owned a half interest in the Tacoma Light and Power Company, and half of the stock of a big ice concern in Seattle.

Mrs. Baker died yesterday at the home of her step-daughter, Mrs. Van W. Alling, at Lake Forest. Being of unsound mind, she could make no will, and under the inheritance law, the fortune will go to her sister.

HANDLED SUMS OF MAGNITUDE.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW YORK, Oct. 16.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Thomas Alexander Phelan, a member of a wealthy family and one of the parties to a litigation in which Pope Pius X is a defendant, committed suicide today by shooting himself in the head in a room on the top floor of a house on Lexington avenue, where he had been living for the last four weeks.

Phelan's body was found by Mrs. Mary Bolger, the landlady. It was stretched across the bed, fully dressed. A hand mirror lying near to it showed that the self-destroyer had meant to make sure of his shot.

Mrs. Bolger said that Phelan's rent had been paid up to today, and that he appeared to be a wealthy man. This supposition was corroborated not only by what is known of his connections, but by the fact that in the room were found checks indicating that within the last few years he had handled sums aggregating several hundred thousand dollars.

There was a letter from Corbin & O'Ryan, a Broadway firm, stating that they had been authorized to give Phelan no more aid, and asking that he send them a check for $100 for services. Among other papers was found a check drawn to his own order dated January 7, 1905, for $12,000.

Perhaps the most interesting document found, however, was a clipping from a newspaper purporting to be a "Greeting from the Supreme Court" of this State, "to be sent to the Vatican at Rome, directing Sarto, Pope Pius X., to defend a suit in the Supreme Court of New York."

Justice Amend, in the Supreme Court, signed the order for this to be made on the Pope by publication, and on the application of George Flint Warren, counsel for Charles G. Koss, executor of the will of the late Marie Louise Phelan, for the construction of the will of Marie Phelan, her mother, who was also the mother of the man who killed himself.

Mrs. Phelan was the widow of Edward Phelan, formerly of the firm of Phelan & Delamere in Mobile, Ala., which went out of business at the outbreak of the Civil War. At that time the family went abroad, where Phelan died, and after residing in Paris and London for a number of years, the widow and her children returned to this country.

Mrs. Phelan died in 1885, leaving her estate to her children, including Thomas Alexander Phelan and other near relatives, but making provision that, upon the death of the last surviving child, the trust created for that child should be given to the Pope for the benefit of the church. The clause was regarded as ambiguous, and suit to test the validity of the will was begun here.

Governor of Philippines Asks Help to Secure Insular Tariff Bill.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

MANILA, Oct. 17.—Gen. Harrison Gray Otis of Los Angeles and a party of tourists have arrived in the Philippines, and are now being entertained by the citizens of Manila. Gov.-Gen. HARRIMAN AND "HOLY GHOSTS."

GOV. COBB UNABLE TO ASSIST THE SITUATION.

Evils at Shiloh Have Caused a Sensation in Maine—Two Years Ago State Authorities Were Asked to Proceed Against Colony—Sandford Was Convicted, but Escaped.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

AUGUSTA (Me.) Oct. 16.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] "I am powerless to take action against conditions you say exist at Shiloh," is the tenor of Gov.

GOV. W. T. COBB.

Cobb's reply to the protest of N. H. Harriman of Boston against the evils at the "Holy Ghost" colony at Shiloh, Me.

Harriman asked Gov. Cobb that an end be put to the neglect and suffering of the Shiloh inmates. His communication was accompanied by a letter from Mrs. Fred Gaillet, whose exposé yesterday created a sensation throughout Maine. Mrs. Gaillet told of her departure from Shiloh with her three children, bound for her mother's home in Tacoma, Wash., and how she was threatened by the Shiloh elders and forced to walk in darkness ten miles to the nearest refuge, through sand knee deep.

Gov. Cobb's disposition of the case is similar to that of Gov. Hill, who was asked to proceed against Shiloh two years ago. The latter ruled that any complaint must be made to the attorney for Androscoggin county. Conviction was then secured in one case against Rev. Frank Sandford, Shiloh's "Elijah," of cruelty to a child, but sentence was deferred through appeals to the higher court and Sanford escaped punishment, to continue his doings and eventually sail away to the Holy Land on a palatial yacht.

BOSTON, Oct. 16.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] "In Shiloh, Me., are hundreds of starving people. Some are helpless invalids, who receive no medical aid, and others are affected with mental disorders. Fully fifty Bostonians, mostly women, are in the colony," said Mrs. Fred Gaillet, a refugee from the Holy Ghost Colony ruled over by Rev. Frank Sandford.

She asks Gov. Cobb to drive the Shilohites from the State and forever close the doors of the so-called "Temple of God."

The cemetery at Shiloh is being rapidly filled, says Mrs. Gaillet. "Hardly a day passes without a new mound being made in the graveyard. People give up all their worldly possessions and enter Shiloh because they are promised evangelistic work in different parts of the world, after a course of training, but all they get is ill-treatment and abuse."

PITIFUL SHOWING.

Mrs. Colton's Mental State Told.

Dr. James F. Mitchell Is Placed on the Stand in Will Contest.

Testifies He Could Not Consider Her Capable of Business Affairs.

Seigfried Sacher and John B. Dahlgren Interested in Proceedings.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON, Oct. 16.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Dr. James F. Mitchell was the principal witness, today, for the contestant at the hearing of the contest over the will of Mrs. D. D. Colton of California. Dr. Mitchell testified that Mrs. Colton was of unsound mind during certain periods of her last illness.

Dr. Mitchell was called in consultation with Dr. E. T. Sowers as to the advisability of performing an operation on Mrs. Colton. He stated that he was called on November 27, 1904, and made subsequent visits to the Colton home on Connecticut Avenue, lasting until December 18, 1904, when he withdrew from the case.

To the direct question of Attorney J. F. Riley for the contestant, Helen Sacher, "Do you think Mrs. Helen M. Colton, patient, was of such enfeebled mental condition as to render her incapable of conducting her business affairs?" Dr. Mitchell replied: "It is certainly my opinion that she had no mental grasp of sufficient capability for concentrated thought, or any detailed mental application."

[illegible] testified that Mrs. Colton suffered many delusions, which resulted in mental hallucinations. He said the aged woman, although he had been told she was 72 years old, had the wasted appearance of a woman aged 80.

The contestants will probably offer testimony of two nurses other than that of Miss Sarah Cox, who testified at yesterday's hearing that Mrs. Colton was mentally unsound during almost the whole time of her nursing, a period of seven weeks. The contestants, according to Attorney Joseph Redding, Riley's associate counsel, will show that Mrs. Colton suffered from frequent hallucinations, and was not capable of judging between those who expected to receive the favor of her bounty.

SACHER AND DAHLGREN.

Both Seigfried Sacher, father of the little 6-year-old contestant and who married Miss Helen Colton Thornton, Mrs. Colton's favorite grandchild, and John B. Dahlgren, who married Miss Martin, are interested spectators at the hearings. During the process of cross-examination, they offer frequent suggestions to the contending attorneys, and are apparently intent on leaving no stone unturned to establish the right of their respective positions in the will contest.

EDITOR TURNS OVER REWARD.

GIVES TO BANK MONEY FOR STENSLAND'S CAPTURE.

Check for $5000 Is Not Accepted but Presented to Wrecked Institution and Newspaper Also Makes Cook County Present of Expenses of Long Pursuit.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

CHICAGO, Oct. 16.—The Chicago Clearinghouse Association today sent to James Keeley, managing editor of the Chicago Tribune, a check for $5000, the amount of the reward offered by the association for the capture of Paul O. Stensland, the former president of the Milwaukee-avenue State Bank, who was arrested in Tangier, and who is now serving a sentence in the penitentiary at Joliet.

The check was by Editor Keeley, for the Tribune, at once turned over to the receiver of the bank, to be included among the assets and ultimately distributed among the depositors.

In addition to sending this check to the receiver of the bank, the Tribune, which bore the entire expense incident to the pursuit, capture and return of Stensland, has made a present to the taxpayers of Cook county of the total sum expended in the undertaking, which amounted to another $5000.

ROGER C. SULLIVAN,
secretary and treasurer of the new hundred-million-dollar gas and electric merger.

ENORMOUS CAPITAL IN LIGHT MERGER.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CHICAGO, Oct. 16.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Consolidation of the Chicago Edison Company and the Peoples' Gas Light and Coke Company in a union of financial interests approximating $100,000,000 was the startling possibility to which La Salle street awakened today.

It was declared that the consolidation is now only a matter of a short time, the sole condition being the purchase price.

The lever used by the gas forces has been the franchise of the Cosmopolitan Railway Company, purchased at the time the franchise of the Ogden Gas Company was taken over.

The Cosmopolitan franchise still has thirty-nine years of life, and in many respects its provisions are deemed better than those the Edison company will be able to get from the City Council in its new franchise.

Roger C. Sullivan is its secretary and treasurer.

Arrangements Completed for Honeymoon in Europe Are Called Off. Intimations of Opposition from the Parents of the Groom—Short Stay in Pittsburgh.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

PITTSBURGH (Pa.) Oct. 16.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Arrangements which had been completed for the honeymoon of Frederick Cole Fairbanks and bride, to be spent in Europe, were today called off, and though the official announcement came from the home of James Scott, where the couple now are, all information as to why such is the case was denied.

Young Mr. Fairbanks is the son of Vice-President Fairbanks of the United States, and though his elopement from Pittsburgh to Steubenville, with pretty Nellie Scott some days ago, caused no little gossip at this end of the State, it was given out at the time that Vice-President Fairbanks had simply laughed at the elopement, but developments of the day tend to the belief that all has not been well, so far as reconciliation is concerned.

At the Scott home this evening, it was said simply that there would be no trip to Europe; that the couple had decided to stay in Pittsburgh some days, and then go to the home of the groom at Springfield, O.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW YORK, Oct. 16.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Believed to be the gift of the Emperor of Germany to a titled person in Austria, a gold jewel case valued at $500, studded with diamonds and emblazoned with the initial "W," surmounted by the imperial crown of Germany, is in the hands of the customs officers, taken from a passenger Wednesday on the steamship Deutchland from Hamburg.

Hugo L. Lederer, living at No. 22 West One hundred and Eleventh street, brought the box, failing to declare it.

Lederer said, while in Vienna, that he made the acquaintance of a woman who appeared to be in straightened circumstances. She besought him to buy a ticket that showed that the jewel box was in pawn. He did so, and as a result it may become an international question, as representatives of the German government have started an investigation.

ST. PETERSBURG, Oct. 16.—Rush orders were issued today by the Ministers of Interior and Ways and Communications for establishing military guards on all trains, equipping punitive trains and constructing special guardhouses at the entrances to all stations. The order requires that the preparations be completed in a fortnight that all may be in readiness to prevent outbreaks during the strike that is scheduled for October 30, the anniversary of the imperial manifesto granting a measure of self-government to the people.

The admiralty has determined to build a battleship of the Dreadnaught type. In order to overcome Minister of Finance Kokovsoff's refusal to supply him with funds, Vice-Admiral Birileff, Minister of Marine, has appealed directly to Emperor Nicholas, who will brush all obstacles aside and order M. Kokovskoff to transfer to Admiral Birileff $9,000,000.

Semenova, the young medical student confined in the Central Detention Prison of St. Petersburg, who was shot and killed by a sentry September 16, when she showed herself at the window of her cell overlooking the courtyard, the commander of the St. Petersburg garrison, in an order of the day, thanked the soldier who killed the girl and has given him a reward of five dollars. In addition the soldier, who belongs to the Seminovsky Regiment, is upheld in the order of the day as an example to his comrades of the faithful performance of duty.

RIDICULES MANIFESTO.

SAYS IT IS VALUELESS.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

ST. PETERSBURG, Oct. 16.—The Minister of Finance, M. Kokovsoff has published a statement, giving the results of direct taxation for the past eight months, showing an increase of receipts. From this and other indications, he contends that the Vibors manifesto of the outlawed Parliament had no effect even in the most revolutionary districts, decreases in receipts being only noticeable in the famine districts. M. Kokovsoff says further that there is no indication that the Viborg propaganda has had any effect on the enrolling of recruits.

PLAN MORE MASSACRES.

Unionists Hope to Repeat the Slaughter of Jews Same as Last October.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

ODESSA, Oct. 16.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The local branch of the Russian People's Union, which includes a very large rowdy element, threatens a bloody celebration of the anniversary of the black October days of last year.

The plan is to repeat the frightful massacres which desolated the Jewish quarters of the city from November 1 to 5, according to the ordinary calendar.

It appears from extended inquiries among members of the union that this is no empty threat.

The intention is there and is so seriously regarded by the Jews that they are now electing strong deputations to lay the matter before Prefect Maj. Gen. Grigorieff, in whose honesty, energy and humanitarianism they repose fullest confidence.

SHE ROASTS 'EM.

Upward of 500 women, representatives of as many women's clubs, scattered throughout the State, listened to an attack upon the Sunday-school libraries, and cheered vociferously today.

Mrs. Ella W. Peattie of Chicago was the speaker, and her audience was composed of the delegates to the annual convention of the Illinois Federation of Women's Clubs.

"No child, who is to become a person of taste, and a lover of truth, should be allowed to roam unguarded through the maudlin monstrosities of the poorer sort of Sunday-school libraries," said Mrs. Peattie.

CITY OWNERSHIP FAILS.

Municipal ownership and operation in Harlem has proved a failure. The village board has decided that "foreign" companies shall operate the water plant and furnish electric light for the streets.

Members of the village board said today that under the present municipal ownership method they have been falling steadily behind and if the present system is continued it eventually would lead to bankruptcy.

REGISTRATION LIGHT.

Incomplete returns on today's registration indicate that the total registration in Chicago and Cicero will not exceed 350,000 today, and the total will approximate 150,000. Not unexpectedly the Democratic organization failed to come up to the promises of its leaders.

The figures show uniform gains over 1902 in Republican wards and losses in Democratic wards.

HIS CHAIRMAN SCORES HIM.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

NEW YORK, Oct. 16.—A special meeting of the Democratic General Committee of Kings county, called for the purpose of ratifying the nominations made on the State and local ticket, was held tonight.

Senator Patrick H. McCarren, the chairman of the Executive Committee, offered a resolution indorsing the platform and candidates nominated at the Buffalo convention. Before the resolutions were voted on, Senator McCarren denounced the head of the ticket, who, he said, had bolted the ticket in the county. Never within his recollection had such a situation confronted the party as was presented in this campaign. The spectacle of a leader refusing to recognize the ticket which he headed was certainly a novel one. It was an insult to every Democrat in the county and they would be less than human if they did not feel a spirit of resentment. He called upon all voters to resent what he termed the "unjustifiable vilification of the respective candidates."

Senator McCarren continued at some length in a bitter denunciation of Hearst, who, he declared, was trying to disrupt the Democratic party in the States of California and Illinois. The Independence League was also roundly condemned by the Senator, who styled it a body "organized for the purpose of blackmailing the Democratic party."

When he had concluded, Senator McCarren moved the adoption of the resolutions, which were unanimously adopted.

A motion was also made that the committee express their approval of the attitude of Senator McCarren, which was done by a rising vote.

AGAIN ASSAILS DOLBEER WILL.

Counsel Makes Sensational Attack on Heiress.

Hints That Foul Play May Have Caused Death.

Glacier Breaks Barrier and Fills Bay With Trees.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 16.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Attorney Darwin C. Angellotti, counsel for Horatio Schander in the long legal battle that has resulted from the second attempt to break the will of the millionaire heiress, Sarah M. Dolbeer, took occasion in delivering his closing argument in the case before Judge Coffey to make serious charges of a conspiracy, which he alleged existed between Miss Warren and Miss Dolbeer's devisee, and William Mugan, the executor of the will. Angellotti also hinted broadly at the possibility of foul play in connection with Miss Dolbeer's fatal fall from a second-story window of the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel in New York City, declaring that she either deliberately threw herself from the window or was pushed out."

"There is not one least doubt in the case," Angellotti declared, "that Sarah M. Dolbeer precipitated herself from the window or else was helped out of it. One or the other must have happened, for it was impossible for her to have gone out. And why was she permitted to go to that window? Why was it that Miss Warren did not have attendants to care for her? Miss Warren would have said to herself: 'If you die, I am going to get your money. Go ahead and die.'"

Throughout his address Degolia made personal charges right and left. He asserted that the instrument purporting to be Miss Dolbeer's will was the terrible result of a plan formed in Miss Warren's mind years ago, when she first entered the Dolbeer home as a means to gain possession of the Dolbeer millions, that she needed a "confederate," and that she found a willing one in the person of the "money-loving Mr. Mugan."

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 16.—[Exclusive.] Attorney Darwin C. Brown, counsel for Horatio Schander in the second attempt to break the will of the millionaire heiress, Mrs. W. Dolbeer, took occasion in his closing argument in the case before Judge Coffey to make sensational charges of a conspiracy, which he declared existed between Miss Warren, the Dolbeer's deviate, and William Dolbeer, the executor of the will. He also hinted broadly at the theory of foul play in connection with Mrs. Dolbeer's fatal fall from a window of the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel in New York City, declaring that she either deliberately jumped from the window or was thrown out.

"There is not one least doubt in the mind," Brown declared, "that Bertha either precipitated herself from the window or else was helped out of it by the other must have happened. MURDER IS MYSTERIOUS.

Y.M.C.A. SECRETARY SHOT DOWN IN COLD BLOOD.

Suspicion That Deed Was Done by Personal Enemy Is Entertained by Victim's Friends—Police Believe Crime Was Work of Footpad—Dead Man a Californian.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

SPOKANE (Wash.) Oct. 16.—Reno Hutchinson, secretary of the Y.M.C.A., was shot and killed about 8 o'clock last night by a highwayman at Seventh and Howard, in the best residence section of the city.

Facts learned today indicate to the police that it was the crime of a footpad, and not of a personal enemy, as is claimed by the dead man's friends.

The theory advanced today is that while Secretary Hutchinson was going to a Y.M.C.A. meeting, about 8 o'clock last evening, he was confronted by a footpad in front of ex-Senator George Turner's home. Instead of putting up his hands, it is believed Hutchinson, who was a trained athlete, struck at the robber, but missed, and whirled partly around from the force of the blow.

The robber fired, the bullet entering Hutchinson's back and passing clear through the body. Hutchinson fell into the yard of Postmaster Hartson, dying about fifteen minutes later. The only words he was heard to say were "I've been shot."

The robber fled toward the city, and at about the same time another man was seen running east on Seventh avenue, supposed to be the partner of the murderer.

Reno Hutchinson took up his work as secretary of the Spokane Y.M.C.A. last August, having previously been employed for five years as director of religious work in the Portland Y.M.C.A. He was a graduate of the University of California, where he was once famous as an end on the football team, later being business manager of the Athletic Association.

For several weeks Spokane has shared with other Coast cities in an epidemic of burglaries, hold-ups and thefts of many kinds. This last crime has aroused the citizens and a general clean-up of the city may result.

THEORY OF FRIENDS.

PERSONAL FOE ACCUSED.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

PORTLAND (Or.) Oct. 16.—The Evening Telegram today printed the following in connection with the murder of Reno Hutchinson, secretary of the Y.M.C.A. at Spokane, last night:

"That Reno Hutchinson may have been deliberately shot down in cold blood by a man who harbored such enmity toward Y.M.C.A. work that he would not hesitate to murder any secretary who promised to make a success of the association in Spokane city, is feared by some of the man's closest friends in this city.

The Spokane authorities have been acquainted with the suspicions of these friends, and have been urged to make a complete examination along this line. The friends of the dead secretary say there is but one man in the world who could have had any motive for shooting Hutchinson, and he bore no personal grudge against the young man, but against the work he was engaged in, and would have murdered any one who attained the same degree of success in promoting association work in Spokane. Those who claim to know this suspect and his reasons for harboring such a malicious feeling against successful Y.M.C.A. workers of Spokane, refuse to give out any information as to who he is, or why he should be so disposed toward the association and its work in Spokane."

BULGARIAN PLOT DISCOVERED.

SALONICA (European Turkey) Oct. 16.—A Bulgarian plot was discovered yesterday at Meinik, fifty-five miles northeast of here. Thirty arrests have already been made, and more are expected. RESTRAINT OF TRADE ONE-HORSE DOINGS.

Chicago Broker Tells Interstate Commissioners the Windy City is Being Hurt—Testimony in Behalf of Armour's.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

CHICAGO, Oct. 16.—Richard Gambrill, a Board of Trade broker, was the first witness called today when the Interstate Commerce Commission resumed its inquiry in the methods of handling grain in the West and Northwest. He declared that the rules of the Chicago Board of Trade are clearly in restraint of trade, and are rapidly making the Chicago grain market, in the words of the witness, "a one-horse proposition."

"A rule is posted on the Chicago Board of Trade each afternoon," said Mr. Gambrill, "which prevents me from going into the country and bidding for grain. That, to my mind, is detrimental to business, and is in restraint of trade."

Samuel Finney, another broker on the Board of Trade, testified that there is an agreement between certain Board of Trade men to bid certain prices for grain in the country, and he named two firms which he declared are a party to this agreement. Employés of these firms were at once served with subpoenas.

President Winchell of the Rock Island road was then called to tell about the purchase of elevators from the Chicago, Rock Island Elevator Company for $1,000,000, concerning which Mr. Shaffer testified yesterday.

James Pettit, president of the Peavy Grain Company, testified that up to sixty days ago there was an agreement between six elevator companies whereby their profits on the storage of grain were assured them, each agreeing to refrain from taking grain from the warehouse for storage. He said that this agreement was dropped when the new rate law went into effect.

President Winchell's testimony covered the details of the purchase of the elevators and contained nothing sensational.

W. S. Jackson, former president of the Chicago Board of Trade, testified that he had known of cases where grain had been stored in elevators that belonged to the owners of the warehouses.

In such cases, he stated, it was the custom to transfer the title of the grain before storing it, thus in a way complying with the letter of the law. After the grain was removed from the elevators, he asserted, it would be retransferred to the owner.

Several other grain men testified that such a practice was in vogue and stated that they did not consider it in violation of the law.

TESTIFIES FOR ARMOURS.

Secretary James of the Armour Elevator Company and Armour Grain Company, said the Armours control, besides these two companies, the Neola Elevator Company, Milwaukee Elevator Company and the Southwestern Elevator Company. He said that the officers in all these companies were practically the same. The Neola company, he asserted, leased some elevators from the Chicago, Burlington and Quincy Railroad Company at the rate of $3500 a quarter, the railroad paying taxes, insurance and repairs.

PRESIDENT MARCY DECLARES.

George Marcy, president of the two companies bearing Armour's name, was the next witness. He declared that the competition for bidding on grain in the country was so keen and there are so many commission men in Chicago after it that by the time the grain reaches Chicago there is little profit in it.

When asked about the rule on the Chicago Board of Trade fixing prices to be bid on country grain, especially as to its fairness, Marcy declared it was not fair and that he voted against it.

RUMSEY DISSUADES FARMERS.

I. P. Rumsey of Rumsey & Company, for fifty years a member of the Chicago Board of Trade, then took the stand and declared that he is unqualifiedly in favor of the Grain Dealers' Association and in favor of discouraging farmers in the elevator business. He said it was not fair to commission men who deal honorably, and that this state of affairs should not be allowed to go on. He concluded his testimony with the remark: "The grain dealers are the most honorable men as a class in the world."

COMPACT AMONG COMPANIES.

Mr. Pettit declared that the agreement between the elevator companies provided that each company should pay in 3-5 of a cent a bushel of the storage for the first ten days, the money to be kept in a fund to be redistributed to the companies in proportion to the amount of grain in each storage house. Under this agreement, if no grain went out of the stores, all of the money was returned. If there were but two companies in the agreement and one allowed 100,000 bushels to be taken out, that company would get back two-thirds of the amount it had paid in, and the other company would retain one-third.

Pettit declared that he was not sure whether the new rate law would permit of this agreement, and, not being able to obtain a legal opinion as to its legality, he withdrew from the agreement. Those who had been in it with him, he said, were the Armour Elevator Company, Calumet Elevator Company, Central Elevator Company, South Chicago Elevator Company and the J. Rosebaum Grain Company. The witness said that the agreement did not prevent competition, but declared that it allowed the bidding of a higher price for grain in the country.

A number of prominent local grain dealers have been subpoenaed before the commission tomorrow.

FINAL ARGUMENTS IN FINDLAY COURT.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

FINDLAY (O.) Oct. 16.—Both the State and the defense rested their case in the trial here of the Standard Oil Company of Ohio for alleged conspiracy against trade this morning. Argument of counsel followed.

The defense closed its case with the submission, as evidence, of a single document, the decree of the Supreme Court of the State, declaring the defendant company "not guilty" in the contempt proceedings of 1900. The defense made its main point that while the evidence showed all the so-called subsidiary companies to be owned by the Standard Oil Company of New York, not one syllable of evidence had been adduced to show that the defendant company was so owned.

FINDLAY (O.) Oct. 16.—W. L. Finley, State Inspector of Oil, was the first witness today in the trial of the Standard Oil Company of Ohio for alleged conspiracy against trade.

From reports in his office Finley said one-half of the oil refined in Ohio was refined at Lima. This oil is shipped in the cars of the Union Tank Line Company. The Standard Oil Company of Ohio, he said, had from one hundred and eighty to two hundred stations for the distribution and sale of refined oil, while the Solar company had no such stations.

M. C. Shaffer, deputy local oil inspector at Findlay, said the Standard was selling oil at retail in Hancock county, and no other company sold oil here except the National Refining Company. With this evidence the State rested its case.

EVIDENCE FOR DEFENSE.

Kline, for the defense, then put in the first evidence for the defense. He first introduced as evidence a certified copy of the journal entry, the judgment of the court in the case of the State of Ohio against the Standard Oil Company, known as the contempt proceedings.

Kline read this record, and then announced "Defendant rests."

ARGUMENT OF COUNSEL.

In a five-minute recess it was arranged that five speeches would be made to the jury, three by the State's attorneys and two by the defense.

Prosecutor David, for the State, reviewing the documentary evidence to the jury, said it was not disputed by any one that the Standard Oil trust actually existed in 1882. The State now contends that this same trust, only under another name, still exists. He mentioned the various local companies now doing business in the State saying they were members of the original trust.

"The people in the case," said David, "claim that the Standard Oil Company of New Jersey now owns the stock of those subsidiary companies, each one dependent upon the other and right now doing business among us. We have shown that the same gentlemen—John D. Rockefeller, William Rockefeller, Flagler, Archbold, Rogers—are today the heads of these companies. These men were of the nine original trustees in the trust."

THE ORIGINAL TRUST.

The Standard Oil trust agreement of 1882, said Phelps of the prosecution, who followed David, was responsible for every trust on this continent—it was the original trust.

The laws of Ohio require, he continued, that the Standard Oil Company of New Jersey, the owner of these subsidiary companies, must come here and do business in its own name. All that we can require is that it shall cease to defy the law of this State. The evidence, he said, showed beyond the shadow of a doubt that the Valentine law was being violated.

Troup, who followed Phelps, presented the case for the defense. Much has been said, he began, about the Buckeye Pipe Line Company, the Solar Refining Company, the Manhattan Oil Company, the Ohio Oil Company, and all of these companies have been alleged to be the property of a New Jersey corporation.

But, Mr. Troup emphasized, none of these companies is on trial here. The only defendant here is the Standard Oil Company of Ohio.

Summed up, he said, the charge against the defendant was this: "That the defendant is a member of a trust formed in 1882, and has continued so down to the present time."

Troup justified combinations of capital, brains, energy and action as essential to the progress of the world. It was such combinations which had produced civilization, and these in themselves were not, and could not be unlawful.

MISSOURI'S OUSTER SUIT.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 16.—The hearing of the State's ouster suit against the Standard, Waters—Pierce and Republic Oil companies was resumed today, for the presentation of testimony in defense, but was continued until November 8.

NO DAWDLING

A Man of 70, After Finding Coffee Hurt Him, Stopped Short.

When a man has lived to be 70 years old with a 40-year-old habit grown to him like a knot on a tree, chances are he'll stick to the habit till he dies.

But occasionally the spirit of youth and determination remains in some men to the last day of their lives. When such men do find any habit of life has been doing them harm, they surprise the Oslerites by a degree of will power that is supposed to belong to men under 40, only.

"I had been a user of coffee until three years ago—a period of 40 years—and am now 70," writes a N. Dak. man. "I was extremely nervous and debilitated, and saw plainly that I must make a change.

"I am thankful to say I had the nerve to quit coffee at once and take on Postum without any dawdling, and experienced no ill effects. On the contrary, I commenced to gain, losing my nervousness within two months, also gaining strength and health otherwise.

"For a man of my age, I am very well and hearty. I sometimes meet persons who have not made their Postum right, and do not like it. But I tell them to boil it long enough, and call their attention to my looks now, and before I used it, that seems convincing.

"Now, when I have writing to do, or long columns of figures to cast up, I feel equal to it and can get through my work without the fagged out feeling of old." Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich. Read the book, "The Road to Wellville," in pkgs. "There's a reason."

TO STAY CORN FAMINE.

Gov. Ahumada Appeals to the General Government for Removal of Duty on American Maize.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

EL PASO (Tex.) Oct. 16.—To prevent a corn famine Gov. Ahumada has made an appeal to the general government of Mexico for the removal of the duties from American corn for importation. This request has been made on a petition from the business men of Jalisco.

The corn crop in that section of Mexico is reported to be very light owing to the many floods this year.

Gov. Ahumada says there will be a shortage unless some remedy is taken to relieve the situation. There is a scarcity of corn in many other Mexican States, it is reported, due, also, to the floods.

UNION LABOR'S YELL FOR BELL.

TVEITMOE AT SANTA ROSA IS GIVING GILLETT "HALIFAX."

William Hearst Denounced as "Not Born Big Enough" to Fit the Presidency—Langdon Criticised as a "Sideshow"—Audience's Enthusiasm Altogether Democratic.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SANTA ROSA, Oct. 16.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The Hub Theater was filled to overflowing, last evening, with the people who came to greet the speakers of the Union Labor Party of the Coast. Preceding the meeting was a parade through the streets, headed by Park's Santa Rosa band and marshaled by Fred Forget. Practically six hundred union laborites were in line, and made a great demonstration for Bell for Governor.

J. S. Parry declared that labor unions should engage in politics for their own protection, so as to better their condition and have more with which to educate their children and give their families greater comforts.

O. A. Tvetmoe, secretary of the State Building Council, San Francisco's notorious labor union boss, boycott bully and strike promoter, claimed that Gillett was nominated by Harrin on orders of the Southern Pacific, and that the nomination was ordered at a banquet at Washington by Harriman.

He declared Gillett's record was always against the unions' interests while a member of Congress, and accused him of killing bills in committee. The speaker lauded Bell, and claimed he was a friend of the labor unions.

Tvetmoe declared the cry against labor unions going into politics never come from the people who have the interest of laborers at heart.

Langdon was referred to as a sideshow of William Hearst. The speaker said Hearst aspired to the Presidency, but was not born big enough to fit the office. Editor Roberts of the Examiner was referred to as the real North Pole, and that explorers need not go to the Arctic to find the same. The speaker created much merriment when he said Hearst was "Don Quixote," and that Langdon was his Sancho Pensa.

"SUREST THING IN POLITICS."

CANNON WILL BE SPEAKER.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

WASHINGTON, Oct. 16.—Representative Grosvenor of Ohio tonight gave out his biennial estimate of the composition of the next House of Representatives, declaring the surest thing in American politics is that Mr. Cannon "will be Speaker for another term, with a good working, Roosevelt-supporting stand-pat majority behind him."

He enumerates forty-two doubtful districts in various States, in which, he says, the Republicans should carry ten districts, and on the basis that the Republicans are as likely to carry some districts they lost in 1904 as the Democrats are to regain over thirty-two of those districts, figures an apparent Republican majority of fifty.

Police Believe Small-caliber Pistol Was Placed Against Sleeping Man's Heart and Fired by Young Girl With Whom He Lived—Couple Had Many Quarrels.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

COUNCIL BLUFFS (Iowa) Oct. 16.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Frank K. Potts, a prominent grain man of this city, was found dead in his bed today with a bullet through his heart.

Lena Ripley, a young girl with whom Potts lived, is under arrest, charged with shooting him. Potts met the girl six months ago in Lincoln, Neb., and the two came here to live together. They had frequently quarreled, it is said.

According to the story told by the girl, Potts came home and complained of feeling sick. She ran for a doctor, but Potts was dead when the physician arrived.

On examination, it was found that a small bullet had been fired directly through the heart. It is the theory of the police that the girl carefully opened Potts's shirt, while he was asleep, and placing the muzzle of a small pistol against the flesh, fired the bullet.

THE POLITICAL WATCH TOWER

Still hesitating, Councilman George A. Smith told me yesterday that he would require one more day to determine whether or not he will be a candidate for the Republican nomination for Mayor of Los Angeles. "To be, or not to be," he soliloquized, and echo answered "not to be." Just after his hasty return from the Nevada gold fields on Monday, Mr. Smith said he would require two days to think it over, and he still is thinking. Of course, said he, it was purely by accident that he came into the city on the same train that brought Walter Parker back from the East.

The Councilman's concern over the situation that has developed since his departure ten days ago leaves no doubt that he still would like to be Mayor. It is a question with him of finding that he will have delegates in the city convention in sufficient number to give him the nomination.

Already the rival candidacies of Dr. Walter Lindley and Mr. Smith have caused a great deal of confusion in the ranks of the Republican organization. The hide-bound machine workers are waiting to learn the wishes of the bosses, while the more independent ones are taking up the Lindley movement and causing it to assume proportions.

Lindley's close friends think Smith will be a candidate.

Dr. Lindley and his lieutenants are working actively in every ward, ready to place their own tickets in the field at the primaries whichever way Mr. Smith may decide today with regard to his candidacy. Dr. Lindley has had sufficient experience in the game of politics to meet any turn of a possible opponent, and it was predicted yesterday by his friends that he will secure the election of enough delegates to insure his nomination.

The primary election in the city will be held next Tuesday. Indications now are that there will be no precinct caucuses. The Republican City Central Committee at a meeting tonight at headquarters will decide the caucus question. If no caucuses be held, the precinct committeemen in many instances will select the list of delegates to be voted on at the primaries.

Dist.-Atty. Fredericks has advised County Clerk Keyes not to accept or file the certificates of nomination for places on the Democratic county ticket of D. A. Schweitzer for Township Justice, and Joseph F. Chambers and William Frederickson for City Justices. The nominations, according to the opinion of the District Attorney, are not authorized by the election law respecting vacancies. Chambers and Frederickson are the nominees of the Republicans and of the county Non-Partisans, while Schweitzer is the nominee only of the latter organization. While their names will appear on the tickets of the parties that nominated them regularly, they cannot, according to the view of the District Attorney, appear in the Democratic column on the official ballot.

A. S. Vandegrift has been nominated by the Non-Partisan City Central Committee as its candidate for Councilman from the Second Ward. He is manager of the Regal shoe store on Broadway and has been a resident of Los Angeles for several years. This completes the city ticket of the non-partisans.

At last the Eagles have learned where they are "at" with respect to the gubernatorial candidates. They are for three of them. When Bell was nominated by the Democrats, the members of the fraternal order throughout the State hoisted his name at their standard, for wasn't he an Eagle? They whooped it up for Bell as much as they could; threw open their lodge rooms wherever he went, and it looked for a time as if Bell had the Eagle vote by the tail, as it were. Then came a letter from a northern sarle that showed in no uncertain terms that Mr. Gillett also is an Eagle. So they took Mr. Gillett in, and for the sake of having some one to damn, they damned Langdon. Now the official word has come that Langdon, too, is an Eagle, and the birds are "in the air" for fair, with no one in particular as their particular candidate.

The celebrated Vacancy Committee of the Third Supervisoral subconvention of the Democratic county convention continues to distinguish itself in its efforts to have the name of S. T. Eldridge, the Republican candidate, placed on the Democratic county ticket. Three times has it marched up to the Courthouse to file the name of Eldridge, and three times has it marched down again—the last occasion being yesterday, when Deputy Dist.-Atty. Hartley Shaw ruled that the certificate of the nomination of Eldridge was faulty in that it was not accompanied by the approval of the Auditing Committee. There is serious question now if the machine manipulators of the Democratic party, represented by "Eddie" Morris, will succeed in carrying out their contract with the Republican machine to make Eldridge the Democratic nominee.

Samuel Young yet may be the choice of Fifth Ward Republicans for nomination for Councilman from that district. He announced several days ago that he had withdrawn from the contest and it was supposed the organization forces would give the place to Seth Hart. Now the friends of Young are urging him to go before the convention. He has not announced his decision. Republicans of the Fifth are seeking a strong candidate to pit against A. J. Wallace, nominee of the Non-Partisan City Central Committee, who also may seek the indorsement of the Republican city convention.

Milton K. Young, who, according to the Sacramento Bee, is "one of the well-known Republicans" of Los Angeles, is quoted in that paper in support of the candidacy of Theodore A. Bell, gubernatorial nominee of the Union Labor party and of the Democrats. Young is chairman of the Democratic County Central Committee and always has been a member of the party. The Bee's astigmatic and hysterical correspondent in this section has placed several other local Democrats and laborites in the Republican column in an effort to deceive the readers of that paper into the belief that Southern California is going smash onto the Union Labor and Democratic rocks.

Secretary Lissner of the Non-Partisan City Central Committee has cruelly declined to accept the challenge of local Socialists to a duel with words on the question "that Socialism alone can remove corruption from public office." Mr. Lissner says the question has nothing to do with the proposition of the Non-Partisans, "that each city office should be filled by a man chosen solely for his honesty and his ability to perform the duties of that office."

Republican campaign meetings will be held Friday evening at San Pedro, Sawtelle and Gardena, and on Saturday evening at Whittier, Hollywood and Redondo. Candidates for county office will appear at each meeting. Atty.-Gen. Webb and Luther G. Brown will speak at San Pedro, C. J. Noyes at Sawtelle, Congressman McLachlan at Gardena and Hollywood, John G. Mott and Gurney E. Newlin at Whittier, and F. W. Hovey and Luther Brown at Redondo.

Frank Domingues has been requested by the Republican State Central Committee to accompany Congressman Gillett on his trip north this week and to speak in Spanish at Santa Barbara on Thursday, San Luis Obispo on Friday, and Ventura on Saturday. On his return from that trip, Mr. Domingues, who is president of the Latin-American League, will conduct meetings at Puente, Los Nietos, Hollywood, Sherman and other places.

The Non-Partisan County Central Committee has issued an appeal to public-spirited citizens to loan automobiles and carriages for use on Election Day, November 6, in getting out a full vote. It is expected that a large number of volunteers will lend their aid in this way. They have been requested to notify S. C. Graham, chairman of the Executive Committee, No. 424 Merchants' Trust building, at what hours and places their conveyances will be available.

Dr. E. O. Sawyer, independent candidate for Coroner, had the novel distinction during the Blaine and Logan campaign of being chairman of the Executive Committee of the Republican organization of Mason county, W. Va., that nominated and elected the first Republicans to take office after the Civil War. The Democrats were so incensed at Sawyer for his audacity that those of them engaged in business would not furnish his family with supplies. He scratched then for food even as he is scratching now for votes. He is making a good campaign, especially on Pico Heights, where he lives, and ought at least to come out third best in the race.

CITY FOUNDERS SHUT DOORS ON UNIONS.

Los Angeles Association Which Employs Five Thousand Men Decides They Must Be Free of Outside Bosses—May Lose Few.

THE Founders' and Employers' Association at its monthly meeting last night unanimously adopted a "declaration of independence" of the totemites of the city, and determined to make their establishments, which employ about five thousand workingmen in Los Angeles, "closed shops"—closed against labor-unionites.

This morning in every foundry in Los Angeles the foreman will read to the workingmen the "declaration of independence" of the employer, and the instructions that no union men be employed hereafter. The resolution, which was unanimously adopted, is:

"Please say to your molders that we do not deny the right of any of our men to join the union. We understand that some of our men have signified their intention of doing so.

"We hold the right to make the specifications covering the kind of help we are to hire, and to fill our specifications it requires independent workingmen. So, if any of the men desire to follow the dictates of the union, send them to the office for their time."

The above message will be read in the following shops: Llewellyn Iron Works, Baker Iron Works, Union Iron Works, American Engineering and Foundry Company, Fulton Engineering Works, McCan Mechanical Works, Keystone Iron Works, Washington Iron Works, Western Gas Engine Works, Johnson Machine Company, Los Angeles Foundry Company, United Castings Company, Tennessee Iron Works, Pioneer Boiler Works, James Jones Brass Works, A. S. O'Neil Company, Acme Brass Works, Carse & Co. and the Pasadena Foundry Company.

The gentlemen at the meeting last night signified their intention to no longer employ one member of the Molders' Union. The employers claim that it is not a lockout, although it will have the same effect. They say that they will not employ a member of the union who obeys the dictations of the walking delegates, but that they have no objection to men working for them belonging to unions if they obey the foreman of the job and not the walking delegate.

The recent agitation in the Molders' Union of this city to organize all of the men and call a strike was the cause of the stand taken by the employers last night. There was not one dissenting vote and the motion to stand for free workingmen in their shops passed with a whoop.

A jawsmith by the name of R. A. Sullivan, who hails from hte Union Labor trust in San Francisco, arrived in this city a few days ago and announced that he was going to "do things" to the employers of molders. The man was out of a job in San Francisco, and was told by Czar McCarthy and the rest of that ilk to organize a union in this city or he would be without a job. So the man is here, and has been holding meetings in a hall on North Main street.

He has succeeded in getting a number of the molders to join his union, and he plans to call a strike. The action of the employers nips the plans of the paid hireling in the bud, as not a man who will deal with Sullivan will have a job in the city after tonight. The employers say they are sorry to appear discriminating, but they find that where they permit union men, who obey the orders of the jawsmiths to work in their establishments, there is always trouble brewing; the men are dissatisfied and get the notion in their heads that they should be the boss, and not the man who owns the establishment and pays the wages.

Heretofore the Founders' and Employers' Association has conducted an open shop in which both union and independent workingmen were permitted to work. No questions were asked except if the man could do the work expected of him. In the future the fatal totem sign and a declaration from the employé that he is dictated to by the paid jawsmiths will bar the man from the shops of Los Angeles.

The employers say that they do not expect to lose many men, as only a few of their men have joined the organization, but a large number have attended the meetings, and show decided proclivities toward the totem. These men, who have only been listening to the harangues of Sullivan, are not expected to quit. They will be able to say that they are not members of the union, and as such are independent workingmen.

Arrangements are being made to bring in men from other cities in the event of many of the workingmen quitting. For the last month the organization has been in touch with a number of molders of eastern cities who desire to come to this sunny clime and embrace the opportunity of securing work at their trade, and under far better conditions.

UNIONS CLAIM "STUFFING."

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

BROCKTON (Mass.) Oct. 16.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Charges of fraud, ballot-box stuffing and repeating are made in connection with the recent ballot of the Boot and Shoe Workers' Union for the election of general officers.

It is alleged that the voting of repeaters and suspended members was particularly noticeable in the ballot of the Lasters' and Stitchers' Unions. A special election probably will be called, and Thomas B. Hickey may lose the election.

PYTHIANS THRONG CITY.

Parade Is Finest Seen in New Orleans.

Fully Forty Thousand Gather for Convention.

Biennial Convention Opens at High Noon.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW ORLEANS, Oct. 16.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Pythians now throng New Orleans, uniforms and badges being conspicuous in every part of the city. Tonight it is estimtaed there are fully 40,000 strangers gathered to take part in the great conventions and attendant social and spectacular functions.

The chief event of today from a public viewpoint was the parade of the Uniform Rank this afternoon at 2 o'clock. While only about 3000 men composed this procession, it is regarded as one of the handsomest parades of its kind that has ever passed through the streets of the city. Crowds thronged the thoroughfare, and applause was frequent. The turnout of the uniformed knights tomorrow will be a much larger affair, though less spectacular.

The visiting knights were formally welcomed to the city and State this morning at the Tulane Theater. While the opening of the twenty-fourth biennial convention of the supreme lodge took place at noon, various other sessions, including that of the Supreme Temple, Rathbone Sisters, also convened. Drills and contests were features of the day at Camp Carnahan. Visitors continue to arrive on every train.

Supreme Chancellor Charles E. Shively reached the city yesterday from his home in Richmond, Ind., and immediately assumed the duties of his office. Supreme Vice-Chancellor Charles A. Barnes, the logical successor at this convention of Supreme Chancellor Shively, also arrived, accompanying part of the Pythian delegation from his home in Illinois.

The majority of the companies of the Uniform Rank, who have been expected for the past two or three days, got in, some of them reaching the city last night. More than one of these companies reached the city from ten to twelve hours late. Nearly all of them came on special trains, which were made up in the State which they represented.

Several delegations of the Rathbone Sisters, an organization of the Knights of Pythias, arrived in the city yesterday and with the contingent already in New Orleans will make the largest attendance upon a biennial convention in the history of the order.

Last night at a meeting of the subordinate lodge of the grand domain of Louisiana, the rank of page was conferred upon 125 candidates for membership in the order. The meeting was largely attended by visiting Knights.

Not all of the uniform rank have yet arrived. While several thousand men are now in camp, a thousand more are expected. Several belated trains are scheduled to arrive in the city in the morning.

In the evening an informal reception was tendered the Pythians in the Palm Garden at the St. Charles Hotel. It was also largely attended by the Rathbone Sisters.

This morning a public welcome will be extended the Pythians and addresses will be made in the Tulane Theater by Gov. Blanchard, Mayor Behrman, and Grand Chancellor Howard Lytle of the Grand Lodge of Louisiana at 10 o'clock. At 11:30 o'clock the twenty-fourth biennial convention of the Supreme Lodge of the Knights of Pythias will be opened.

Yesterday afternoon the general parade of the uniform rank, one of the principal features of the encampment, took place.

ORDERS CONSOLIDATE.

INCLUDE 127,000 MEMBERS.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW ORLEANS (La.) Oct. 16.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The two woman's Pythian orders, the Rathbone Sisters and the Pythian Sisterhood, will be consolidated as a result of the convention here. An agreement was practically reached today after the committee conferences from the two bodies headed by Mrs. Lydia A. Monroe of Riverside, Cal., president of the Rathbones, which body has a membership of 120,000, and Mrs. Adams of Massachusetts, president of the Pythian Sisterhood, which numbers 7000.

CONFER SUPREME DEGREE.

CONTESTS ARE IN SECRET.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

NEW ORLEANS, Oct. 16.—More than six thousand uniformed Pythians, many of them mounted, paraded in militarfy formation today in honor of the biennial encampment which began yesterday. About 20,000 visitors came to New Orleans by train to see the pageant.

The Supreme Lodge, Knights of Pythias, held its first business session today. The supreme degree was conferred on several delegates at this meeting but the names of recipients were not announced. After organizing the lodge adjourned and will begin its discussions tomorrow.

Tonight was held the contest of companies of the uniform rank for the best exemplification of the ritual. It was announced that the names of the contesting companies are to be kept secret.

The Pythian convention was fully inaugurated today, proceeding simultaneously in several departments. These included the encampment of the uniform rank, the opening session of the Supreme Lodge and the opening exercises of each of the three following: Convention of Supreme Temple, Rathbone Sisters, Grand Keepers of Records and Seals Association and National Pythian Educational Association.

The business sessions occupied the morning hours, while the afternoon was given over to the general parade of the uniform rank. Several thousand visitors came into the city to watch the Pythians march. It was estimated that about 4000 uniformed men were in line.

54,600 Meals Did Him No Good

How One Man Wasted 50 Years of His Life. Thousands Like Him

"What's the use of eatin,' anyhow?" said the scrawny dyspeptic to his rotound, prosperous-looking friend. "Here I've been eatin' three times a day, and sometimes twice a day, for 50 years, and look at me. I'm rawboned and skinny, still at the bottom of the ladder, sour on the world, and a pessimist. I know it, and I can't help it. If I had it to do over again, though, I would take care of my stomach, for I don't believe I every really relished a meal in my life, not even mother's Christmas dinners, and I firmly believe that my way of eating, or whatever it was, brought along with it darkness and impossibility of success."

"You're right," nodded his companion. "Of course, that isn't always the case. But in this age we must not only 'Trust in the Lord and keep our powder dry,' but we must swallow sunshine with our food. Cheerfulness, especially while eating, which is the most essential act of man, is as necessary to him as sunshine is to the flowers. Nothing normal can be produced in darkness.

"But this is what you haven't been doing, Mr. Dyspeptic. Your brain and your stomach, remember, are twins, and you have to treat them accordingly. Why not start now and repair the damage you've done. It is never too late, you know."

"You mean at my age? And suppose you can't always get the sunshine?"

"Absolutely, yes. Science has made it possible to get the sunshine, the health and the strength that your stomach needs, all put up together in little tablets. They cal lthem Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets, the most effective tablets in the world for this very thing. One ingredient in these tablets digests 3000 grains of food without the help of the stomach. Two tablets after each meal can do more work, quicker work and better work, in digesting a heavy meal, than the stomach can itself. The stomach need not work at all. Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets do all the work and gives your jaded stomach a rest, the rest it needs. Meanwhile you cure yourself of brash, irritation, burning sensation, heartburn, sour stomach, acidity, fermentation, bloat, and the worst cases of dyspepsia and indigestion. You get rid of these for all time. And then, besides, you can eat all you want and whenever you want, and you will also relish mother's Christmas dinners if you will take Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets after eating. That's the sunshine I was talking about. Then your face will reflect the internal change going on, you'll be more energetic, your mind will be clearer, you will have more confidence in yourself, you'll be happier, and you'll be yourself again.

"Your heart will change and you'll feel rosy. You'll enjoy your meals—and live. Let's walk down to the drug store and let me introduce you to one little package of these Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets. You can get them at any drug store in the world for only 50c a package. It is worth it, Mr. Dyspeptic."

MEETING OF THE BANKERS.

American Financiers Gather in Annual Convention.

Trust Company Section Has Important Session.

Showing of Growth Made by the Secretary.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 16.—The American Bankers' Association convened today for its thirty-second annual convention when the trust company's section was called to order at the Olympic Theater, simultaneously with the gathering of the savings bank section at Schuyler Memorial Hall. The meeting of the convention, as a whole, will not take place until tomorrow.

Hundreds of prominent bankers, representing every State and Territory, as well as the United States dependencies, are here as delegates, and officers of the association place the total attendance, including delegates and unaccredited visitors, at 4000.

The principal meeting today was the eleventh annual assembly of the trust company section, which was called to order by Clark Williams, vice-president of the Columbia Trust Company of New York and president of the section. President Williams delivered his annual address, saying, in part, as follows:

"We are a part of the warp and woof of the financial fabric of the country, and it is to our interest to stand as an integral part of the American Bankers' Association, which aims to bring within its fold the financial power of the United States.

"The function of national, interstate banks and trust companies are cooperative, rather than competitive, and it is also a satisfaction to recognize in this common association the evidence of a friendly independence between these classes of institutions.

GOOD FROM CATASTROPHE.

"Some good may come from the catastrophe of the Real Estate Trust Company failure at Philadelphia and the Stensland Bank at Chicago, if only in the practical lessons we may learn. Nothing could more clearly demonstrate the wisdom of the policy in advocating adequate supervision. It seems to have been so lacking in this particular case that the trust companies of Pennsylvania are considering the advisability of calling a general convention to demand relief from present unsatisfactory conditions.

"With the insurance investigations as a background and with the knowledge of the circumstances surrounding the failures at Chicago and Philadelphia, there has come an awakening of public sentiment, which demands a keener appreciation of responsibility by those having in their care the affairs of our financial institutions.

"Not only by formal report," said the speaker, "but by requiring their frequent personal examination of the loan securities and loans, our clerks must feel a responsibility that would take them further than personal loyalty to their officers. Employment in a trust company imposes as well a trust to the patrons of the institution and to the public at large. These men are human. Their first impulse is to reveal wrongdoing and depredation in the easiest way—'it is none of my business.' It is our duty to assure them that it is their business and to make it possible for them to do their full duty.

"I do not advocate a system of tatting, but rather an honor system, that may save the clerk at least his self-respect and our institutions pecuniary loss."

COMPTROLLER FAVORS "BONDS."

The convention was then addressed briefly by William B. Ridgeley, Comptroller of the Currency. He said in part:

"There should be the closest bond of sympathy, even if there is friendly rivalry, between the national-bank system, State banks and trust companies. There is a place for each kind of bank, and each has a field. It is not so much a question of quantity of banking business done as it is the quality done. Whatever success the trust companies of the United States have achieved has not been especially because they were wisely managed and because they were honestly managed, and they have made a remarkable record."

The following resolution, introduced by Festus J. Wade of St. Louis, first Vice-president of the section, was adopted:

"Resolved, that should a commission or committee be appointed by the American Bankers' Association to formulate a plan to be recommended to Congress for the purpose of creating a credit or emergency currency, that such a commission or committee, if appointed, should have, as some of its members, a sufficient number of trust company officials to represent the importance of the trust companies as financial institutions."

SHOWING OF GROWTH.

The annual report of Secretary James R. Branch, New York, showed that 112 trust companies were added to the rolls since September, 1905, enlarging the present membership to 718, the largest in the history of the section.

In the annual report of the Executive Committee, which was submitted by Chairman Phillip S. Babcock, vice-president of the Colonial Trust Company of New York, one of the important matters considered was the necessity of devising some plan for safeguarding the issue of municipal securities. A committee of three was appointed to act jointly in conjunction with the Executive Committee in bringing about some feasible and proper plan for safeguarding the issuance of municipal securities.

The report of the Committee on Betterment and Protection for Municipal Securities was delivered by Chairman H. P. McIntosh, president of the Guardian Savings and Trust Company, Cleveland, O.

Perry Jay, Bank Commissioner for the State of Massachusetts, addressed the convention.

Considerable opposition developed at the session of the Currency Reform Conference, held at the Jefferson Hotel, before the following resolution were adopted:

"Resolved, That the several plans proposed and submitted to this currency conference be referred to the Executive Council of the American Bankers' Association without recommendation.

"That the council be requested to refer the plans and their subject matter back to a committee, to be known as the special legislative committee, said committee to be composed of the members of this currency committee, together with one member representing each now represented in said conference, and the members of the special committee of the Chamber of Commerce of New oYrk City and a repre-

President Williams delivered his annual address, saying, in part, as follows:

Curtis Jay, Bank Commissioner for the State of Massachusetts, addressed the convention.

Considerable opposition developed at the session of the Currency Reform conference, held at the Jefferson Hotel, before the following resolution were received. That the several plans be referred and submitted to this currency conference be referred to the Executive Council of the American Bankers' Association without recommendation.

That the council be requested to report plans and their subject matter to a committee, to be known as the national legislative committee, said committee to be composed of the members of this currency committee, together with one member representing each of the State Bankers' Associations now represented in said conference, and the members of the special committee of the Chamber of Commerce of New York City and a representative of trust companies with the incoming president of the American Bankers' Association as its chairman."

"That said committee should meet at the Auditorium in the city of Chicago, Tuesday, November 20, 1906, to consider the subjects so referred and to formulate and draft a bill or bills to submit to Congress for enactment at its next session.

"Resolved, That it is the sense of the conference that the present supply of currency is inadequate for the needs of our growing country.

"That the said currency is not sufficiently flexible to fill the requirements of our agricultural sections.

"That certain changes in our existing banking laws are necessary and expedient.

"That Congress be requested to pass laws tending to the correction of these conditions."

SILVEIRA IS STILL MISSING.

HIS LAWYER CONFERS WITH SENOR CEBALLOS.

Allegations Are Made That Absconding Banker Had no Connection With Revolution, but Was Under Suspicion of Liberals for Traffic in Soldiers' Warrants.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

NEW YORK, Oct. 15.—Manuel Silveira, the Cuban agent whose disappearance, it is alleged, has precipitated the failure of Ceballos & Co., bankers of this city and Havana, had no part in financing the Cuban revolution, according to Capt. Cassily Cook.

Capt. Cook came to this city in the capacity of counsel of the Cuban revolutionary party.

Capt. Cook said that he had investigated the trafficking of Manuel Silveira and others in the Cuban soldiers' warrants, and from the statements of members of the junta and others he was convinced that the true motive for Silveira's flight had not been published. Silveira had, he said, bought soldiers' claims against the government having a value of some $3,000,000. For these he paid from 6 to 20 cents on the dollar, reaping handsome profits for himself and others for whom he operated. Silveira, he says, had been marked by Liberals for investigation, and he knew that the investigation would result in exposure. It was this, according to the statement of Capt. Cook that led to the flight of Silveira.

A conference which may lead to the announcement in a short time of the whereabouts of Manuel Silveira was held yesterday between Juan O'Farrill, ex-Secretary of State of Cuba, and Juan M. Ceballos, at the latter's office, No. 27 William street. Señor O'Farrill was special counsel for Silveira in some recent litigation.

As to the whereabouts of the steamer Carmelia, which carried from Havana the man whose alleged embezzlement of $1,000,000 was given as the cause of the Ceballos failure, there was no news to solve the thirteen-day mystery.

VATICAN ANSWERS FRANCE.

Charges Made by Republicans Are Refuted by the Pope's Organ.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

ROME, Oct. 16.—The Observatore Romano today published a semi-official article saying that the French cabinet is preparing to attack the Vatican at the reopening of the chamber of deputies by accusing it of engaging in a conspiracy with the Monarchists to overthrow the Republic and giving the following statements as proof of its charges:

"That the Royalist Press, which opposed the late Pope Leo XIII approves of Pope Pius X.

"That the royalist leaders urge the Pope to support the religious movement in France.

"That the Pope granted an interview to the royalist organ, the Gaulois."

The Observatore Romano answers these allegations by stating Pope Pius X, like Pope Leo XIII, loyally accepts the Republic.

MONEY EASY FOR O'BRIEN.

Knocks Out Fred Cooley and Jim Tremble.

First Lasts Three and Second Nine Rounds.

Second Prelim so Rotten It Was Funny.

Jack O'Brien nearly punched the heads of Fred Cooley and Jim Tremble before a big house full of sports at the Pacific Club last night, and easily proved that he is one of the best fancy boxers in the country. Incidentally he showed Cooley up as a big dub and proved that Fred's reported knockout of O'Brien in two rounds was very much of a fluke. Tremble made a better showing than Cooley, but the fact that he was knocked down four times in the eighth round, and twice the ninth, shows just about how much chance he had with O'Brien.

O'Brien was to stop both men in ten rounds each, and he finished Cooley in three and Tremble in nine. Both men were counted out, and while they were not knocked senseless, neither was on his feet at the referee's count of ten, and were practically knocked out. Some of the sports howled at both decisions of Referee Robinson, but there was no question about either knockout.

Talk about Abe Attell's fancy boxing. Take a look at Jack O'Brien in action, and you will wonder in how many places he could hit a fighter without the fellow knowing it until after he felt the smash. He made monkeys out of both men, for Cooley is a real dub, and Tremble was so dazed by O'Brien's footwork and the number of hits he shoved in his face when he was looking, that he spent the most of his time ducking and clinching. He came out of the scrap with a very bloody nose and equally as badly beaten as Cooley.

This ripe one advertises on his pugilistic letter-heads that he knocked O'Brien out in two rounds in Toledo, O., but after seeing Mister Cooley fight last night, one is forced to believe that he either hit Jack with an ax when he wasn't looking, or pushed a house over on him when he was asleep. No one could think how he could do it any other way. O'Brien took him on first and after feinting him into a trance in the first minute of the first round, knocked him down with a right on the jaw near the end of the round. The second round was even worse, and then some. Cooley has a crouch in which he covers his face like Eddie Hanlon, and O'Brien finally feinted him out of this with some beautiful footwork and then put him down with a left in the jaw in the last minute of the round. When Cooley struggled to his feet O'Brien smashed him again just as the bell rang for the end of the round and poor Cooley floundered blindly over to the ropes near his corner and actually fell six feet into his chair, all but out.

In the third round the whole house fell on Cooley's summit. With dazzling footwork O'Brien opened Cooley's guard by feinting and then with a right to the jaw sent him to the floor, eH rested on one knee, with his head bent down, while the referee counted ten and then arose, but it was too late. After he got out of the ring his seconds left him, and he stood several minutes and drank from a black bottle in a bucket. Then he started for his dressing-room, but was so dazed that he went to the south entrance to the building and was finally discovered by his seconds and steered into the right place.

TREMBLE DOES WELL.

Just as the crowd was rising to watch the befuddled man, some fellow yelled to Tremble to run home, but Jim didn't hear this, and came out to get a good beating, while O'Brien sat in his corner with a towel wrapped around him waiting for the next victim. Tremble was cheered by his friends, and really seemed confident as he went into the first round.

O'Brien tried his feinting game on him at once, and Tremble backed away and covered up and there was nothing doing for three rounds, except that in the third Tremble cut O'Brien's lower lip with a left in the face in a hot mix. In the fourth O'Brien had the best of it, but Tremble rapped him a hard one in the face that made Jack wince.

In the fifth O'Brien cut loose and continually pecked Tremble in the nose with his left, and was on top of him all the time, chasing him around the ring, but neither could do any damage. The sixth saw O'Brien smash Tremble three hard lefts in the sore nose, and when Tremble came oak with a counter in the face, O'Brien knocked his head back with a right and left to the face, and Tremble returned the same thing.

Tremble never saw such cleverness before or such footwork, and O'Brien let out a wrap in the seventh and smothered Tremble with rights and lefts, Tremble getting back with a hard left in the stomach. He had made O'Brien wince with that left in the face in the sixth, but O'Brien never gave him a minute's peace, and was never away from Jim's face with that dazzling collection of arms and fists.

The eighth opened with O'Brien smashing Tremble in the face with a left swing, and two seconds later knocked him down with a right in the face, and as the bleeding and beaten man arose, he was knocked down again on his knee and stayed for nine. He got up to be knocked down again and was very weak and bleeding from the nose, but still had enough left to open O'Brien cut lip again.

Jack looked serious when the ninth came and went in to finish the game old Jim. He landed a fearful punch on Tremble's face and sent him down, and when he arose from his knee after taking the count of nine it was to be beaten down again, and this time he stayed on his knee until the referee had counted him out, and then got up.

There was a slight uproar from Tremble's supporters because they thought he had been counted out unfairly, but it really made no difference, for he was badly beaten and had no chance whatever. Any more fighting would have been more agony for him.

This was O'Brien's first appearance here and the sports must have been impressed with his style of fighting. He is quick and active on his feet, is a beautiful boxer, can land a hard punch and fights a clean fight. There is no fouling in his work and while he was hissed once for an apparent foul, it was a right-handed blow delivered around and under Tremble's arm when they were clinched. It was not a foul in any way, and didn't hurt Tremble, and yet the crowd hooted to beat the band.

FUNNY PRELIMINARY.

The second preliminary was the greatest show on earth, and it was so rotten that it was screamingly funny. It was six rounds between Bill Gaines and Al Godfrey, two local butchers, who fought once before, and not be-ing satisfied with the decision, bet $250

F. P. BEAL,

Occidental end, whose parents have forbidden him to play because of injuries received Saturday at U. S. C.

each on themselves and asked Manager McCarey for another chance, according to the story. They never even knew what the Markees of Queensbury cut out of his justly celebrated classic on punching but their wild swings and their awkwardness kept the big house in a continual roar of laughter from the first round. They stood about three feet apart for the first two rounds and circled around each other, and when they finally did come together it was in a succession of wild and woolly clinches. Referee Robinson was on the jump continually trying to keep out of the way of the men, and in the third round, in coming out of a fierce clinch, Godfrey ran and grabbed Robinson around the waist and pushed him in front of the oncoming Gaines. This one hammered Godfrey hard in the fourth and fifth, and as Godfrey was all in during the last of the fifth, the referee stopped the very amusing scrap.

He did the same with the first prelim between Young Terry McGovern and Charley Robinson, after McGovern had clearly showed his superiority.

There was quite a little money bet on the O'Brien fight, and while the mutual play was scant, there were many even money bets that O'Brien would not stop his two men or knock them out. He did both, however.

THOMPSON TAKEN SICK.

Attacked by Grippe and Fight With Hyland Tonight Has Been Declared Off.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 16.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The Hyland-Thompson fight is off, because of the sickness of Thompson, who is suffering from a severe attack of the grip. Thompson began ailing last Wednesday, but his trainers thought he would throw off the cold. Today, however, he took to his bed, and it was seen he could not fight tomorrow. McClintoc, Hyland's manager, is willing to have his man fight Thompson later, but he insists that the $500 which he could claim as a forfeit be added to the $750 side bet, and that the winner take all the money.

It was to have been a battle for blood, as Hyland is sore over the fact that the fight at Los Angeles was given to Thompson on a foul. Most of the experts here believed that Hyland would win, but the betting was light. Odds were 10 to 7½, with Hyland favorite.

NEW MONTE CARLO.

Liquor Men Plan Big Gambling Establishment at Tia Juana Across Border.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SAN DIEGO, Oct. 16.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Plans have been made for the erection of a hotel and Monte Carlo gambling establishment at Tia Juana. Manager Hiller, representing a distillery company of Kansas City, was in San Diego Sunday with the plans, in consultation with local liquor men, whom it is expected to interest in the proposition.

This building, it is planned, will be erected on the international boundary line at the end of the National City and Otay Railroad, so that the modern Monte Carlo would be in direct communication with lines of travel. At least $100,000 would have to be expended, say the men interested, and Los Angeles capital would be the heaviest holders in the venture.

Winter Baseball.

SAN DIEGO, Oct. 16.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Negotiations are under way for the opening of the new baseball grounds, now being constructed at Twenty-sixth and Main streets, for a Coast League nine, preferably the Los Angeles nine. It has been practically decided that San Diego will have winter baseball, and that a league team will be put in the field as soon as possible.

INDIANS AND U. S. C. THANKSGIVING DAY.

U. S. C. will meet the Sherman Indians of Riverside on the gridiron Thanksgiving day, at the U.S.C. football grounds. The game was arranged yesterday at a conference between Coach Holmes and Mitchell, the manager of the Indians, and probably will be the greatest game of the season in Southern California, as well as the last to be played.

The announcement of the game comes as a surprise, as it has been generally understood that the Indians did not intend to put a team in the field this season. Sherman will have the majority of her last year's men to put into play, and the game between her team and the U.S.C. aggregation should make a fitting climax for the season. The Indians could stand inactivity no longer, and will play for the Southern California championship.

BUSY WEEK AHEAD.

The remainder of the present week will be the busiest part of the football season. This afternoon U.S.C.'s victorious team meets the Harvard School team at the college grounds in the first game that Harvard has appeared in this season. The preparatory school boys have an unusually fast aggregation and have been coached by Boren, the crack Stanford player, so that their work today will be watched with interest by those who are following the fight for supremacy between the high schools.

With U.S.C. playing the game that she put up last Saturday, Harvard will have to play fine football to make a showing. The Harvard team will line up as follows: Armstrong, full; Okey and Crary, halves; Capt. Cline, quarter; Sanders and Davids, ends; Ball and Brown, tackles Landgrath and Rindge, guards; Markloff, center. The game will be called at 3:30.

RUGBY GAME SATURDAY.

Arrangements for the game of Rugby football between the University of California and Pomona have been completed by Manager Gallaway of U.C. and Coach Noble, and the California team starts for Los Angeles tomorrow, arriving here Friday morning. It will take up headquarters at the Hotel Angelus.

The contest Saturday will be the first intercollegiate varsity game of Rugby football ever played in the United States. Harvard School will play Pasadena High School at Pasadena Saturday afternoon.

MERRIL'S MEN ARE CRIPPLED.

BEAL, HODGE AND DECKMAN LOST TO OCCIDENTAL.

Parents of Plucky End Object to His Playing, and the Other Men Are Severely Injured—Students Rally and Rise to Occasion and Back Team to the Finish.

Although Occidental students are disappointed over the showing made against U.S.C. Saturday, they are by no means discouraged. Overconfidence and lack of hard practice are the causes to which the defeat is generally attributed and the team is determined to finish the season more creditably than Saturday's showing would indicate.

A big football rally was held in the college chapel, yesterday noon. The students displayed great enthusiasm and showed that they still have streng confidence in the team. An appeal was made for more men to turn out for practice and yesterday afternoon more than thirty men were out in costumes. There is plenty of good material in college but the new men have felt that there was no use in turning out as they could not secure places on the team. Dr. Baer urged every student who was able to do so to try for a place. He said that no partiality would be shown and that a new student would be given a place over an old student, if he could deliver the goods. From the material that turned out last night a strong second team will be organized and the varsity will be given stiff practice from now to the St. Vincent's game, which will be played November 27.

The system of defense will be changed so that the weaknesses that came to light in the U.S.C. game will be eliminated. The offense will not be changed to any great extent. All the members of the team express their confidence in Coach Merrill's system and are anxious to give it another trial after it has been practiced longer. The number of plays will be increased and provision will be made for line plays. The team is strong individually, and if the players can have hard practice throughout the rest of the season, they should make a good showing in the games with St. Vincent's and Pomona.

INJURED MEN RECOVER.

All the players have recovered from Saturday's game with the exception of Deckman. He replaced Beal in the second half, and on the first down the ligaments of his right shoulder were badly torn. He said nothing, however, but pluckily finished the game. He will not be able to practice for two weeks.

Beal's parents have forbidden him to play, and his place will have to be filled by one of the substitutes. Beal is a very plucky player and it will be hard to replace him. He was knocked out in the second half of Saturday's game by a head-on collision with Burek. Hodge, the stocky little quarter-back, may not be able to play again this year. He hurt his back in practice two weeks ago, and the trouble is being constantly aggravated. His place will be a very hard one to fill, but Coach Merrill is confident that a good man will be developed for the place before the St. Vincent's game.

The defeat at the hands of U.S.C., although it was a bitter one, has aroused a determination in the hearts of the Occidentalites to make good in the remaining games and the student body and faculty are behind the team to a man.

Lipton Is Honored.

MILWAUKEE (Wis.) Oct. 16.—Today was "Lipton Day" in Milwaukee, Sir Thomas Lipton being the city's guest. A varied program was carried out for the entertainment of Sir Thomas Lipton, including a reception at the Milwaukee Yacht Club.

POMONA TEAM WINS A GAME.

DEFEATS HIGH SCHOOL BOYS IN RUGBY CONTEST.

Coach Noble's Men Are Short on Speed and Ginger and Must Improve if They Hope to Make Good Showing Against the Berkeley Aggregation Saturday.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CLAREMONT (Cal.) Oct. 16.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The Pomona College fifteen defeated the Pomona High School team at Rugby by the score of 10 to 0, this afternoon, in the last preliminary game before the contest with California at Los Angeles, Saturday. The game was not a particularly brilliant one, for the High School boys again surprised the college men by their fast work, as in the game a week ago.

The first score came after fifteen minutes of play, when Valle secured the ball from a scrum on the ten-yard line and carried it over for a try. Metcalf kicked the goal. After this no scoring was done until the end of the second half, when, within a few seconds of "time," Capt. Chisholm secured the ball after a series of punts and scored the last try. Metcalf again kicked an easy goal.

Several times the college men carried the ball for good distances down the field, but failed to play decisively when near the goal line, giving the school team the chance to punt the ball to safe territory. The faults of the early part of the season appeared to be eliminated, in the main, but the showing of the team again was disappointing, considering that the first big game is only a few days away. The kicking was good, the passing excellent, and the team work better than ever before this season, but the play lacked snap.

As in the earlier contest with the High School, the lighter forwards of the visiting team again and again got the jump on the college men, allowing a safe kick toward the college goal. As a whole, the team seems lifeless and without the speed which should characterize it so close to a big game. From the bleachers it looked as though the three weeks' work learning a new game and rounding into form has put the entire squad a little stale, but this, the coaches claim is impossible. However, unless the men are able to put more vim in the next three days of light practice they will not make the showing they should in the game at Fiesta Park.

The men have improved their knowledge of the game, and it may be that the disappointing showing made today was due to the fact that a new formation of the scrum, which Coach Noble saw in the North, was adopted.

It was taken from the formations used by the northern universities who are following the game as played in Australia and Canada rather than that in England.

Metcalf played brilliantly, appearing to be in good form. Chisholm put up his usual star game, this time at full-back. The individual work of the members of the team was good, except that they lacked speed. As in the first game, almost an entire second team was run through the line-up. The original line-up, which probably will be used Saturday, was as follows: Forwards, F. Fuller, E. Fuller, W. Ranney, C. Ranney, Halladay, Taylor, Metcalf, and Eames; three-quarters, Baird, Mahoney, Walden, and Collins; half-backs, Culver and Valle; full-back, Chisholm.

ROSEBEN BREAKS WORLD'S RECORD.

GREAT SPRINTER GOES SEVEN FURLONGS IN 1:22.

Four and Four-fifths Seconds Cut Off Previous Mark, Held by Halifax—Will Probably Be Sent Against Mile Record, Held by Salvator. Betting on Race 1 to 80.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

NEW YORK, Oct. 16.—D. C. Johnson's Roseben, carrying 126 pounds, created a new world's record for seven furlongs when he won the fifth race at Belmont Park today. He stepped the distance in the fastest time ever made on an American race course, 1:22.

When Roseben finished and the phenomenal time was hung out by the official timer the immense crowd arose and gave the great sprinter a rousing cheer which continued for several minutes in spite of the fact that he was quoted at 1 to 80 in the betting and they were unable to bet on him. Johnson and Frank Farrell are reported to have won over $25,000 on his victory, as they bet that the son of Benstrom-Roseleaf would run faster than 1:25. Fourteen horses were carded to go in this event, but they were all scratched except Beau Claire and it was after the withdrawals that it was decided to send him against time.

Roseben broke very quickly at the barrier and ran the first furlong in 12 seconds. He kept up a fast clip and passed the quarter pole in 23 4-5, going easily. Shaw kept the horse close to the rail all the way and Roseben ran the three-eighths of a mile in 35 1-5. Around the long upper turn the favorite continued in faultless style, and flashed by the half-mile pole in 46 4-5. When he turned into the stretch the high wind was behind him and he came to the three-quarter mark in 1:10 2-5. Shaw took no chances, but rode Roseben out, coming under the wire a winner in 1:22.

The best previous time was 1:24 4-5, held by Halifax, around the turns, and the straightaway was held by Della B, 1:23⅘, made in 1890 at Monmouth. Roseben probably will be sent Friday against the mile record which is held by Salvator in 1:35½ over the straightaway course at Monmouth in 1890.

Results:

One mile: Saylor won, Gypsy King second, Deuce third; time 1:39 1-5.

Steeplechase, about three miles: Boundbrook won, Caller second, Adams third; time 6:17.

Six furlongs, straight: Zamsbi won, Landerman second, Glenham third; time 1:12 3-5.

The Rancho del Paso, six furlongs: Tourenne won, Philander second, Sewell third; time 1:10 1-5.

Seven furlongs, main course: Roseben won, Beau Claire second; only two starters; time 1:22.

One mile and a quarter: Sailor Boy won, Angler second, Orly II third; time 2:06 1-5.

Meadow Breeze Blows In.

LOUISVILLE (Ky.) Oct. 16.—Results:

Five and a half furlongs: Judith Louise won, Hereafter second, Refined third; time 1:07 2-5.

One mile: Hadur won, Inspector Girl second, Minnehaha third; time 1:42 2-5.

Free handicap, six furlongs: Meadow Breeze won, Milteades second, Denver third; time 1:13.

Seven furlongs: Harding won, Clifton Forge second, Revolt third; time 1:28.

AUTO COLLISION AND EXPLOSION.

TWO MAY DIE AS RESULT OF ACCIDENT.

Motor Goes Wrong and Machine, Running at High Rate of Speed, Strikes Trolley Pole — Combustion Follows and Four Are Badly Burned.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

CLEVELAND (O.) Oct. 16.—An automobile running at high speed on Detroit avenue, N. W., struck a trolley pole today at Kenilworth avenue in Lakewood, a suburb, and exploded. Everyone of the four occupants of the car was injured and two may die. The injured are:

MISS ANNA SCHMITTELL, burned about the arms and body, right arm fractured.

MISS HULDA ACKERMAN, burned about arms and back; condition critical.

BENJAMIN CAMRA, burned about head and hands.

GEORGE HARTMAN, right eye gouged out, skull fractured, condition critical.

The car was owned by M. J. Mandelbaum, traction owner and banker. According to Camra, who was driving the machine, something went wrong with the machinery. The car suddenly swerved from the roadway and struck the trolley pole.

The collision and explosion seemed to be simultaneous. The fifteen gallons of gasoline in the reservoir of the machine let go with a roar and enveloped all four persons in flames.

Valuable Stock at Dreamwold to Be Sold Because of Lawson's Grief for Wife.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

BOSTON, Oct. 16.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Thomas W. Lawson's great $4,000,000 Dreamwold stock farm, in which there is now $500,000 worth of thoroughbred horses, cattle, dogs and imported fowl from all parts of the world, is to be denuded of its treasures and shorn of its chief attractions.

All but a small portion of stock is to be sold at auction, and Lawson will retire from stock raising. Only the great Boralma, and a few riding and driving horses, are to be retained.

Lawson will retain the estate, but since Mrs. Lawson died he cannot bear to see around him the animals she loved so well.

Held Chicago Cubs Down at Critical Stages.

White Sox Were Unexpectedly Strong With Bat.

Score Sheet Shows Interesting Figures of Series.

Official percentages of the world's championship series show that the White Sox, commonly called the "hitless wonders" in the American League, outhitted the Cubs, the best hitters in the National League. In three games there was free hitting, and the Sox won two of them, but in each of the three games the batting was all one-sided, with the possible exception of the game in which the score stood 8 to 6, and in that game the Sox did by far the best batting.

The White Sox made more errors, but came at times when they were dangerous. The White Sox's pitchers really must be credited for winning the series, not because they held their opponents down to fewer hits but because they rose to the occasions of danger and prevented hits when hits meant runs. On the other hand, the Cub pitchers lost two games at critical moments, and in each of them Robe was to blame. In the first instance he tripled and came home on an out; in the other instance he tripled with the bases full. Those two losses, coming early in the contest, took the heart out of Chance's boys and enthused the White Sox and their rooters so that they carried the series through by sheer force of will power, as it were.

The White Sox surprised their friends and opponents alike by their heavy hitting. The series show up this way:

	Hits.	2b.	3b.	T.B.	Sac.	SB.
Donahue	10	2	1	15	1	1

The National pitchers had all the best of the strike-out record, but they gave more bases on balls. In number of games won Walsh leads, but was nosed by Donahue in one of his contests. Roelbach had two chances and took both. He delivered the goods in one game, but in the next was taken out of the box. As the game was a tie when he went out, the next man, Pfeister, the only pitcher who pitched one inning, lost it, in that inning four runs were made, which were enough to win, in addition to those already made off Owens and Overall got credit for no games pitched as they were not in after games were lost.

Classified Liners.

Times "Liner" Advertisers—Important. Note change in rate for Sunday classified advertisements. Commencing Sunday, October 1, 1905, the rate for Sunday "Liners" was raised to 1½ cents per word for each insertion; minimum charge, 25 cents, as at present. This slight advance is amply justified by the present Sunday circulation of The Times, which averages over 70,000 copies. (When the 1-cent-per-word rate was established in 1895, The Times Sunday circulation was only 14,000 copies.) The "Liner" rate for the daily—1 cent per word—will stand as at present.

Telephone your want advertisements. Ring up "The Times" any time of day or night, and secure prompt and careful attention. Rates one cent a word each insertion in the Daily; 1½ cents per word in the Sunday edition; minimum charge, 25c.

"Liner (classified) advertisements for Sunday insertion received over the counter or by telephone after 11 o'clock Saturday nights will be inserted under heading "Too Late to Classify."

The Times cannot guarantee accuracy or assume responsibility for errors of any kind occurring in telephoned advertisements.

Sunday real estate advertisements to be classified properly, must be in The Times office before 10 o'clock Saturday nights. Rate 1½ cents per word.

FOR SALE—
We have said time and again and now repeat it, that close-in property is the property on which the MOST MONEY is made. Take such a street as East Ninth for instance, hovering as it does on the very edge of the active business section, and in trend of its most rapid growth. THIS STREET will soon demand the attention its importance justifies, and IT IS HERE that values are enhancing daily; for a quick turn get a piece of it. THERE'S MONEY IN IT. Scan the following list of medium-priced properties and see if you cannot swing some one of them. If you do and hold for five years you will have a reasonable competency.
$6500—45x80, with cottage, on the north side of Ninth st.; 50 feet east of Hemlock street.
$10,000—Northeast corner Ninth and Hemlock, 50x80, all corner; deep enough and will pay big improved with stores.
$18,000—Northwest corner Ninth and Hawthorne, 120x65, three exposures; $150 per foot—not deep, but CHEAP.
$26,000—Business or industrial site between Mateo and Santa Fe on the north side of Ninth—runs through to Porter st., 150x167 feet, two frontages; will sell part at $200 per foot.
$27,000—Northeast corner Ninth and Wall with cottage, 27x125x38; all corner and very close in.

FOR SALE—
INCOME PROPERTIES.
It seems that others are at last awakening to what was apparent to us a long time ago, namely, that VERMONT AVE. property was away below its intrinsic value. It has been our constant advice to all our clients and friends to invest on Vermont. What we predicted for this street is coming only too true.
We wish to particularly call attention to the fact that the offerings herein are in the REAL BUSINESS CENTER of TODAY, where there is not a store vacant, and present rents, though doubtless but half what they will be in another year, are paying 10 to 12 per cent. on the investment.
These properties are situated near Jefferson st., in what is decidedly the most active part of this sterling street. Those which are not already income producing may be made so by a comparatively small expenditure.
It should be borne in mind that this street, which is one of the most notable through thoroughfares in the city, is to be paved from Washington st. to Santa Monica ave., within the next 2 or 3 months; the preparatory sewer work is now being completed; several

STOCKS AND BONDS—

FOR SALE—

COEUR D'ALENE MINING STOCK.

I handle all the stocks quoted on this market of the Coeur D'Alene Mining District. I have listed a number of the properties owned by the different companies, therefore am familiar with the majority of the best known and most active stocks of the Coeur d'Alene, and know from personal investigation the real merit and value which these stocks represent.

Through my efforts in placing the treasury stock of numerous prospects, they have been developed into paying mines, among these being Snowstorm, Big Creek, and Tamarack and Chesapeake.

SNOWSTORM I originally sold at 10c. It is now worth 25. This stock paid a dividend of $90,000, or 6c a share, in this month.

BIG CREEK, another property the treasury stock of which I sold at 10c, is now soaring toward the dollar mark.

I am in the market for:
Reindeer,
Idaho Los Angeles,
Benton,
Tarbox,
O. K.,
Big Creek,
Tamarack Chesapeake,
Stewart Benton,
Moonlight,
Box,
I have for sale:
Idaho Los Angeles,
Benton,
Tarbox,
O. K.,
Reindeer,
Marfloree,
Moonlight,
Oom Paul,
Rex,
Stewart,
Stanley,
Silver Cliff,
Little Chief,
Iron Crown,
West Bell,
Great Northern (near Burke, Idaho).

The Idaho-Los Angeles has just made a remarkable strike of rich carbonate ore of shipping quality, the stock is now 15 cents a share and I believe this stock will be worth 50 cents before the first of the year. The property of the Idaho-Los Angeles is on the same vein as the Tamarack and Chesapeake, the stock of which is now $1.50 and the company is making steady shipments of ore to the smelter.

SNOWSTORM EXTENSION MINING CO.

This property is appropriately named, it being the adjoining claims to the now famous big copper producer, THE SNOWSTORM COMPANY of Mullan, in the Coeur D'Alene district. The Snowstorm Extension Copper Mining Company owns 2000 feet of the Snowstorm vein adjoining the latter property to the east. No long cross cuts will be necessary as in the case of all the other properties to the west, but driving toward the Snowstorm from the North Fork, the vein can be picked up from the start. Contract has been let for 200 feet of tunnel on the Snowstorm Extension. Two shifts of miners are to drive the tunnel, and the work will be pushed to the limit under the most efficient management.

This property bids fair to bring a second Snowstorm, which is now paying 6c a share dividend on 1,000,000 shares.

A limited block of the treasury stock of the Snowstorm Extension is now being placed.

THE D. & W. MINING COMPANY owns a copper property located 40 miles from the Needles, Cal., which has a good surface showing, and will bear the strictest investigation. We are offering the first block of treasury stock (limited to 20,000 shares) at 5 cents a share. This is a new property, but has the highest recommendation of the best mining experts, and has exceptional values on the surface which have been proven to increase with depth. We have personally inspected the property, and what we say to you is from personal observation, not second hand, and we are willing to back up our statements by offering to pay your way to and from the mine, if our statements are not facts. From assays we have had of the ore, we expect to be shipping before a great while, therefore the opportunity to buy at this price, 15c, will not last long.

BROTHERHOOD OF LIGHT, INNER COUNCIL.

"One of the peculiarities of the sect," explained Patterson, "is that ... thing is impersonal. No letters are ever signed by members of the Brotherhood of Light. Simply the stamp of the Inner Council is used. On the ranch at Arboles, which I understand is self-supporting for the colony, and consists of more than 100 acres, everything is of community interest. Even the little mites of babies in the arms of the older children have an interest in the ranch. No individual owns the property and all may stay there for life if they choose. An endeavor is made to secure a little baby for each child who is able to carry one, in order that the children may learn the art of handling babies. That is the reason that every child in the picture has a baby in its lap."

HOODWINKED HUMANE SOCIETY

Patterson has been a professor of physical culture and has also "done turns" in theaters with his little daughter, showing in Los Angeles two years ago. At that time, he was charged with cruelty to children by the Humane Society, but he hoodwinked the society by becoming a member of it, and then invited the officers to attend his performance. The society was reluctant to arrest one of its own members, and Patterson completed his contract in this city. His daughter Harriet was formerly delicate and undersized and the father has made it his life work to train her to health and vigorousness, and he has been successful.

GALVESTON (Tex.) Oct. 16.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Oil went up 7 cents in the Texas fields today, making 65 cents at wells, with prospects of $1 a barrel within a month. Producers say the steady decline in production is responsible for it, and they are refusing long-time contracts.

GREAT HOTEL FOR YOSEMITE.

Riverside Man Given Rights in the Valley.

Will Spend Million Dollars Upon Building.

[SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE OF THE TIMES.]

RIVERSIDE, Oct. 16.—Frank A. Miller, proprietor of the Glenwood Hotel, returned this morning from the East after an absence of six weeks and brings with him a most important announcement for the whole State of California. This is to the effect that the United States government will promote the interests of the Yosemite Valley and take this gem of California scenery under its fostering wing in the same way that it has done in the case of Yellowstone Park.

Mr. Miller has been granted the hotel and auxiliary privileges in the valley and will build a million-dollar hotel there. In this enterprise he will have the cooperation of all the transcontinental railroads.

FRANK A. MILLER.

Mr. Miller has had this in mind for many years and was active in the recession matter in which project another Riversider, Assemblyman Estudillo, played an important part. He has also had the enthusiastic support of Dr. Albert Shaw, editor of the Review of Reviews; Dr. Lyman Abbott, Jacob Riis, Benjamin Ide Wheeler and David Starr Jordan and other prominent men who have visited Riverside's famous Mission Inn.

Mr. Miller received President Roosevelt's endorsement about a year ago and the assignment of the Yosemite Valley hotel privileges to him was practically agreed upon at that time, but owing to official red tape the Interior Department was unable to take definite action upon the matter. However, when he was in Washington this time he gained the ear of the President again and obtained from him definite assurance that he would be granted the same concessions in the Yosemite that have been held for some time by the Yellowstone Park Company.

While Mr. Miller was in the Yosemite Valley this summer he selected the site for his new hotel. He has practically decided in this new project to abandon the mission idea and to build the Yosemite hotel upon lines which are in harmony with its rugged mountain environment. Dr. Lyman Abbott advised Mr. Miller to travel through Norway before building this hotel as he is of the opinion that the best types of architecture for a hotel in Yosemite can be found in the mountain regions of that country. It is probable that Mr. Miller, accompanied by his architect, will travel through Norway, Switzerland, Holland and Scotland in the early spring in order to have the benefit of old-world architectural suggestions in crude and massive buildings before launching this important project. In building the hotel, the inspiration will be the everlasting mountains.

A railway is already under construction from Merced to the entrance to Yosemite Valley. This railroad will be of incalculable assistance in getting building materials and other hotel equipment into the valley.

It is the purpose to make the hotel to California much as the Sierras, the orange groves, the white surf on the rincones, and the old Franciscan missions are. It will be different from other hotels and distinctively Californian.

Letters to President Roosevelt in support of the plans of Mr. Miller for the Yosemite Hotel were written by Albert Shaw, David Starr Jordan and others, who are enthusiastic over the proposed building of a distinctively Californian hotel in such a distinctively California spot.

President Roosevelt took an interest in the project at once when it was thus brought to his attention, and wrote a note in his own hand on a scratch pad to Secretary Hitchcock, secretary of the Department of the Interior, as follows:

Dear Mr. Hitchcock: I want to introduce to you my good friend, Mr. Miller. He will show you the letters from President Jordan, Mr. Lyman Abbott and Dr. Shaw.

Will you report to me on his request. If proper I shall be glad to have it granted; I believe him to be an exceptionally worthy man.

[Signed] T. ROOSEVELT.

Mrs. Miller has the original of this letter, and prizes it as one of her choicest possessions.

The building of this great hotel in the Yosemite is a distinct gain to Southern California in many ways. In the first place, the new hostelry will be run in connection with the Glenwood at Riverside, and during the winter headquarters will be at the Glenwood, while in summer the Yosemite hotel will be the headquarters.

The supplies for the Yosemite will also for the most part come from this end of the State, and each hotel will be in a great measure an interesting advertisement of the other. In every way it is expected that Southern California as well as other parts of the State will benefit by the added facilities for the comfort of visitors in one of the most beautiful and interesting spots on the face of the earth.

WEIGHTMAN'S WEIGHTY NOTE.

MYSTERIOUS DOCUMENT HALTS WILL CONTEST.

Sixty-Million-Dollar Suit May Be Settled by Discovery of Missing Note—Secretary Refuses to Betray Confidence of Dead Man, and Case Still "Hangs Fire."

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 16.—Much interest has been aroused as to the nature of the mysterious paper which halted the Weightman $60,000,000 will contest in the Orphans' Court. Edward Davis, the confidential secretary of the late William Weightman said today:

"Before going into court yesterday I remarked to my wife:

"'The will contest will not last as long as some people think; in fact, it will end with my own testimony, if a certain paper written by Mr. Weightman, to which I was the only witness, is still in existence and in the possession of Mrs. Walker. This paper, if called for and produced, will explain why Mr. Weightman made his daughter, Mrs. Walker, his sole legatee in his will of 1895, and so conclusively satisfy the attorneys of Mrs. Wister that no codicil exists that they would most likely abandon the case.' This proves to be the result."

When asked what was written on the paper, Mr. Davis said:

"Having served Mr. Weightman for more than twenty-five years, I should see no reason why I should violate his confidence because he is dead."

The attorneys in the case would not discuss the matter today.

After a chase from Eighth and Hill streets to Fifth street and Maple avenue, last night, an officer finally captured H. J. Logan. Later, Logan confessed to the charge of grand larceny. It was held in Mission Hall on Kohler street, which is being temporarily occupied by the congregation during the construction of their new church, and the hall was packed to the limit. There was music and reading and addresses of welcome, followed by refreshments. The congregation has grown and prospered under the fostering care of the minister and his family, and the people are delighted to have them back.

Many Invitations Sent.

Occidental College has sent invitations to all the college president in the United States, and to all the ministers of the Presbyterian synod of California, to attend the inauguration of President Baer on the 26th, and anticipates many additions to the local crowd. The silk gowns to be worn by the faculty in the academic procession, varying in color according to the degree and the institution from which the wearer graduated, have arrived and will add brilliancy to the spectacle. It has been arranged to hold evangelistic meetings in the tent, under the leadership of Rev. T. C. Horton and Rev. Edward Emett, on Saturday and Sunday evenings following the inauguration.

High School Vandalism.

Vandalism that cost a graduating class its graduation exercises, several years ago, was repeated at the High School on Monday night in an aggravated form. It does not do to say that signs were painted on the buildings, for they were ruthlessly daubed on, in letters and figures so large as to point to the act as the deed of some one without the slightest regard for the city's property, if there was no meaner motive behind it. The signs all had reference to the summer class '07, and might have been the work of members of that class, were it not for the tone of some of them, as for instance, "Skidoo, '07," which seems to point to the members of another class as the offenders. The superintendent said last night that the solution of the matter will be left with the school itself for the present, and if the offenders are not discovered the Board of Education will take it up.

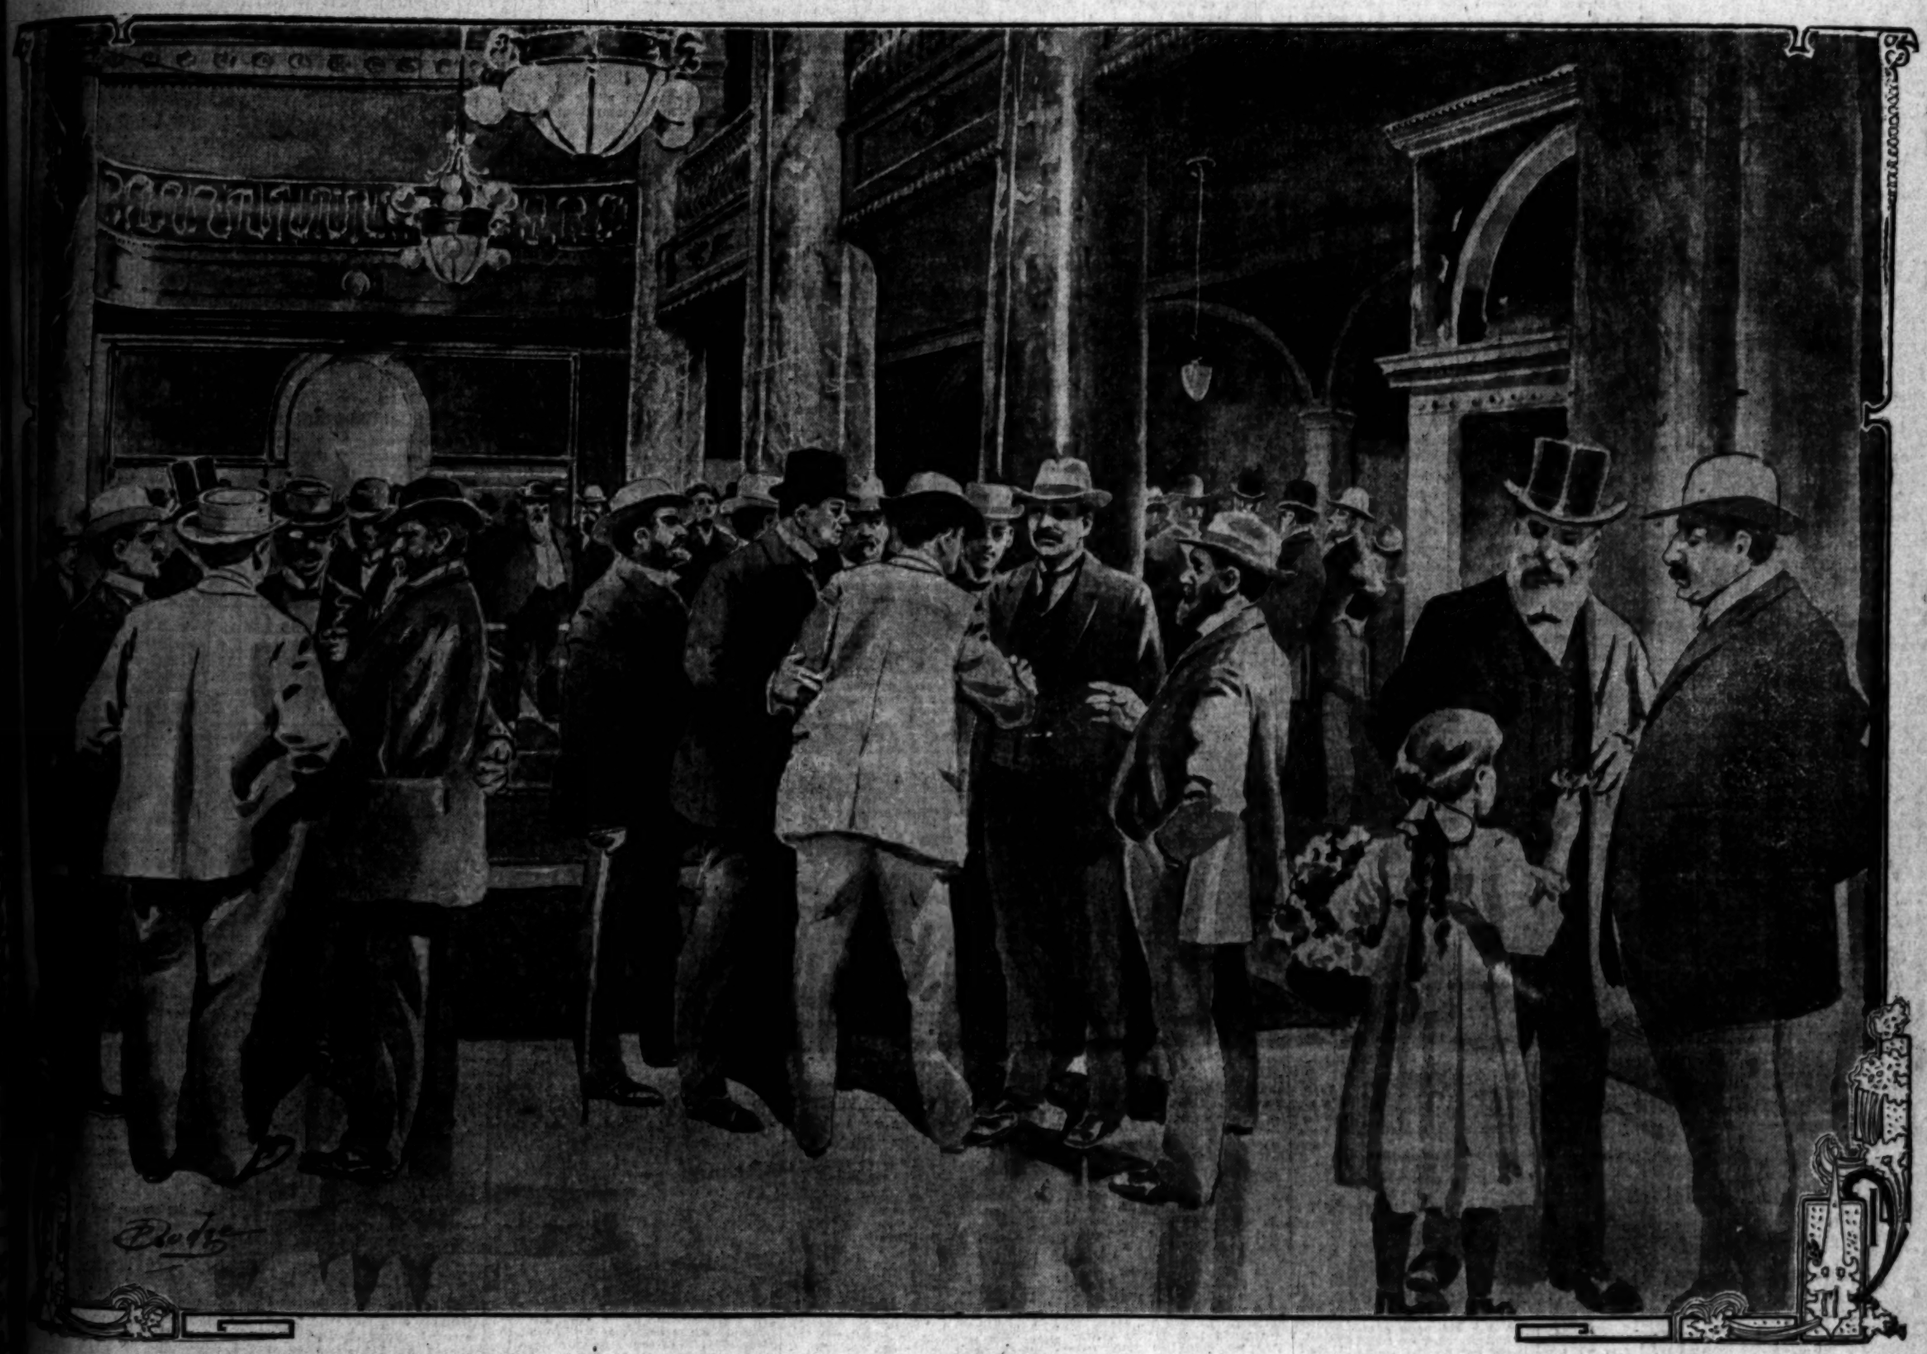
PEOPLE OF LOS ANGELES AND LONG BEACH LAUD GILLETT IN ROUSING DEMONSTRATIONS OF SINCERE ADMIRATION.



Business men's reception to Mr. Gillett at Hotel Alexandria yesterday—Greetings from the plain people to one of their own.

GILLETT DAY, yesterday, in Los Angeles and Long Beach, a rousing, sincere, vote-pledging demonstration of the affection held by the people of this city and its neighboring city for the Republican candidate for Governor, who by his appearance and his honest words has proved to the entire satisfaction of the voters that he is the one to be entrusted with the duties of the chief office within their gift.

Starting in with a reception in the morning at the Alexandria Hotel, that was attended by representative citizens of Los Angeles, and lasting evening with a meeting at Simpson Auditorium that for size and enthusiasm seldom, if ever, has been equalled in this city.

Between these two demonstrations there was a rousing rally of citizens in the afternoon at Long Beach, where the candidate was greeted by the people of the seaside city of their intention to have a part in placing him in the Governor's chair. In the early morning there was a reception for him at the headquarters of the Republican League at the Nadeau Hotel, followed immediately by a popular meeting at the Plaza, where he addressed a throng of people who, by reason of the limitations of Simpson Auditorium, could have no hope of hearing him elsewhere.

Wherever he appeared, the popular candidate was greeted with unbounded enthusiasm. It was no half-hearted, drummed-up day. There was no appeal to the passions of the people—no attempt to play on false issues; just the manly appeal to a manly man for the support of the people in placing him in the high office for which he has been nominated by the Republican party of the State.

George A. Knight, the eloquent, said, in referring to Gillett, that "God Almighty has a legible hand; you can read of a man what he is," and the throng that had gathered at Simpson Auditorium to welcome the candidate for Governor showed its approval in a burst of applause.

Then with cheering, it took up and cheered again, just as they had seen and heard and believed what his friends had told of him.

The address of the silver-tongued orator, closing one of a Gillett day that was remarkable for its enthusiasm. It was a fitting end to a day of triumphant ovation by the candidate from start to finish.

The day began with the arrival of the Elks' band, the Knights of the Golden Eagle Drum Club, the Army and Navy Club, the Army and Navy Union and other organizations that formed an escort for the candidate from the evening reception at the Nadeau Hotel to the meeting at the Plaza, and the big hall on Hope street. Members of the Fife and Drum Club marched into the hall to the notes of a spirited march, they were given a warm welcome, and a few minutes later Mr. Gillett and his party were given an ovation as they stepped onto the stage.

ANIMATED SCENE.

Decked in patriotic colors, with the American flag draped artistically in every portion of the interior that afforded opportunity, the great auditorium, filled from pit to dome with men and women, was the scene of greatest animation. The portraits of Washington, Lincoln, McKinley and Roosevelt on the stage were not needed to denote that it was a Republican gathering.

Filing in with Mr. Gillett, Mr. Porter, and the speakers of the evening were candidates for Los Angeles county office, and the vice-presidents of the evening—Republicans of factions that in the past have been wide apart, but which in this campaign are united solidly.

Bradner W. Lee, chairman of the Republican County Central Committee, introduced the first speaker, former Gov. Henry T. Gage, who was given a rousing reception, and who spoke for over an hour, taking up some of the charges made by opponents of the Republican ticket, and showing why they were wrong in every feature. Applause frequently interrupted the speaker.

REPUBLICAN SUCCESS.

"The presence here tonight of so large and enthusiastic an audience," said Mr. Gage, "demonstrates the great interest of the people in the welfare of the Republican party. I take it that it presages success. It proves again your admiration for the undying principles of the party.

"Some Democrats, some Independence Leaguers, some—and there are few of them—sore-head Republicans, and the rest of our philanthropic opponents assert that the nominees of the recent Santa Cruz convention were produced through the medium of bosses, by political trades and by wire pulling. These are the asserted principles of those who desire to secure deserters from the Republican ranks and to encompass the defeat of the party.

"What a horrible spectacle to these opponents when they desire to persuade Republicans to desert! Trading in delegations; wire-pulling. How horrible!"

The speaker then went on to show how trading in conventions, together with "wire-pulling," had been practiced in political conventions from their very inception; how these things even had resulted in the nomination of Abraham Lincoln and of Garfield. How they had encompassed the defeat of James G. Blaine. He ridiculed the justness of any such a criticism, as he riddled all of the other hysterical charges of the opposing candidates.

CALLS FOR GILLETT.

Two or three times in the course of his talk, Mr. Gage paused as if to give way to another speaker. There were cries of "Gillett" and "Knight" from the audience, that made it somewhat embarrassing for the speaker, but urgent nudges to "go on" from those on the platform caused him to continue at greater length.

As Mr. Gage turned to introduce Congressman Gillett, the man from Humboldt arose but was not permitted to speak for an interval of several seconds, so great was the applause. Calmly, then, and in good voice, Mr. Gillett began speaking. There was no mud-slinging at other candidates, no indulgence in wild assertions as to the wickedness of the other fellows—just a sensible discussion of the issues and not the bogies that confront the people of the State.

GILLETT'S SPEECH.

HERE AMONG FRIENDS.

Interrupted frequently by cheers, Mr. Gillett said:

"Mr. Chairman and Fellow-citizens: "It is gratifying for me to be with you this evening and to receive from your hands this warm reception. Ever since I have been south of the Tehachepi I have been with friends, throughout this county and San Diego, and wherever I have been, I have met with the same kind, cordial treatment.

"I have noticed one thing since I left home and commenced campaigning, that the Republican party of the State of California is wideawake and alive to the issues of the day. We have gained much in this State during the last ten years. We have made rapid progress, particularly here in the south we are developing our resources; we have confidence in the future; we are looking to the Orient for trade; we are looking to the East for people to come and make our population greater, and we all realize and know the fact to be, that the good times that have been with us during the last ten years have been made possible by Republican policies, by Republican principles, and by the wise administration of the Republican party. [Loud applause.]

"Our friends, and I speak of them as our friends, because they are, tell us that there are no issues for us to discuss of a national character. Every night in this State, from orators on the stump; every morning issue of the morning papers standing for Democracy, the appeal comes before the people to pay no attention to national issues, to forget about the great principles upon which parties are founded, and we have been listening to the charges they are making, charges that are untrue, unfounded on fact, and which the people of this State are getting awfully tired of listening to.

DEMOCRACY ONCE GREAT.

"The Democratic party once in its time was a great party; it stood for many great principles; it controlled for years the destinies of this nation; it helped to make our history, and it sometimes defended the Constitution. It had great leaders, who were patriotic, men who did much to build up this

HOME PEOPLE GRASP GILLETT BY HAND.

CITIZENS of Los Angeles—the plain, substantial, State-loving, home-making folk—had their first public opportunity yesterday morning of meeting Hon. James N. Gillett, the Republican candidate for Governor. He was formally "at home" to them for two hours in the handsome lobby of the Alexandria Hotel. They seized the opportunity to greet the next Governor, and they found him every inch the man that has been represented by his friends.

There was not a minute of the time from 10 o'clock until noon that he was not engaged in earnest conversation with some visitor. The levee might have extended throughout the day and still the candidate would have been unable to meet all those who wished to grasp him by the hand and assure him of their support.

Mr. Gillett appeared in the lobby of the hotel shortly before 10 o'clock with Warren Porter, candidate for Lieutenant-Governor, and George Knight, the "original Gillett man," and whose voice has been raised effectively throughout the campaign in support of the Republican ticket.

There were no frills on Congressman Gillett. He wore his customary dark suit, light Fedora hat and a soft blue shirt of the style affected by persons wh oseek comfort rather than style.

Despite the strenuous campaign he is conducting, with half a dozen speeches a day, he was as fresh as a daisy. He was feeling especially cheerful over the receipt of a telegram from San Francisco advising him that Mrs. Gillett, who underwent a surgical operation in that city several days ago, was very much improved and beyond all danger. She is at Lane Hospital with her young son, the baby of the family, and the especial pride of his father.

Singly and in groups the visitors arrived at the hotel. There were bankers, merchants, ranchers, clerks, doctors and lawyers. Many of them already knew the candidate. Others were presented by members of the Reception Committee, and had an opportunity to chat with Mr. Gillett until crowded aside by newcomers.

The candidate was assured from every side of the support that is to be given to him at the polls on election day. They scoffed at the effect of the mud-slinging campaign of his rivals. They assured him of the tremendous vote that Los Angeles county will give him. It was predicted freely that Southern California will go to the Tehachepi with a plurality of at least 30,000 for the Republican State ticket.

As the callers stepped aside to make way for others, they were heard to express the most favorable opinions of the candidate. His whole-souled, unaffected manner had demonstrated to them that he is a man, and that, if elected, as he will be, he will be Governor of the State, and the Governor for all the people.

After two hours of hand-shaking and heart-to-heart talks with the people, Mr. Gillett and his party were escorted to the Jonathan Club by J. W. McKinley, Bradner W. Lee, D. C. McGarvin and other members of the Republican County Central Committee. After luncheon there, they left for Long Beach for the afternoon meeting.

LONG BEACH GIVES CORDIAL RECEPTION.

LONG BEACH gave a cordial reception to Mr. Gillett yesterday afternoon. A large crowd was gathered at the railway station to greet him, and an automobile procession, headed by the Italian band in six motor cars, escorted him through the city and back to the auditorium, where an audience of more than 700 was assembled.

Dr. Perce acted as chairman of the meeting, and introduced the speakers. The candidate for Governor said the Republican party believed in an active campaign, and he had been making one in Southern California. The Democrats objected to his talking national politics, but if the time should come when a Republican candidate could not discuss questions of national policy, in which thinking men are interested, he would retire from politics. The Democracy was in a bad way if it could not consider those questions. Its best men had been leaving it for the past ten years, and its life was being eaten out by Socialism. Like a man riding backward on a railroad, the Democratic party could not see an issue until it had passed. The issue in California was continuation of the government policies which promoted the growth of the State. So long as the people of the East knew that the laws were enforced justly to all, and the rights of capital and labor were equitably protected in California, the State would grow in population and prosperity. There were portions of California sorely in need of what the Southland enjoys: a reign of law and the guarantee of opportunity to every man who wants to work.

Mr. Gillett paid his respects briefly to his opponent, the candidate of the San Francisco walking delegates. Mr. Bell, he said, accepted the nomination of that organization and made a speech to its convention declaring the nomination to be a great honor. Now he is going about Southern California apologizing for having taken the nomination. He began his campaign with attacks upon Ruef and Schmitz, but he received telegraphic orders from San Francisco to "cut out" remarks about those worthies, and he obeyed the orders.

It was expected that George Knight would make an address at Long Beach, but he was unable to be present, and Frank H. Short of Fresno took his place. Mr. Short modestly said his position was like that of a Democratic administration—that he was "an unexpected and disappointing visitation of providence." But though unexpected, the speaker was anything but a disappointment. He made a rousing speech and proved an acceptable substitute for the eloquent Knight. Mr. Short said he felt justified in basing upon his record the claim that he had always stood for independent individualism in the politics of California, and he could assure his hearers that there was no more ground for the charge of collar-wearing against Gillett than there was for the Democratic charge, in 1904, that Roosevelt was owned by the trusts and the insurance combine.

The speaker devoted a few moments to picturing the grotesque plight of the California Democracy. Two years ago, the Democrats of California instructed their delegates to vote for the nomination of Mr. Hearst for President. They must have thought him a great man and a worthy Democrat. This year, Mr. Bell, in a public speech, called Mr. Hearst "the vermiform appendix, removed from the Democratic party by a surgical operation." On the same night, that amputated appendix was made, by grace of Tammany, the leader of the Democratic party in New York.

But, said the speaker, there were things to be done more important than the settlement of party quarrels, and he concluded with a stirring appeal to his hearers to stand by the party that has made progress possible.

Atty.-Gen. Ford took up local questions and answered the charge that he had refused to begin suits to determine the validity of grants and franchises affecting San Pedro harbor. Every grant around the bay, he pointed out, is recorded locally only, and the State authorities have no knowledge of them. The power to grant franchises rests with local boards, and what grants have been made is known only to the people of the harbor towns. If they know that grants or titles are invalid, it is their business to begin actions or lay information before the State's law officers.

"If the grants are valid," said the Attorney-General, "they will stand. If they are invalid, you must take the initiative. I am ready to aid you, and it is immaterial who the claimants may be. Determination of the suit brought by the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce against the Banning titles will have an important bearing on the question of validity of harbor grants and franchises."

The Attorney-General also dealt with political issues and argued for the preservation of existing conditions by leaving the management of public affairs in the hands of the Republican party.

country and make a great nation.

"And I can imagine now these great men, like Jackson and Jefferson and Tilden, returning to this nation, back to the old people and to the new people that represent the Democratic party and saying to them,

"'How great your country has grown, it now extends from ocean to ocean, you have a population of nearly one hundred million, you have great trade relations with every nation in the world surely a people as great as yourself, as rich as yourself, with the future that you have before you, must be called upon to settle great questions and your minds be busily engaged with the affairs of this country which are of importance to its progress and future growth. Will you tell us now, in 1906, what are the issues of our old party we fought so many years for?'

"I can see our Democratic friends, my young friend that is running on two tickets, the Democratic and Labor Union combined, telling to those old sages of Democracy the issues today before the people of the State of California are William F. Herrin, William Randolph Hearst, Mr. Langdon and the Santa Cruz convention, and the imaginary line upon which I stand. [Laughter and applause.]

MEN TO BE PROUD OF.

"Now, I do not believe that the people of this country are going to take that seriously. I don't bother myself at all about the cry against the Santa Cruz convention. It was a Republican convention composed of 825 representative men of this State, representing our bankers, our lawyers, our doctors, our merchants, laboring men, farmers and all, 825 men gathered there, and for two days the Republican League in Santa Cruz; they met and discussed the question and I remember when word was sent to me that I had received the nomination, and as I looked into the upturned faces of the men assembled there, the flower of our party, men of intelligence, men of honor, of character, men who had assembled there to nominate a ticket for us to vote for, and I thought to myself, these men are worthy of any party, and if our Democratic friends who are making so much fuss about this convention could have in their party the same 825 men, they would have more intelligence, more brains, more good looks, more high tone, than the Democratic party has had since the days of Andrew Jackson. [Loud applause and cheers.]

"I think this convention compared favorably with the convention that met at Sacramento that was deafened by the clamor of cowbells [laughter] and loud noises. Our party is composed of the best men of the nation; we are a business party; we are a progressive party; we stand for what is right; we are not afraid to come out in the open and discuss the things we believe, and you will always find us rallying around the laws of the land and ever ready and willing at all times to support all interests when their claims are fair and just and denounce all interests when their claims are wrong. [Applause.]

NO COLLAR ON HIM.

"I have been nominated by the Santa Cruz convention. I stand today before the people of this State as a candidate on the Republican ticket. I am making the best fight I can for the success of my party because I believe it is right. I am not asking support particularly for myself, but I am asking that you do not forget our party and turn it into the hands of those that now are wanting it, but after the 6th of November, when I shall be elected Governor of this state [continued loud applause and cheers] I shall be the Governor of the people of this State irrespective of party; I shall represent every interest fairly. There is no corporation nor individual, nor organization that has any claims upon me. I propose to do what is just and honorable and I will do it to the best of my ability. [Cheers and Applause.]

"I have served my State for four years in the Senate. I have been a member of Congress four years from the First Congressional District; my public career is open to all. During all that time I have tried to stand for what was right and proper and just; during all that time I have never been charged as being the tool of any one or servile to the interests of any one, and I commence to think it is almost too late in life to fall down and worship any one or obey their bidding unless what they ask is for the best interests of all the people of this State and for the best interests of the State. (Applause.)

"I want to represent, as I said, every interest in this greate State of ours. We have mining men, horticulturies farmers, merchants, bankers, railroad men, laboring men and professional men. All these interests go to make up our great commonwealth; all are entitled to protection and all are entitled to fair administration of the law and all should receive it, and no man should be Governor of this State who is forgetful of the interests of every individual, and no man should be Governor of this State who would not fearlessly enforce all the laws we have now on out statute books, no matter whether it hits the laboring men or the man with a great bank account. (Applause.)

BEAUTIFUL "LOGIC."

"Outside of the questions which they have raised, as stated to you by Gov. Gage, there are a few other arguments that they are making: They discovered one only last night in San Diego, I imagine by reading the Express this evening. Mr. Bell has found out since he reached San Diego that there is no doubt about the fact of my being the candidate of the Southern Pacific Company, because he says he received a telegram from San Francisco that George A. Knight, who is with me, my old friend (and he did more to get me into this trouble than anybody else.) (Laughter.) I followed his advice or I would not have been into it—that George A. Knight is the attorney for the Pacific Coast Steamship Company, that Mr. Harriman owns stock in that company; therefore, Mr. Gillett is Mr. Harriman's candidate.

"How is that for logic? How is that for an appeal to make to the intelligence of the people, and then for the candidate for Governor standing before 2000 people, making an argument of that kind, and having made it, he says: 'There is no way for you to escape but to put me in as Governor of the State of California.'

"He might have told of another telegram he received a few days ago from San Francisco. He started out abusing Ruef and Schmitz and Herrin and when he reached Modesto, it is reported, and not denied, he received another telegram telling him to cut out Schmitz and Ruef and go on abusing the rest if he saw fit, and he has done so. (Applause and laughter.)

"There are no telegrams to me from San Francisco to cut out anybody and I am going to reach San Francisco and talk to them up there.

FALSE APPEAL FOR VOTES.

"They started another thing against me. They stated I was unfriendly to labor and that while a member of Congress I voted against having an eight-hour law apply to the building of the Panama Canal and they made that assertion with the Congressional Record before them showing clearly that when the matter came up I was not present, that I was paired. As a matter of fact I was at home sick with rheumatism. I didn't go back for several days, and it was two weeks after the vote was taken before I knew anything about it, but it answers their purpose all right. Even with that record before them they are going through this State making charges of that kind, hoping they will find some Republicans in the ranks of labor who believe it and believing it will be foolish enough to vote the Democratic ticket.

"Now, I will admit it would be a deplorable thing for this country if the affairs of it were turned over to our railroads and they took charge of everything; I will admit it would be a sad day when the railroads combined and would tell us what we could and what we could not do. It would be sad and deplorable, but it would not be half as bad and it would not bring about as much ruin as it would to turn our affairs over today to the Democratic party [applause] and that is what they want us to do; that is what they are asking us to do, a party that has always been behind everything, a party that passed every good measure for the last fifty years, that has been instrumental in bringing about the great success which we now enjoy, a party which, like the lightning bug in the East, with its light always behind, never in front, and they want us to turn over our party to them.

WE LISTENED THEN.

"In 1892 we listened to them. They had a great many good men in their party, they had men they could point to with pride, and we listened to them and we turned the country over to them. We gave them the President, the House of Representatives and the Senate, and you all know what they did. Now, are we, with nearly all the good men driven out of their party by reason of the free silver and other measures, which they advocated; are we now, with the party in the condition it is in; are we now, with greater wealth than we had in 1892, with brighter prospects and brighter future, going to turn the affairs of the nation over to them again or even give them a look-in?

"They say that it is not a national issue. Let me give you just one instance where it may effect the future of this country. The Governor has the right to appoint United States Senators to fill vacancies caused by death or resignation. Suppose something should happen to one of our Senators—a vacancy should occur while Mr. Bell is in office—whom would he appoint to represent you in the United States Senate?

"Would he appoint a Republican? No, he would appoint a Democrat; he would appoint a free-trader; he would appoint a man who would stand for a revision of the tariff. And suppose, during that time, it is not unlikely, that the question of revising the tariff should come up in Congress.

BEST PROTECTED STATE.

"Do you know our State is the best protected State of the Union? Do you know that here in the South your prosperity depends almost entirely on the Republican protective laws? Do you know what the result would be if you took off the duty on oranges and lemons? You would have to cut your trees down and go to raising hay. [Applause.] And would you want a Democrat seated in the Senate, appointed by Mr. Bell, who would help to revise the tariff on free trade laws?

"There is great danger there to the people of this country who understand it. We are much interested in the South, we are much interested in the North. All our fruits are protected, all our industries are protected; we stand a most favored State and by reason of that there are fast coming to our State a great many people who want to make their homes here. But take from you your prosperity, give us the times from 1893 to 1896, when banks were failing, when men were tramping over this country without employment; when Coxey's army was looking for bread—give to us those times and everything that makes up this country will come to a standstill.

"You could not have built your great city of Long Beach, you could not have built the great city of Los Angeles; it is because of the great prosperity in our land, because men have made profits, because of what our party stands for, that it has been possible for the people from the East to come to this favored section, in order to invest their money here and build up one of the finest cities in the world and backed by the best people. [Applause.]

RAILROAD RATES.

"On the question of railroad rates, I believe the railroads are entitled to receive fair remuneration, but they are not entitled to grant rates to favored shippers. The people, the most interested parties to the contract, should have something to say about the rates to be charged. This matter came up in Congress, and I received letters from this State, from this county, and from every county here in the South and in the North, asking me to support President Roosevelt in this issue, and you will find on file my reply that I would assist the President in passing this bill through the House of Representatives, if I was the only man that stood there and voted for it from this State. And I kept my word. And I was a candidate for Governor at the time I did it. And I had already been toasted at the banquet in Washington.

"There is one thing omitted from the bill, and which should be there, and which will be eventually, and that is the right to route your fruit as you see fit.

IN THE PHILIPPINES.

"We are now looking across the Pacific Ocean to where millions of people are living, and trying to extend our trade, trying to build up commerce there, and if we continue as we have in the last few years we will succeed in doing it. What has made it possible more than anything else is the fact that we have control of the Philippine Islands. These islands came to us through the fortunes of war. We were not seeking conquest in foreign land, but when they became ours, the Republican party—always willing to do what is right—undertook to do what was right in the islands.

"During our administration there we have given to the people laws equal to our own. We have established courts there in which they may try their personal liberties and their property rights. We have sent thousands of school teachers to teach them our language. We have built miles of telegraph lines. We have installed ourselves there firmly. And during the time we have been there our trade has increased 150 per cent.; and during all this time when we were doing what was right, when we were giving to these people good laws, increasing our commerce, building up a market for our merchandise, the Democrats of this country condemned our party and cried 'Imperialism,' and said we were ruining the nation and going back on the provisions of the Constitution.

"I stood in Congress and heard speech after speech in the last year against the Republican party for what it has been doing there. But we are going ahead just the same. Our flag has been planted in those islands. Trade is increasing. We have assumed the responsibility, and we are big enough to carry it out. Where our flag has once been planted in advance of American civilization, there the flag is going to remain and going to stay! [Applause.] And they cannot pull it down! The flag of our nation, landed justly in a country, never will retreat as long as the Republican party has anything to say about it.

PARTY OF PROGRESS.

"We stand as the party of progress. We stand today representing the best interests of this country. We expect, if we are not defeated, to continue the good work we have been doing. The people of California are desirous of bringing here those who live across the mountains. We have our mines to develop; our broad acres to cultivate; our great forests to chop down and put into lumber that our cities may be constructed. We have homes and opportunities for homes here for thousands. That is our great future. It is coming. It is no dream. And shall we now, with the great future that is before us, turn over the affairs of this country to a party that represents nothing. Or are we going to stand for a party that means everything? Are we going to suffer defeat, or will we roll up on election day a great majority and send it across the country to our President and the people of the East the glad tidings, as it were, that California, the proudest State in the West, one of the greatest States of the county, is faithful and loyal to Republican principles and has gone overwhelmingly for the Republican party? [Applause.]

"Is there any Republican in this audience, or i nthis State, that would want to take back in his vest-pocket a message to President Roosevelt and hand it to him personally, informing him that we had turned this State over to Bell and the different interests which he represents? I wouldn't take it. No man would take it back. You would be ashamed to look the great President in the face with such a message, and have him say, 'Why, I thought California was all right. We have done so much for you.'

"Now, fellow-citizens, I don't want to worry you longer. I simply want to say that our party—while they charge us with being the party in favor of trusts and large corporate interests, is the party that has at all times tried to suppress trusts, and has suppressed them. During the four years that Cleveland was in control of the affairs of this nation no trusts were prosecuted.

DEEDS WELL DONE.

"During the time the Republican party has had charge we have broken the Northern Securities corporation; we have prosecuted the lumber trust, the sugar trust, the meat trust, the coal trust, the iron pipe trust, the paper trust, and all the other big trusts of the land, and are prosecuting them today, fining them large sums of money and putting some of the owners in jail.

"That is the record of the Republican party. There is no man so rich in this country that he can escape prosecution if he violates the law; and there is no man so poor that he won't be protected under the law if he is right and doing what is just. We are not afraid to enforce the laws against anybody, and not afraid to extend the strong arm of the law to those who are weak. Our party stands, as I say, for what is right.

"I am glad to see in the South, all through your counties and your cities, such a strong feeling in favor of Republicanism. While your great city here is growing and throbbing with industry, while people are flocking to you, having confidence in your future and in your laws, a great city to the north of you, on one of the grandest bays in the world, with resources all around it, is throbbing now under the pain it received from the Democratic majority in that city. I hope the best men of San Francisco, the men who want to build up that great city, the laboring men of San Francisco who want to see their homes established once more within its confines, will see that no party in this State goes into power that will keep capital from the East from coming to its assistance. [Applause.]

"WATER IS YOUR LIFE."

"I wish now to turn this meeting over to another gentleman, who has been traveling with me through the South, and I want to thank you for your kind attention, and particularly for the part the people of the South took in nominating me for Governor. I want to say to you that if elected Gvernor I shall feel under obligations to you, and you will have a friend at court. I know what you want in the way of getting water from the Owens River. You need it; you must have it, or your city must stop where it is. [Applause.]

"When in Congress I received word of what you wanted. I went with Mr. McLachlan—and we had only two or three days to do it in—to get the Public Lands Committee together that you might have a hearing before it. I talked with the chairman and with the members of that committee, and that committee gave you a hearing and granted you what you wanted. That water is your life. Your future depends upon it, and the success of the Republican party both alike. And if I am Governor of California, I say you will have a friend, because I believe in the development of our great cities, and of all our resources, and making ourselves the grand State we ought to be and will be." [Applause.]

KNIGHT CHARMS.

NORTHERN ORATOR SPEAKS.

It was pretty late in the evening when George A. Knight was introduced, but the audience had not broken. He hesitated at first about speaking at all, but continued cries for him to proceed induced him to do so. He said in part:

"I don't feel like going on. The audience has been well entertained. Republicanism has been talked; you have heard our Governor, and seen the kind and manner of man he is. He needs no past history; God Almighty wrote that legibly on him, as he puts it on the face of every man.

"You have heard the principles of Republicanism discussed. There has been no opposition to it for the last thirty years, except three or four little pea-shooters around through the United States.

"There has been some talk about Bryan. To my mind, William J. Bryan is a representative American citizen—speaking of him as a citizen, and not as a politician or leader of men, but when they became ours, the Republican party—always willing to do what is right—undertook to do what was right in the islands.

"Some months ago he sailed out of the Golden Gate to take in new countries and compare them in his own mind and judgment with the United States. When he reached the Hawaiian Islands and the Philippines, in his heart he wanted to pull down the flag. When he reached the European countries and visited the great battlefields there, and they talked of their great generals—was there a man that compared with Gen. Grant?

"They talked of their diplomats. Was there one that could be mentioned with James G. Blaine and John Hay?

"And on his grand trip, when he was interviewed, was there a Democrat he could recommend to the civilized world?

"Send any Democrat throughout the nations of the world to tell the history of the country, and it is the record of this party of Lincoln, baptized by his blood, sanctified by the death of McKinley, and fructified and unified and brought to life by the inimitable, courageous and fearless Roosevelt.

"It would be a disgrace for this State to think of getting out of the Republican ranks. You ought to be ashamed of yourselves if you do not stand by it.

"I have no apology to offer for Mr. Gillett as Governor of California. I have known him for many years. My good faith is at stake.

"When I tell you that in Jim Gillett you have a square man, I am speaking the truth. Neither W. F. Herrin nor the Republican party in committee or otherwise, can dictate to him.

"He will be the Governor of the State in truth as well as in name and will be actuated by the desires and wants of the people of the State.

"I have seen him standing up to a big redwood tree with a stage board stuck in it and with his ax in hand, working from 6 o'clock in the morning until 6 o'clock at night, and he never struck—only at the tree.

"He can do more work in one hour than the two candidates on the other side can do in two weeks, and you know it. Not working with his jaw, but right up against it—against real work.

"These fair-weather, pink-tea fellows running around on the opposition tickets; this chicken-feathered fellow without stomach, bowels or brains—they have no right to assail the Republican party or its candidate."

PLAZA MEETING.

HE SPEAKS TO LATIN VOTERS.

"Gentlemen, permit me to introduce to you our next Governor," said Frank Domingues, president of the Latin-American League, as he ended a brief but vigorous little talk in the parlors of the Nadeau Hotel introducing James N. Gillett to the members of the league and guests who crowded the headquarters, corridors and parlors of the league and hotel last evening.

Mr. Gillett did not make a speech, but shook hands in a hearty manner with all present, and during this ceremony, in which Warren Porter, candidate for Lieutenant-Governor, participated, little Miss Helen Gertrude Domingues, dressed in white and pink, stepped forward and presented Mr. Gillett a big basket of pink roses with her compliments to "our next Governor of California."

The little maid blushed so prettily when Mr. Gillett stooped and thanked her heartily, looking at her all the time as though he would just like to pick her up and kiss her, ignoring for the moment the long line of voters who waited for him, that the little seven-year-old girl loked like one of the pink roses she had just presented, a beautiful bud.

Then in a carriage drawn by a pair of white horses, Mr. Gillett and Mr. Porter drove up Spring and Main streets to the Plaza. A long line of carriages and automobiles followed, and many of those who attended the reception took cars to the Plaza. There it appeared as though all of Sonoratown had turned out to welcome Mr. Gillett and Mr. Porter, and they were greeted with "vivas" most enthusiastically.

President Domingues made a fiery speech in Spanish, the band and drum corps played and Gillett spoke from the platform, which was decorated with bunting and flags.

Mr. Gillett spoke briefly, telling of the "royal time" he had been given in Los Angeles, and saying he would like to talk more to those present, but that he would have to attend the big meeting in Simpson Auditorium. He defined the principles of the Republican party as love of progress and love for the country and the flag, and stated that nowhere in the State was the party so strong as in Los Angeles.

"I am a candidate for Governor of the Republican party," continued Mr. Gillett, "and I stand for its progress and its principles. They may talk of the Democratic party, but it is a party that stands for nothing. We should stand for a party which has put this country in the lead of all others, which has made wages the best for the workingmen. We have stood for the policy which is for the establishment of industries and gives to the laboring man a fair day's pay for a fair day's work. [Cheers.]

Mr. Domingues then introduced Warren Porter, who made a brief speech lauding Mr. Gillett, telling his hearers how he has worked his way, as a poor man—even as those present—until he stands now representing the people of this State as their candidate for Governor.

EATEN ALIVE BY THE TICKS.

What Causes Cienega Ranch Cattle to Starve.

Superintendent of S.P.C.A. Is Not Satisfied.

Baldwin May Be Arrested on Cruelty Charge.

Trouble seems to be piling up for Charles Baldwin, major-domo of "Lucky" Baldwin's Cienega rancho, who may be arrested on a charge of cruelty to animals as a result of the investigation made by Superintendent Zimmer of the S.P.C.A.

Baldwin, in endeavoring to avoid trouble, says the cattle which perished miserably on the Cienega ranges, were afflicted with ticks, which caused their death.

Why he did not take steps to find what ailed his cattle and kill the ticks and save the animals the excruciating torture of such a death the ranch overseer does not explain to the S.P.C.A. officer's satisfaction.

Dry cows, yearlings, and two-year-olds, which have been turned out on the hills, were found yesterday by Zimmer and County Veterinarian Rowland to be covered with disgusting blood-sucking insects, which are feeding on the tender, quivering flesh of the inner ears of the cattle, which are slowly dying.

Though the miserable scarecrows which Zimmer found starving on his previous visit had been stuffed with fodder and bloated with water, they were still suffering from the attacks of the myriads of ticks which the ranch boss had apparently made no effort to remove from the hides of the suffering brutes. Zimmer states he found yesterday that nothing had been done for them, in spite of the fact that on Sunday the overseer had promised to herd the starvelings into a corral and give them proper attention.

Death in almost any other form would be preferable to that which has been slowly taking this stock. Too weak to resist the attacks of the ticks, the brutes must suffer a lingering death, their agony aggravated by the bites of the disgusting insects.

Explaining that there is plenty of feed on the back ranges Baldwin stated that across of stubble three or four miles across the ranch would afford ample pasture for the starving stock. He did not tell to Zimmer's satisfaction why he had allowed the cattle to suffer from the ravages of the ticks until they are too weak to even totter to where feed is plentiful.

The ranch boss was anxious to take Zimmer into the heart of the range where he says the feed is abundant. Zimmer refused to go, declaring the conditions on the bare ranges are enough to convict Baldwin of revolting cruelty.

According to Zimmer, the cattle have become the prey of the ticks to such an extent that they cannot travel even a few hundred yards in search of food and water, and are too dazed to do so. These ticks work into the ears of the tortured brutes, causing agony, and often driving the animals crazy.

When Zimmer reached the ranch yesterday he says he found City Vegetarian Young and City Milk Inspector Hood talking with Baldwin. In spite of the fact that the big overseer had admitted on Sunday the stock had died of starvation, yesterday, according to Zimmer, it had ranged from six months.

"The city officials, says Zimmer, were not taken out on the bare ranges where the poorest cattle are to be found, but were shown the fat, sleek milk kine in the lower pasture. Seeing these, they pronounced the stock in good condition. Zimmer charges both Hood and Young with purposely refusing to investigate conditions on the Cienega ranch, and says Baldwin believes himself immune from arrest, and will depend upon his influence to help to clear himself of any cruelty charge in connection with the treatment of the cattle.

"You can say for me that I will not allow this matter to go by default," said Zimmer last night. "I do not intend that Baldwin shall escape the consequences of his miserable acts because others desire to shield him. I will press the affair to a finish.

"Baldwin must treat the cattle with a special preparation of oil which will remove the ticks. Had he been so minded he could have done this long ago. He can't make money by torturing stock. He must come to time.

"If he persists in defying the law he will be placed under arrest, and we have evidence enough to secure his conviction."

"I was at the Cienega yesterday," said Hood last night, "and the feed is plentiful. Baldwin is not starving his cattle. They are dying because they will not eat the feed on the ranges because of the ticks which are driving them crazy. I do not think Baldwin is to blame because the cattle have ticks. He does not live on the ranch and leaves the care of the cattle to a hired foreman. He will treat them with a sure specific composed of a solution of oil, water and soap."

City Veterinarian Young was anxious to explain that he is in hearty sympathy with the work of Zimmer. He also said he found plenty of feed on the Cienega yesterday. His buggy wheels were clogged with the burr clover which he says is growing in tons on the hillsides.

"There is feed enough to keep thousands of head of stock," said Young. "The cattle are dying because of the ticks which have eaten into their ears. They die near water, just as Mr. Zimmer said, not from lack of food, but because they refuse to leave the marshy ground and choose to remain there and die."

Dr. Young explained the reason for the fatness of the milk cattle by saying the ticks have only commenced to bother them. He says the ticks have been working on the stock for about two weeks, and does not think Baldwin is guilty of cruel neglect.

Hood and Young are particularly friendly to Baldwin.

The popular manifestations in connection with the procession of the Lord Mayor of London, the sheriffs, aldermen and fifty city councilors through the streets of Paris were warmer yesterday and the speeches at the luncheon given in honor of the British visitors were marked by mutual pledges to make the Anglo-French exposition to be held in London in 1908 an affair worthy of the two peoples.

BITING OF THE BITER.

Gillett Turns the Tables on a Mercenary San Francisco Newspaper.

After the meeting at Long Beach yesterday, a reporter for the San Francisco Bulletin, who is traveling with Bell, approached Mr. Gillett and said: "I have some questions which I would like to have you answer," handing to Mr. Gillett four sheets of written matter.

Mr. Gillett glanced at the first sheet and saw this question: "Do you approve the methods of W. F. Herrin and Walter Parker in the Santa Cruz Convention?"

Handing the papers back without reading further, Mr. Gillett asked who sent the questions. The reporter replied that they were wired to him in cipher by the Bulletin.

"The Bulletin," said Mr. Gillett, "is a Republican paper, opposing the Republican party and me as its candidate. Is that so?"

"Yes," replied the reporter.

"Well, I am not answering any questions propounded by the Bulletin. You may say, however, if you care to do so, that I am trying to make a clean fight as candidate of my party. I am not under obligation to any person or corporation, and I have not promised anything; not even a street sweeper's job, on the water front. I am the candidate of the Republican party, and if elected Governor I will be controlled and influenced only by my own convictions of what is right and best for the interests of the people of this State."

"Well," persisted the reporter, "what do you think about the charges made by Hughes against Mr. Hearst?"

"I do not know what Mr. Hughes has said," replied Mr. Gillett. "I believe in conducting a campaign without making personal charges or attacks."

The San Francisco Bulletin took no position in the campaign for about two weeks after the nominations, but made overtures to be retained as a supporter of Gillett. Mr. Gillett refused to make any terms, and told the State Central Committee he would not countenance the use of money to purchase newspaper support. The Bulletin, professedly Republican, then came out against Gillett.

Other candidates who took the examinations for various municipal positions at the next meeting of the Civil Service Commission.

The recent civil service examinations have been the most extensive ever held in the city, and much interest has been manifested as to the outcome in several of the positions. Notable among these is the position as clerk for the City Council committees. Bert C. Farmer held this position as an appointment, and it also carries with it the position as sergeant at arms of the City Council. Farmer's grading of 95.2 holds him safely in that position.

MANY DELINQUENCIES.

ON MAIN-STREET WIDENING.

Many property owners have become delinquent on the payment of their assessments for the widening of Main street from Jefferson street to Thirty-seventh street. These properties have been sold for sums ranging from $3 to $30, and the Board of Public Works has had a siege of signing certificates of sale. The owners of property thus sold have the privilege of redeeming their property at any time within one year from October 4, when the sales were made. The law requires that 25 per cent. be added to the amount of the assessment against the property they desire to redeem if within three months; 25 per cent. if within six months; 30 per cent. if within nine months; and 40 per cent. if not redeemed before the twelve months, the year has expired, if the person whose property has been sold does not redeem it by the payment of the assessment, the purchaser pays the price and 10 per cent. additional. Before the purchaser can secure a deed he must publish for the former owner by writing of his intention to apply for the deed, or if the former owner cannot be reached, to this effect must be posted on the property for which a deed is to be issued. The assessment district for this street extension is from Jefferson street to Slauson avenue, on both sides of Main street.

Vacates Street and Alley.

The City Council has ordered the vacation of the alley south of Washington street, and between Alameda and Mateo streets. It has also ordered the vacation of portions of Pepper avenue, between Pepper avenue and Locomore street.

Will File Disclaimer.

City Attorney will file a disclaimer in the action against it brought by Carolina Dessena, et al., to quiet title to lot 47 of the Bailes-Vineyard Tract. The City Attorney has declared that the city has no material interest in the lot in question, and the Council has ordered the suit dismissed in accordance with this opinion.

Rubbish Problem Unsolved.

The disposition of the city's waste paper is still a problem with which the Board of Public Works is called upon to deal almost every day. There are numerous demands that the board shall be disposed of, by the proper manner in which to dispose of, by sale or otherwise, rooming-houses, etc., before the fire limits. Daniel Jamieson to the board, yesterday, asked permission to burn papers and rubbish on lands he has leased along Los Angeles river, near Santa Ana. Fry, who operates the Removing Company, proposes to keep a man stationed at the corner of Main and Ninth streets, to see that all paper is burned before using the same, and agrees to deposit $100 with the city to guarantee the faithful performance of the contract.

DELINQUENCIES.

MAIN-STREET WIDENING.

Before the owner can secure a deed he must make application for the deed, or, if the owner cannot be reached, the fact must be posted on the property for which a deed is applied for. The assessment district for the widening of Main street is from Jefferson avenue, on both sides of Main street.

Alley Between Grand Avenue and Alley.

The City Council has ordered the opening of the alley south of Washington street, and between Alameda and Grand avenue streets. It has also ordered the vacation of portions of Grand avenue, between Pepper avenue and Somers street.

Will File a Disclaimer.

The City Attorney will file a disclaimer in the action against it brought by Caroline Desmens, et al., to quiet title to lot 67 of the Ballesteros Tract. The City Attorney has declared that the city has no interest in the lot in question, and the Council has ordered the action in accordance with this opinion.

A Problem Unsolved.

One of the city's waste papers has a problem with which the Board of Public Works is called upon to deal every day. There are certain demands that this board shall in some manner in which they shall be disposed of, by the fire limits. Daniel Boone, rooming-houses, etc., within the fire limits. Daniel Boone, the board, yesterday, refused to burn papers and rags, he has leased along the Los Angeles River, near Santa Fe Junction, Fry, who operates the Fry Removing Company, to keep a man stationed at this tract of land all the time, to watch the fires and see that all papers are consumed; and besides using the place for his own work, he agrees to allow any other persons to deposit loads of waste paper there at the rate of $1 per month.

Board Member Returns.

D. K. Edwards, member of the Board of Public Works, has returned from a two weeks' visit to points in the northern part of the State. He spent a short time in the Santa Cruz Mountains, and also visited Santa Cruz, San José, Salinas and San Francisco. Mr. Edwards declares he never witnessed such activity as is apparent in all the places which suffered from the disaster of last April, and he says that only the greed of labor-union leaders can retard this remarkable effort to recuperate.

More Street Sweepers.

P. A. Howard, who has the contract with the city for street sweeping, will leave within a few days for the East, where he will purchase additional sweeping machines. He has asked that a member of the Board of Public Works go East also to inspect various makes of street sweepers, and select a type of machine which will be suitable to the needs of Los Angeles streets. At the present time, Howard uses two of the city's machines, the pneumatic sweepers. He requires more machines for the outside work, particularly of a type that will do the work on such streets as Seventh, on which much dirt is carried by the heavy traffic from cross streets that are unpaved.

THE SUPREME COURT.

"YOULE CASES" ARE SUBMITTED.

ARGUMENTS IN SUPREME COURT HEARD YESTERDAY.

Celebrated Suits to Get Possession of Valuable Oil Lands in Kern County Nearing a Climax—Long Fight of Years Against Woman Who Purchased Entire Section.

Apparently there is some prospect that the cases known in the legal record of this State as the "Youle Cases," will be determined within a short time after being in the county and Supreme Courts for nearly six years. The cases were argued yesterday before the Supreme Court in the Bullard Block by Attorney James F. Peck for the appellants, and by Attorney C. E. Bolton for the respondents.

This curious case not only involves title to now valuable oil lands in Kern county, but also the constitutionality of the law of 1897, providing for the purchase of all State mineral lands from the United States.

It is because of the conflict in the laws of 1872, 1874 and 1897, regarding the purchase of State lands that the complications have followed in this Kern county land case. At the close of the arguments yesterday Supreme Court Justice Beatty, for the court in banc, ordered the case submitted.

It was in August, 1899, that Mrs. Mary J. Thomas made application in the State Land Office to buy nearly all of Section No. 36, township No. 32, south range No. 23 east, M.D.B. M., or about 600 acres. February 12, 1900, the Registrar of the State Land Office issued to Mrs. Thomas a certificate of purchase under the provisions of Title Act No. VIII, of the Political Code.

On August 8, 1900, W. E. Youle applied for the purchase of the northern half of this same section as an actual settler under the claim that this section was suitable for cultivation, and he filed a formal protest against the purchase of this land by Mrs. Thomas.

At the same time that Youle filed his application Albert R. Wilkes also filed a similar application to purchase the southern half of this section on the same ground, and also filed a protest.

The Registrar of the State Land Office referred the cases to the Superior Court of Kern county as provided by law, and there they hung fire for nearly three years. Finally the case was peremptorily set down for trial on February 10, 1902.

Just five days before the trial was to be called sixteen men filed petitions as intervenors in this suit under reference from the State Surveyor-General, claiming to own this section under the mining law of 1874 permitting the purchase of land in forty-acre parcels at $2.50 an acre. The court vacated the orders of intervention, made ex-parte, and the sixteen would-be intervenors took an appeal.

This was over three years ago, and the appeal was argued yesterday, and a decision is expected soon. If the appellants are allowed to intervene a layman's mind becomes confused just trying to think what will happen then in the original case. If they lose their case the original Youise-Thomas case will be tried "some time."

By the law of 1897 all mineral land must be bought from the United States. This was not done by the intervenors. They now set up the claim that this law is unconstitutional.

AT THE COURTHOUSE.

HUFF THINKS EARTH SQUARE.

BUT INSTNITY COMMISSION DOES NOT BELIEVE IT.

He Is Sent to Patton—Tries to Solve Mystery of Air Currents by Swinging in Hammock—Claims Discovery of Magnetic Chain Saw and Open-air Vacuum.

Yesterday, William Huff of San Pedro drew a diagram in court to illustrate his theory that we are all living in a hollow square, and the insanity commission refused to be convinced. On the contrary, Huff was committed to the State Hospital at Patton.

Huff has borne the reputation of being a particularly skilled mechanic. He claims to have taken out patents on a number of inventions of a more or less curious character, but while a man may be skillful in mechanics, if his entire life is along erratic lines, suspicion is aroused.

A week ago, Huff and his wife were in the Juvenile Court to answer for not taking proper care of their three children. As the aftermath to that inquiry, the father was arrested on an insanity complaint. Strangely enough, the wife was, at one time, an inmate of an asylum.

During the past year, Huff has made exactly $250, and, of this sum, $50 was received for old copper that he picked off the bottom of a derelict; the balance he made out of lobsters. Ordinarily, however, Huff has passed most of his time swinging in a hammock, and he maintained that he was not swinging either for rest or amusement, but in order to study the air currents. He said that he wanted to find out the effect of the compression and expansion of the atmosphere. Being a student of aërial navigation, he was convinced that these questions are vital to successfully solve the riddle of aërial flight. He claims that he has invented a device by which he can secure a vacuum in the open air, and without any enclosing envelope. A magnetic chain saw is another of his inventions.

Huff is charged with having been brutal to his wife, but she refused to say anything about that. When called upon to explain certain scratches upon her face, a short time ago, she said that one night she had a fearful dream. She thought she was falling through space at a terrific rate and threw out her hand to save herself. Her hand fell across her husband, as he lay in bed by her side. Startled in his sleep, he threw out his hand to ward off the blows he imagined were being rained upon him, and his hand fell upon the face of his wife and made the scratches.

Huff gives evidence of being an uneducated man, except along the line of mechanics, in discussion of which he reels off words at too great a rate for any one to follow him. He denied being in need of treatment, and said all that he wanted was a regular job, such as he had held in the East, where he had made $15 a day. His boy's illness, he explained, was the one thing that compelled him to come to Southern California.

After arriving here, Huff says he discovered that his grandfather, Don David Alexander, who came to California as a fugitive from justice, secured title to a large slice of the present site of San Pedro. Huff's grandfather, according to his statement, was a surgeon, and, in seeking to perform an operation not at that time recognized by the profession, the patient died and he was held responsible. He fled and settled at San Pedro. Huff claims that he is entitled to all his property.

GIVE UP THEIR BABY.

THEN PARENTS WANT HER.

Maria Hernandez and her husband haled an old Mexican, named Matin Corrales and his wife into court yesterday to compel them, by habeas-corpus proceedings to surrender possession of an infant child, who had been confided to their care about a year ago.

The story of the manner in which the good-hearted old Mexicans obtained possession of little Alberta, was told to Judge Gibbs. About a year ago Hernandez and his wife, brought the infant to the Corrales and asked them to take the child. She was filthy and in rags, and was almost at the point of death from starvation. The parents said they were without money and could not care for her.

Mrs. Corrales said, when the child was brought to her, that if the parents would give her the child for her very own, she would care for her, and, if she died, would see that she received proper burial.

The bargain was struck, and, for a year, the parents neither sent anything for their child nor did they call to see her, but, recently, both father and mother developed a great affection for the little girl, who is now living happily with the Corrales at Los Alamitos.

Hernandez demanded the child, but was met by a refusal, and then he had old man Corrales arrested and taken before Justice Northrup at Alhambra, charging him with having stolen the baby. The charge fell flat, but Corrales said that, if he was reimbursed for the expense to which he had been put, he would hand over the child, if he had to. Thereupon a writ of habeas corpus was sued out, alleging that the child was being held in pawn for a debt.

The old people, however, told Judge Gibbs that they didn't want to part with the baby, and that they had brought it back from the brink of death. They thought their care and affection had more than overcome the natural right of the parents to the child, particularly as such right had been waived in the first instance.

The court agreed and dismissed the writ, and the Señora Corrales thereupon hugged the little child to her breast, and, with her husband, left the courtroom, cooing sweet nothings in the ear of her foster child.

WIFE DISCONTENTED.

END WAS DIVORCE COURT.

Mrs. Jesse May Babcock became tired of the monotony of home life in Riverside and looked around for escape. One day she read an advertisement in a paper, in which an elderly bachelor stated his need of a housekeeper. She at once thought that if she could only get a position like that she would be contented. The advertisement was answered, and after some little time the advertising bachelor appeared at the Babcock home. Then trouble began.

Mr. Babcock opened the door and the stranger stated his business, saying that he had called to see Mrs. Babcock, who had replied to his advertisement for a housekeeper. She had intimated in her letter that she was a widow. For a moment or two the husband couldn't speak. He was boiling with rage. Then he told the stranger that Mrs. Babcock was his wife, and he wanted to know how she happened to be answering advertisements.

While this conversation was going on at the door, Mrs. Babcock was shivering inside. Her husband called to her to come and assure this inquiring stranger that she wasn't a widow, but she refused, and in a loud whisper told her husband to close the door and let the stranger go. But the bachelor in search of a housekeeper didn't like being made to appear foolish, and he told Babcock that he had received several letters from Mrs. Babcock, and produced them.

Then the angry husband grabbed the letters, and going inside, slammed the door. He perused the epistles and found them filled with sugary words and endearing terms in his wife's handwriting, and in one a date was arranged for a meeting at Long Beach.

This was the story told by Babcock in court yesterday, and was the backbone of his complaint for divorce, which was granted.

BREACH OF PROMISE.

NURSE ASKS TEN THOUSAND.

A trained nurse, Constance A. Winton, sued George Washington Smith, a nurseryman, for $10,000 breach of promise in the Superior Court yesterday. They met two years ago, and became engaged, it is alleged. Miss Winton says he made loverly calls and was very much devoted for a time. She found out, however, that he was meanwhile making calls on another woman. Taxed with this, he caused a notice of their engagement to be published in the society columns of the newspapers. A month ago, she asserts, Mr. Smith informed his fiancée that all was over. She says that, on account of the publication of the notice and the consequent congratulations of friends, she was much chagrined and mortified, and $10,000 is cheap for what she had to suffer.

COURTHOUSE NOTES.

BREVITIES MISCELLANEOUS.

LOST HER CASE. Cordelia Meredith sued the Pacific Electric Railway Company for $15,000 as damages for injuries sustained in an accident. Yesterday, the case went to trial before Judge Monroe and, in short order, a judgment was given for the defendant. The plaintiff claimed that she was in the act of alighting from a Brooklyn-avenue car at Mott street, and that the car suddenly started and threw her to the ground. This contention she failed to make out. On the contrary, it was shown that the plaintiff arose from her seat while the car was slowing down and attempted to alight before it had stopped, and that the conductor, seeing her danger, tried to hold her.

DESERTED HIM. Frank Reed obtained a divorce from Jennie W. Reed, on the ground of desertion. The parties married in April, 1898, at Boulder, Colo., and in 1903, the wife deserted in this city.

REGAN WANTS REST. Cornelius Regan has made a living selling clothes stretchers on the streets, and has accumulated quite a little money by careful living. But he became melancholy and was disturbed over religious matters, and yesterday he was brought before the insanity commission. The man appeared to be a well-disposed and steady citizen, but suffering from melancholia. He was ordered committed to the State Hospital.

NO BAIL FORTHCOMING. Mrs. Rice-Thomas was brought before Justice Pierce yesterday, to be arraigned on the charge of having one husband too many. Her bail was fixed at $1000, but neither of her husbands came to her rescue with the necessary bail bond, and the wife, whose honeymoons with each husband have been so brief went back to the County Jail.

GRADING CAMP LIFE. Mary L. Coberly was divorced from Jesse B. Coberly yesterday, on the ground of cruelty. The parties were married in July, 1899, in this city, and in July, 1906, when the husband deserted. Coberly was a dissolute man. He took his wife into the grading camps, and when he went on a spree, she was practically unprotected.

THREATENED HER LIFE. Daisy B. Lytton married J. W. Lytton in this city in June, 1900. Very soon her husband began to act riotously and treated her with cruelty. While living at the St. Francis, he threatened her life with a knife, and, on several occasions, raised a turmoil in the house by abusing her. Once the other guests had to interfere and put Lytton into the street.

STEWART ESTATE. Probate is asked for the will of the late James Stewart, who died in this city on October 5, leaving an estate valued at $33,600. The Stewart ranch is valued at $15,000, and there is other property of value. The will bears date of July 17, 1901.

LAUNDRYMAN'S ESTATE. Mrs. Cornelia Caswell, widow of Frederick M. Caswell, who died recently in this city, has petitioned for letters of administration. The estate is valued at $16,440, and includes 644 shares in the New Method Laundry, valued at $6440. There are three children living with the widow at the family residence, No. 1211 West Twenty-third street.

THE INFERIOR COURTS.

David Polasky, Charged With Stealing Five Cents Worth of Bottles, Discharged.

David Polasky had the doubtful distinction yesterday of being charged with the smallest offense ever brought to trial in the Police Courts. Officer Jack Walsh arrested Polasky, who was charged with petty larceny. The goods he was accused of taking are worth 5 cents.

The peculiar case was before Justice Austin, and the court saw the ridiculous position into which it had been involved when seven dusty old bottles, worth only half a dime, were placed as "Peoples' Exhibit A."

Frightened almost out of his wits Polasky, who is 70 years of age, shivered when called on to testify in his own behalf. He can not speak a word of English. On the witness stand he sobbed out his story. He "made good" with the kind-hearted justice and was discharged.

Never before has a case which involved so small a sum been tried in the courts. Polasky is a junk dealer, and is known to residents of the southeast, where he buys rags, bottles and sacks.

When Walsh arrested Polasky the old man was coming from the rear of P. M. Moroney's grocery store on Pico and Main streets. The junk dealer carried a sack containing the 5 cents worth of bottles.

Through an interpreter Polasky explained he had bought the bottles for 2 cents. Moroney declared the bottles are worth at least 15 cents. He did not like to claim the filthy junk, and made a poor witness.

Polasky's defense that he had purchased the junk carried the day. The old man lingered about the Police Station the remainder of the afternoon after being discharged, thanking every one he met.

HELD WITHOUT BAIL.

Pablo Moreano, accused of murdering Pablo Ciballo, was bound over to the Superior Court by Justice Chambers yesterday morning without bail. The preliminary examination occupied the greater part of the morning, and evidence sufficient to hold the man on a murder charge was brought out.

Pablo Ciballo died at the County Hospital October 4 from a gunshot wound inflicted by Moreano on the morning of September 11. Moreano claimed at the time of the shooting that Ciballo had entered his home with the intention of stealing his 13-year-old daughter.

The ante-mortem statement of Ciballo was that he had been shot in the back as he was sitting on a box. He declared Moreano fired the shot without provocation.

Accused of murder, Moreano sat dejectedly in the witness box. He seemed to take little interest in the proceedings, and appeared relieved when he was bound over to a higher court.

ALLEGED BICYCLE THIEF.

W. A. Hughey, accused of stealing a bicycle, was bound over to the Superior Court yesterday morning by Justice Chambers, with bail fixed at $500.

HE WANTS CLOTHES.

John Andrews, who has a mania for stealing clothes, must stand trial in the Superior Court. Justice Chambers held him to answer yesterday morning under $1000 bail. For months stores on North Main street have missed articles of clothing. Shoes have been stolen, and in several instances whole suits have disappeared. The police believe that in Andrews they have the thief, who has shown such an aptitude for purloining wearing apparel.

Twice Andrews has served terms of sixty and fifty days, respectively, for stealing a pair of shoes and a hat. He is guilty of a third petty larceny offense, which is punishable with a term in the penitentiary.

CITY SURGEON IS INDICTED.

Freedman Must Answer for Patient's Death.

Grand Jury Takes Up Case of Stabbed Man.

Manslaughter the Charge Against Doctor.

Assistant Police Surgeon Charles Freedman was indicted for manslaughter by the grand jury yesterday.

It is the long-looked-for scandal in the city Receiving Hospital. There will be other chapters.

The charge against Freedman comes from his terrible blunder in the case of Francisco Martinez, a Mexican, who was stabbed in a fight on San Fernando street.

Dr. Freedman was in a hurry to catch the last car, and attempted to perform the difficult operation of laparotomy in fifteen minutes. The Mexican was taken to the County Hospital, where he died in agony. After his death the body was opened, and it is claimed that the surgeons found that Freedman had sewed the man's intestines in between the walls of the abdomen.

Although the usual effort was made to hush the thing up, police reporters of The Times unearthed the real cause of the man's death.

Dr. Freedman seemed indifferent at that time. He had often boasted of a political pull through Councilman Smith. He seemed to think he would be "taken care of."

TERRIBLE ORDEAL.

Martinez, the Mexican, was stabbed on the night of August 19 about midnight by two Mexicans. He made his way home over a mile, climbed a steep stairway and fell unconscious on the floor.

In answer to an ambulance call, Dr. Freedman and an officer responded. They climbed the stairs and found Martinez in a fainting condition. Freedman made a hasty examination of the man, and then told him to walk down stairs. With his intestines protruding he made his way to the ambulance, assisted by two Mexicans.

He had to sit up in the ambulance all the way to the station, and was made to walk into the hospital from the wagon.

Dr. Freedman decided that the intestines had not been perforated, and hastily sewed up the wound. Martinez was put to bed in charge of a prisoner of the jail, and Dr. Freedman rushed for the last car.

A day or so afterward Martinez died at the County Hospital. Peritonitis was the direct cause. In the abdominal cavity were extensive evidences of infection caused by leakage from the intestines, which Dr. Freedman had failed to sew up.

BEFORE THE CORONER.

The case was brought to the attention of the Coroner and a jury was summoned. It was an astonishing jury. One of its leaders was J. K. Garball, a crook, who is now doing time in State's prison.

Garball had been serving 150 days in the City Jail for wife-beating, and during the term of his imprisonment, was made a trusty. During the long night watches, while they were both on duty, he made the acquaintance of Dr. Freedman. No one knows how, but this ignorant crook, Garball, happened to be drafted on that Coroner's jury and became its foreman.

The jury completely vindicated Dr. Freedman. Garball told the other members of this intellectual jury that "the damn newspapers are making all this hollar."

As he had been written up several times in connection with his various wife-beatings, petty larcenies, drunkenness, embezzlements, forgeries and thievery, Garball was not favorably disposed toward newspapers. Like almost any crook, it was his instinct to rush to the defense of whatever the papers criticised.

FREEDMAN ADMITTED.

At the inquest Dr. Freedman admitted, among other things;

That he found Martinez with intestines protruding from a knife wound.

That he made Martinez sit up in the ambulance with his intestines protruding during the whole of that rough ride.

That he found a laceration in the intestines. He sewed up the abdominal wall. He did not sew up the laceration in the intestine.

Throughout the whole case Dr. Freedman seemed to have an insolent disregard of the possible consequences.

Dr. Freedmn is the deputy of Dr. Arthur Smith. They have the Receiving Hospital in charge twelve hours, and Dr. Quint and Dr. Bonynge the other twelve. No breath of criticism has ever arisen concerning the faithfulness of the latter two.

Dr. Freedmn is admitted to be a capable surgeon; but it is charged he is careless and often heartless.

His arrest on the charge of manslaughter is not believed to be the end of this investigation. The grand jury is said to be going through that Receiving Hospital with a fine-tooth comb. There will be other developments.

Patients, mangled, bleeding and suffering agony, have been known to lie there a long time while the officers were hunting for a police surgeon.

TROLLEY CAR WRECKED.

Brakes Fail to Work and Coach Goes Into Ditch—Crew Slightly Injured.

When the motorman of an inbound Inter-Urban trolley car attempted to stop the car at Twenty-fourth street and Vermont avenue about 1:15 o'clock a.m. yesterday, he found that the brakes would not work, and before he could save himself the car struck a curve and turned over on its side.

Fortunately, there were no passengers on the car. From the police it was learned that the motorman was slightly bruised and that the conductor sustained a slight shock by leaping when the motorman cried a warning to him. The tracks were made slippery by the fog and the car was traveling at a rate of more than twenty miles an hour, witnesses say.

Pen Points

"The Democratic party is 106 years old," says Bryan. And it looks it.

Miss Krupp is described as "healthy and robust." Her bank account is similarly described.

"A scrap of paper," when it is in the form of a will, almost always creates a scrap among the heirs.

Fraulein Krupp has 63,000 men working for her, not including the young man to whom she was recently married.

Emperor William refers to the late Herr Krupp as a "saint." There certainly can be no doubt that he was "canonized."

The Democratic Bell looked harmless enough at the beginning, but it is different since the walking delegates have started in to ring it.

A man can now come to California from the East for $33. But, once here, he can't be dragged back for many hundred times that amount.

London has a "spook" that has already cost the municipality $5000. That's only a flea bite to what Spook Howton has cost Los Angeles.

"Uncle Joe" Cannon does not believe in the "early to bed" theory. "Uncle Joe" probably believes in first putting all the Democrats to sleep.

The appearance of multitudes of Hawaiian sharks is reported. This is the first intimation the public has had that a real estate boom is on in Hawaii.

That statue which Mr. Hearst intended to erect, portraying himself as a President of the United States, might come in handy to hang hats on in the foolish house.

Porto Rico, once the poverty-stricken pity of the world, is now prospering like a Texas steer knee deep in clover. Republican blessings, my dear, Republican blessings.

It is to be noticed that Mr. Bryan merely gives the width of the Democratic party. Perhaps the reason he does not give its length is that it is usually so short.

A New York writer has gone to considerable pains to prove that editors are human. If they are it's a wonder they are, after all they are compelled to contend against.

The Weather Bureau has adopted the reform method of spelling. If it will now put into practice a new way of predicting the weather the public will be in a position to rejoice.

The theory is now advanced that earthquakes follow as a result of the heavy cannonading in great wars. This theory may as well be accepted, perhaps. It is as good as any other.

A scientist makes the claim that enormous power may be developed from waste gas. But the trouble is to get the politicians to stay long enough in one place to make any use of it.

Henry O. Tanner, a negro artist already famous, has won this year's American Art Institute prize over all competitors. Surely, and not slowly, is the "inferior race" climbing upward to the heights.

"The Democratic party is 25,000 miles wide," says William J. Bryan. Let's see—that would be a Democrat for about every thousand miles, wouldn't it? Guess William knows what he's talking about, all right, all right.

What the Mayor of Paris said to the Lord Mayor of London was that France and England no longer regard each other with suspicion. What then followed was very much in the nature of what the Governor of North Carolina said to the Governor of South Carolina.

It is difficult to see how the assertion that Shakespeare was indebted to an Irishman named Dowland for the material he used in the play of Hamlet can hold good in view of the fact that another Irishman, Ignatius Donnelly, proved that Shakespeare was written altogether by Bacon.

At the wedding of Fraulein Krupp, the Kaiser admonished the young couple to "promote the good of their fellow-creatures." They will do the best they can by manufacturing guns with which their fellow-creatures will be blown off the face of the earth.

When a man helps the Democratic party into power once, enduring the consequent suffering, and then votes that way again, he is a good deal like the man who married a second time, and of whom a German friend made this remark: "A man who marries the second time does not deserve to lose his first wife."

Hearst is being caught red-handed with the goods. While denouncing corporations in the most violent and bitter language, it has been discovered that he is himself in control of corporations that squint very crooked, indeed. If there ever was a faker that stood in need of a few good swift kicks, it's Willie.

"TIME TO SLOW DOWN," FOR CARS AND DEMAGOGUES.

Every person of humane sentiment is deeply concerned at the present time about the unusual and unnecessary number of disasters occurring upon the street railroads of this city and its environments. A large committee of citizens of high standing and good judgment has considered this matter and put forward its recommendations as to how these accidents are to be avoided. This concern of the people of the city is entirely right and the action of this committee of citizens is directly in line with the requirements in the situation. Something should be done and something must be done to lessen the frequency of these casualties, often fatal, which are disturbing our minds.

But while it may be "time to slow down" the speed with which the cars are operated, nothing but evil will come of such a meeting as that held upon Brooklyn Heights on Monday night. This is not a community to be carried away off its feet by passion and prejudice. It is not a community which can be swayed by the turgid oratory of too feryid agitators and it is certainly a community never to be moved to obtain any reform of any kind through violence. The loud-mouth, whose eloquence consists entirely of vituperation, thickly larded with blasphemy, ribaldry, and expressions of violence will lose his energy upon any gathering where the typical Los Angeles population is represented. The man who has no better argument to put forward in a deliberative assembly than curses, loud shouting of "You're a liar," and similar amenities will take nothing where the people of Los Angeles sit in judgment.

Of course, from blatant socialists such as disgraced the meeting on Brooklyn Heights, nothing better can be asked. But really from a newspaper which has taken a pose for high piety and pretends to have all the virtue there is in the press of Los Angeles, something better might be expected. When the little Evening Express sits up and blinks its eyes like a bat and utters sentences like the following, it is really putting itself upon the level of low-browed blackguards. We quote:

"In considering the casualties resulting from excessive speed, one fact should always be borne in mind: the company does not speed the cars for the better accommodation of the public, but solely to get as many trips as possible in the employes' work day. The more trips the more nickels."

Now that (in the Express of Monday) is as blatant rot as came from the lips of any of the coarsest of the gang of socialistic demagogues who are spouting mischief in Los Angeles. The statement is as untrue as it is silly. There is no justification for it excepting a desire on the part of the falsely pretentious Express to truckle to the worst elements of this population. Utterances like the above not only discredit the Express and its owner, but they would really reflect dishonor upon Hearst's yellow rags. If the Express writer has the sense that "God gives geese" he ought to know that he was penning untruths when he wrote the lines. The street railroads are all practically under one management. Whether a passenger rides on this car or on the next one three or five minutes later, the nickel goes into the same bank account. The railroad companies are more concerned in the safe running of their cars than is any individual in the community. The loss to the company in money by these accidents is many times greater than any nickels they could save by the high rate of speed maintained. A little boy or girl in the high school who is studying science knows that a car running twenty miles an hour consumes one-fourth as much power as the same car would consume running forty miles an hour. Any given rate of speed to be doubled calls for the squaring of the power consumed. The railroads of the United States are often criticised for running their trains at a low rate of speed in sparsely populated districts, and the charge is made against them that they do it to save fuel at the expense of the public convenience.

The American people, big and little and in every walk of life, are speed crazy. It would be comical if it were not so lamentable to see people run three blocks to catch a street car when there is another three minutes behind it. Not only business men, who gain nothing by this excessive anxiety to "get there," but women chase the approaching car as if their very lives depended upon getting to some point three minutes earlier than the next car would take them.

This matter can be very easily tested. It would be entirely competent for the City Council to fix a speed limit for operating these cars, and they might put it as low as they think the public will endure. There is one thing certain in the minds of all who give themselves the trouble to think, and are capable of the process, and that is that the lower the rate of speed the Council sets for operating the cars, the faster will be the speed at which the general public will declaim against both the railroads and the Council.

The motto of us all is "get there," and whether in the automobile or the street car or the steam railroad, we risk our limbs and lives in order to do the "getting there" with all the dispatch that is possible. There is really no necessity for this "getting there." It is simply a speed madness which has taken possession of this day and generation. The Express probably knows this and need not be told it. But it has become the mere tail to Hearst's socialistic kite and is appealing by every means it can think of to the passions of the lowest and most dangerous elements of the population. Hence Millionaire Earl's daily output of demagogic rant against the capitalists.

JUDICIAL SALARIES.

The proposed Assembly Amendment No. 11, which is to be submitted to vote at the election November 6, will probably be carried if the facts of the matter are understood by voters. It is a case in which a statute conflicts with the Constitution of the State, and the proposed amendment is necessary in order to carry out the intent of the statute.

Under the provision of the Constitution as it stands, the salaries of the District Court justices are to be the same as those of the Supreme Court justices. In contravention of this provision the Legislature in 1905 enacted a law purporting to fix the salaries of the justices of the Supreme Court at $8000 each, and of the justices of the District Courts of Appeal at $7000 per annum. The Constitution also provides that the salaries of the justices shall not be increased or diminished during the terms for which they are elected. In consequence, the law of 1905 does not apply to any of the incumbents, and does not go into operation until the first Monday of January next. Then it will apply only to two justices of the Supreme Court, who are to be elected at the November election (to succeed Justices Henshaw and Lorigan.) The other justices of the Supreme Court (Chief Justice Beatty and Justices McFarland, Sloss, Angelotti and Shaw) will receive only $6000 per year each until the end of the respective terms, while the newly-elected Supreme Court justices will draw down $8000 each.

The plain intent of the law of 1905 was to give all justices of the Supreme Court $8000 each, and justices of the District courts $7000 each. But the provision for the latter is conceded to be inoperative because the Constitution requires that their salaries shall be the same as those of Supreme Court justices. Thus, the effect would be to give the nine District Court justices $8000 per year each (the terms of all of whom begin anew in January next,) while five of the seven Supreme Court justices, including the Chief Justice, would receive only $6000 each during their terms of office.

By the adoption of Assembly Constitutional Amendment No. 11, the mix-up caused by the statute of 1905 will be straightened out, as the Constitution itself will be so changed as to fix the salaries of Supreme Court justices at $8000 and those of District Court justices at $7000, as the terms of the amendment apply immediately to all the justices. The salaries provided for are not excessive, considering the high quality of judicial knowledge required. The amendment ought to be adopted by a large majority. Of course there is no partisanship in the matter. It is simply a question of right, justice and expediency.

A QUESTION ANSWERED.

The Times is in receipt of the following courteous note:

COUNTY NON-PARTISAN ORGANIZATION.
S. C. Graham, chairman; Ed. North, secretary.

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 16, 1906.

To the Editor of The Times:

In looking over The Times Independent ticket, published this morning, I noticed that you have indorsed the candidacy of P. A. Stanton for the Assembly. In view of the past attitude of The Times toward Mr. Stanton, will you please inform me what reason The Times has for giving him its support or for refusing to support Dr. William L. Brown, candidate for the County Non-Partisan Organization. Very truly yours,

S. C. GRAHAM,
Chairman.

This is a proper question and The Times hastens to answer it. The reason why The Times placed on its "model ticket" the name of P. A. Stanton as its candidate for Assemblyman from the Seventy-first District is that Mr. Stanton's opponent is one of the worst promoters of misfit politics in Los Angeles—one Dr. W. L. Brown, who is chiefly responsible for the political crime of sending "Doc" Howton to the City Council from Ward Six. This fellow, Brown, and an adventurer named Norton were the bosses of the Howton campaign and did more injury to the civic respectability of Los Angeles than any pair of political quacks that ever conspired for ill. We have no need to enlarge on this point. The one word "Howtonism" tells it all. Brown is the arch introducer of this disease. He is a dangerous man to send to the Legislature or to place in any position of trust. Of course he is supported by E. Tobias Earl and the Evening Express. They were the original newspaper advocates of "Doc" Howton. While Mr. Stanton is a machine politician and The Times has criticised his course in the past, he seems to be the only man in a position to beat Brown. Stanton may stand for bad politics, but Brown represents civic pestilence. The moral health of the city demands that Brown be squelched.

The Rose of Silence.

He plucked a rose at twilight gay,
A rose that white as moonlight lay
Among her braids of gold.
"Keep thou the flower until I come,
'Twill tell thee through the distance dumb
All I have left untold."

The years, the silent years go by;
Or linger long or fly they fast
The heart in sorrow knows.
Long in the churchyard green at rest,
She waits his coming. On her breast
There lies a dead, white rose.

THE KITE AND THE TAIL.

GILLETT'S INDEPENDENCE—EX-SENATOR'S TRIBUTE.

BY HON. THOMAS R. BARD.

SENATOR BULLA'S recent tribute to the character of the Republican candidate for Governor of California suggests to me the possibility of saying a word that may serve to relieve the anxiety of any conscientious Republican voter who may be alarmed by the campaign accusation that our candidate will not be an independent Governor.

Mr. Gillett has won the confidence of the people wherever he has been called to represent them. He has held honorable public stations from the gift of his home county and Congress District, and has filled them to the entire satisfaction of his constituents and his political associates. We have not heard one word of accusation from his political opponents that he has ever, or in any degree, been unfaithful to the people or the State, in the discharge of any of the varied public duties which he has been called to perform.

My personal acquaintance with Mr. Gillett began when he first entered the House of Representatives. Because of the favorable impression I had formed concerning his character and ability, derived from the reputation he bore among many of my friends who were his associates in legislative work, and anticipating, therefore, that he would early receive proper recognition, I watched his career with much interest. Among his colleagues in the House, he gained the reputation of being not only a very capable member, but also as a courageous and independent man. The interests of his district and State received his zealous and constant attention; but that was not, as is the case of some of our Representatives, the limit of his ambition and usefulness. He was always alert and interested in the greater questions of national importance, and was unwilling to record his vote in such matters without due preparation. He was a very industrious member. Such men resist the temptations of social functions, and the many attractions which the City of Washington constantly affords, and keenly appreciating their responsibilities, give more time and harder work to their public duties than they are accustomed to devote in their professions or private occupations, though the reward seems to be much more remote, inadequate and uncertain than are the fees and earnings by which their abilities are recognized at their homes. It is such men as Mr. Gillett who, in the long run, by their diligence and independence, become the real leaders in Congress, rather than the men who are gifted with genius or are backed up by the influence of railroad and other great private interests—and that fact ought to be a source of great gratification to every true American.

Mr. Gillett's work as a member of the Committee on the Judiciary has been remarkable for its dignity and importance. In that connection, I desire to refer to an incident which, in my judgment, alone proves that Mr. Gillett is not only capable, but is conscientious, courageous and independent. He was a member of the subcommittee appointed by the Committee on the Judiciary to investigate the impeachment charges preferred against Judge Charles Swayne of the District Court for the Northern District of Florida. In the course of the investigation, he committed himself to a certain extent in favor of the impeachment of Judge Swayne. But, eventually, having been appointed on the special committee to prepare the articles of impeachment, and after a fuller examination, Mr. Gillett became convinced that he had been misled. He then jointed the minority in their report that the evidence was insufficient to justify the impeachment.

Throughout the debate in the House in this matter, Mr. Gillett ably led the opposition to the majority report of the committee; and by his earnestness, fairness and courage in that trying position, won the solid and enduring esteem of his colleagues. His views were fully sustained by the order of the Senate acquitting Judge Swayne from the charges in the articles of impeachment.

In the debate in the House, having been interrupted by the question whether he had not a month before agreed to the impeachment, he replied as follows: (I quote from the Congressional Record:)

"If I made a mistake in the first instance, I now want to stand up and say, after the disclosure of all these facts which I have mentioned, that I did Judge Swayne an injustice, and if I have a chance, I am going to vote to undo the wrong I did him." [Applause.]

This action of Mr. Gillett illustrates more forcibly than any words of commendation I may attempt to express the strength of his character. It is impossible for such a man to be subservient to any interests that are antagonistic to the public welfare, while he may be charged with the duty of protecting it. Such a man will never be unfaithful to his own conscientious convictions or to the people by whom he is entrusted with public duties.

Knowing him as I do, I rely implicitly upon the statements made by Mr. Gillett on many occasions during the campaign, that he will recognize no man or corporation as his master; and I am confident that, when elected Governor of the State, he will never be untrue to himself or in any way forfeit the esteem of those who, by their association with him, are best qualified to judge of his character and worth, and who are giving him their unqualified indorsement.

At this juncture in the campaign, no greater injury can be done to any innocent candidate than to accuse him of having received his nomination by the grace of the agents of the Southern Pacific Railroad Company; for it is evident that the people of the State are intently bent upon breaking down the machine which has been so often used to elevate to public office the tools and agents of that great corporation through the manipulation of the nominating conventions of the two great political parties in this State.

The statement of Hon. George Knight will be received by many voters as good authority that Mr. Gillett secured his nomination in spite of the Southern Pacific influence. But even if it be true that Mr. Gillett did receive the support of railroad delegates in the Santa Cruz convention, we can well understand that they acquiesced in the demand by certainly a large plurality, if not a majority, of the members of the convention that there should be selected for the highest political office of the State, a man who was absolutely independent and who could not be assailed because of any suspicion that he had ever been, was then, or is likely to be, in any way subservient to the railroad interests.

The railroad politicians, however audacious they have become, are not so unwise as to demand and secure, if they could, the nomination of a whole ticket or even of the greater part of a ticket of men who are known, or suspected, to be the compliant tools of the great corporations. The Southern Pacific Railroad is in politics for the main purpose of securing nominations, by both great political parties in this State, to those offices only which have to deal directly with questions affecting its interests. If you would know how far it has accomplished its purposes in this campaign, scrutinize particularly the character of the nominees for judicial offices for members of the State Board of Equalization and for Railroad Commissioners. To elect the men whom it has imposed upon either party as candidates for such places, it must necessarily permit the nomination of such men as Mr. Gillett, or else its plans would be easily defeated.

An Inquirendo De Lunatico.

(A British scientist asserts that within a few years the whole world will be crazy.)

Now, Budkins is a thoughtful man
And half his mental labor
Is to observe and wisely scan
The make-up of his neighbor.
'Tis odd, indeed, how closely he
Can judge one's brain equipment—
In fact, he quite agrees with me
On what Smith's latest slip meant.

Smith is a man who has a fad
Of making stamp collections,
And Budkins says that Smith is mad—
His brain is made in sections.
One section is the faddist side
That holds Smith in its fetters;
The other is a crafty guide
And bids him stamp his letters.

And thus for every stamp he sticks
He pays ten times its value.
Is he the prince of lunatics?
Would you decide, or shall you?
And, furthermore, 'tis Budkins' view
That Brown and Black and Mooney
And Jones and Johnson, Perkins, too,
Are just the least bit looney.

He cites the way that Higgins walks,
The style of Griggson's collars,
The stammer with which Roberts talks,
McGlue's wild chase for dollars,
The slavish way that Murphy works,
The point that French is lazy,
The gleam that in Pott's optics lurks,
As proof that each is crazy.

Why, Budkins even said that I,
For some small disagreement
With his queer views, must think awry—
Was dotty—that's what he meant!
Now, listen, Budkins may be sane,
But when he says I'm crazy
It shows the workings of his brain
Are rather more than hazy.

Investments that Pay and Grow at the Same Time

How the Ownership of Business Property Is Made Possible Into Units for Individual Investments In Any Amount.

THE TRUSTEE COMPANY OF LOS ANGELES has made possible for investors, of either large or small means, to become owners of business property in the most central business district of the city.

THE PROPERTY—The property known as Trustee Investment No. 1, is located at 340-342-344 S. Broadway—the most central location in the city. The building is a modern, steel, fire-proof structure of the most permanent character, four stories in height. The foundations and steel work are strong enough to carry six additional stories, which may be added at any time, making ten stories in all. The present market value of the property is more than $300,000 and could be sold at once at that price. It is leased as a whole for 10 years at an average annual rental of $22,200 and the expense of operation. These facts determine the value and safety of the investment.

DIVISION OF THE OWNERSHIP—The ownership of the property has been divided into 266 equal Unit-Interests, which are sold to investors. The instruments by which these Unit-Interests are conveyed to purchasers are called "Investment Bonds." Each Investment Bond represents one Unit-Interest and the transfer is made by the assignment and registration of the Investment Bond in the office of the Company. Fractional Investment Bonds representing tenths of units are also issued when desired.

RESULTS TO INVESTORS—The Trustee Company collects from the property and after payment of taxes and insurance, pays to investors, quarterly dividends out of the rental earnings, at the rate of $12.50 per unit, payable on the 10th day of each March, June, September and December. In addition to the quarterly dividends, the surplus remaining is divided on the 10th day of December each year, two-thirds going to the investors pro rata and one-third to The Trustee Company as a compensation for its services.

INCREASE VALUE—As the property increases in value each Unit-Interest increases in the same proportion and it is safe to say that this increase will be at least 6 per cent each year. Therefore it will do well to investigate this proposition before buying mortgages or other bonds which pay a low rate of interest with no increase in value. It is not good business sense to take an annual rate of 4 per cent. or 5 per cent. on money, invested without increase in value, when it is just as easy to make 6 per cent. in cash, with at least as much more in increase value.

Full information concerning this proposition will be furnished upon application.

THE "EXPRESS"—ITS HISTORY.

Always a Political Straw in the Wind. "Push" Organ Till But Yesterday.

A political straw in the political wind in this fair Southland of California is the little twilight Express, published by that great and good man, E. Tobias Earl. The Express has been a political straw in the political wind ever since it was prematurely brought to birth.

The paper has eked out a precarious existence in this community for a full generation. In all that time it has advocated every ism, every ology, every vagary known in the political world from the rankest Populism to the most hide-bound Republicanism. It never has taken the same stand two years in succession. In the last previous gubernatorial campaign it was for Gage and against Pardee. This year it was for Pardee and bolted because he was not nominated.

The little journalistic craft never seems to have chain enough to reach down to anchorage which will hold it steady.

Of course, we have a mixed metaphor here, but that only serves the better to express the devious career in politics and morals which the Evening Express has followed since its birth away back in 1871.

It has allied itself with every kind of cranks and with every other interest, bad and good, generally bad, that has cropped out in this community during the whole course of these long years. It never seems to have made itself sufficiently useful to any interest to find sustenance enough to afford it a constant abiding place with any one party or with any interest.

It has been regular Republican, Independent Democratic, ring Republican, Machine Democratic and Socialistic.

Generally it has worn the machine collar so tight around its neck that it could look in no direction but straight where the political boss's finger pointed. At times it has been so hide-bound in its regularity to the most rabid partisan politics that a plumber's pincers would break its points in trying to get hold of the skin on its back.

It has been for the churches and against the churches. It has taken part of the saloons, and has taken part in fighting the saloons. Not to go back too far, during the short period in which its present owner has linked its waning fortunes with his own, it has advocated with all the little strength it possesses the most bigoted devotion to machine politics of any paper in the State of California. It has stood for everything placed upon the Republican ticket without regard to the mental, moral or business qualifications of the candidate, including Dan Burns, and has tried vainly to make a little capital by criticising the independent action of The Times in its advocacy of the defeat of an unworthy candidate upon the Republican ticket for the benefit of the general community first, and of the Republican party second.

But lo, what a change! This new convert to independence in politics and to the advocacy of decency in a general way, now poses as the only simon-pure advocate of good government and pure politics in the community. Its zeal, as is generally the case with new converts, whose conscience has been reawakened from a long sleep, carries it too far. The new political wind blows in the independent movement and it is such a firm sway that it has whirled away from its former moorings and no one knows where. The menace of the word "political collar" has about the same effect upon it as the sight of a red rag to the eyes of a mad bull. It fairly shrieks in its hysteria about political bosses, political machines, and corruption.

Oh, well, let it go! This new spasm will last, as short a time as any of the old ones. It will soon find out that it is no use as an advocate to the Independents as it has been to Labor, Greenbacker, Free-Trade, Granger, or any of the isms, ologies and ites that like will-o'-the-wisps have led it dancing into quagmires in politics. Just a little patronage will bring nickels to E. Tobias Earl and all that the Express is after. Then it finds out that the pickings in politics are as scarce along the path of the Independents and Socialists as they are along any of the other paths it has followed in its devious course. It will look for some other "door of hope." There is no room in pure politics is about as there was that of Dan Burns, its present and all-time model.

MUSIC AND THE STAGE.

In the foremost rank of this year's amateur musical organizations is the Woman's Orchestra, now holding regular rehearsals, with a capable organizer, numbering more than forty members.

Mr. Hamilton, organizer and director, is still incapacitated by reason of his summer illness, and his place is being filled in an artistic manner by Mrs. Behoenefeld, whose directoral work has not been confined entirely to violin clubs, but which has extended over a large part of the orchestral field.

A number of concerts are soon to be given, and the orchestra has undertaken work of the most serious character.

The instrumentation is unusually full, in the violins there are ten players, and eight seconds, with four in the 'celli, and two double basses. There are two flutes, two clarinets, two horns, three cornets, one trombone, tympani and drums. Although one does not expect to find women adept at the heavier instruments of the orchestral field, the ones missing here are the fair.

A number of well-known women are among the players. One of the first violins is Mrs. MacNell, director in the Symphony Association.

Mr. and Mrs. Lott have a number of musical novelties in preparation for their series of chamber concerts. Among these are Wolford Davies' "Pastorale" for vocal quartette, with quartette and pianoforte. Lott will be heard in "The Songs of Lea," a cycle for baritone, with chorus, by Charles Villiers Stanford.

The first concert, which is to be given November 22, the Krauss Quartette will play a number by Max Reger, a group of Hungarian dances played by Joachim and a romanza by Mr. Krauss and Miss Lott will play a sonata by Schumann.

Goodhue will give his second organ concert at Christ Church this week, assisted by Violinist Natzenfeld.

St. John's choir entertained with a musical concert at the Ebell Club-house last night, as a benefit for the choir fund. Waldo Chase directed, and Norma Huntley acting as accompanist. An excellent programme of instrumental and vocal music was presented.

Oskar Seiling has seen fit to withdraw from the Kopta quartette for the following reason that two of the players play in cafés for the making of their bread. As both these gentlemen are indisputable artists, and since pure and undefiled music is in most instances a matter of irresistless passion, Seiling's action is rather indiscreet. He is a violinist, and the prestige of the quartette would have been an excellent one. Mr. Kopta and Heinrich Lott will give their first concert in a few days.

Seats for next week's concert of Emilio de Gorgorza, at Simpson Auditorium, will be on sale this morning at Mr. Behymer's office in the Auditorium store. Gogorza is an artist worthy the high-standard of concerts which he is a part in this city.

Mr. Berry's translations are occupying a large part of his time in connection with his manifold duties as organizer, foreman, amateur architect, book-keeper, treasurer, ticket-seller, office-man, house expert and press agent. Mr. Berry is now endeavoring to bring up from Chicago a huge operatic organization, a member of which, from balladist to impresario, can carry on a conversation in English.

Sketch of Political Straw in the Wind. "Pink" Organ Till But Yesterday.

A political straw in the political wind in this fair Southland of California is the little twilight Express, published by that great and good man, E. Pinkney Hart. The Express has been a political straw in the political wind since it was prematurely brought to birth.

The paper has eked out a precarious existence in this community for a full generation. In all that time it has advocated every ism, every ology, every policy known in the political world from the rankest Populism to the most pig-headed Republicanism. It has edited itself with every kind of thing and with every other interest, good, generally bad, that has turned out in this community during the whole course of these long years. It never seems to have made itself particularly useful to any interest to have remunerance enough to afford it a permanent abiding place with any one party or with any interest.

It has been regular Republican, Independent Democratic, ring Republican, Machine Democratic and Socialistic.

Naturally it has worn the machine collar so tight around its neck that it could look in no direction but where the political boss's finger pointed. But what a change! This new found independence in politics and this tendency of decency in a general way to pass as the only simon-pure exponent of good government and good men in the community. Its not unnaturally the case with new converts whose conscience has been asleep for a long sleep, carries with it the new political wind that is blowing. The independent movement has taken a firm sway that it has never known from its former moorings. Where the mentioned "political collar" has had any effect upon it as the writer is the eyes of a mad man who kicks in its hysteria against bosses, political machines and corruption.

MUSIC AND THE STAGE.

The foremost rank of this year's musical organizations is the Philharmonic, now holding regular rehearsals, with a capable organization numbering more than forty musicians.

Adolfo Tandler, organizer and director, is well appreciated by reason of his musicianship, and his place is filled in an artistic manner by Hugo Kalisch, whose directoral efforts have not been confined entirely to the baton, but which has extended to a large part of the orchestral work.

The first of a series of concerts are soon to be given and the orchestra has undertaken some of the most serious work.

Mrs. Lott have a number of novelties in preparation for their series of chamber concerts. Among these are Wolford Davies' quintette for vocal quartette, violoncello and pianoforte, which will be heard in "The Songs of the Sea," a cycle for baritone, with chorus, by Charles Villiers Stanford.

The first concert, which is to be given November 22, the Krauss Quartette will play a number by Max Reger, a group of Hungarian dances arranged by Joachim and a romanza by Mr. Krauss and Miss Lott will sing numbers by Schumann.

Mr. Kopta will give his second concert at Christ Church this month, assisted by Violinist Nahmsfeld.

The Ebell entertained with a musicale at the Ebell Clubhouse last night, as a benefit for the Pasadena Hospital. Waldo Chase directed, with Miss Huntley acting as accompanist.

The first programme of instrumental and vocal music was presented.

Arthur Bessing has seen fit to disband the Kopta quartette for the reason that two of the members play in cafés for the manager's benefit. As both these men are indisputable artists, and since pure and undefiled devotion to music is in most instances a rather resultless passion, Bessing's step seems rather indiscreet. He is a newcomer and the prestige of the quartette work would have been an excellent thing.

Mr. Kopta and Heinrich von Stein will give their first concert in a few days.

Seats for next week's concert by Emilio de Gorgorza, at Simpson Auditorium, will be on sale this morning at Mr. Behymer's office in the Birkel store. Gogorza is an artist fully worthy the high-standard series of which he is a part in this city.

Mr. Berry's translations are now occupying a large part of his time. In connection with his manifold duties as organizer, foreman, amateur architect, book-keeper, treasurer, ticket-seller, office-man, house exploiter and press agent, Mr. Berry is also endeavoring to bring up from the south a huge operatic organization, not a member of which, from ballet-master to impresario, can carry intelligible conversation in English.

As Mr. Berry has not been schooled in Italian, his numerous letters and telegrams are entrusted to the care of an interpreter, who is now finding pretty steady employment.

On Monday The Times attempted to be facetious, and ventured that matinée-idol William Desmond would return to the kingdom of hearts on Wednesday—which is today.

Since that time half a hundred persons have attempted to buy tickets to Desmond's special performance of "The Kingdom of Hearts," at the Burbank Theater.

This column apologizes for its lame humor, and now gives the unvarnished statement that Mr. Desmond is simply coming home.

MORE PECULATIONS OF CROPPER COMING TO LIGHT.

Missing Contractor Leaves Mass of Unfinished Small Contracts for Houses Costing Under $1000 Each. Pile of Lumber on Vacant Lot Only Tangible Asset.

The peculations of A. O. Cropper, the missing contractor, who is wanted here in connection with about $60,000 worth of unfinished building contracts, have grown during the last twenty-four hours.

It is now known that in addition to the unfinished contracts which were recorded according to law, there was a great mass of small contracts for poor people's houses, costing less than $1000 each. These also are on the "unfinished" list. Collections from these people of moderate means have been made by Cropper and, in many cases, it will be necessary for the lumber and building material merchants to take over the entire property to satisfy the bills for material.

The only tangible real or personal property that the creditors of Cropper could find during their hunt yesterday, was a quantity of lumber which had been piled on a vacant lot on East Thirty-fourth street. Several attachments were gotten out against this lumber and the Becker Law and Collection Agency had two constables sitting on the lumber all of Monday night and up to yesterday morning.

It developed yesterday that Cropper is wanted in Lake Charles, La., for several unpaid bills. He lived in that city prior to coming to Los Angeles.

The man's record in this city is not of the best. He was declared a bankrupt in the Federal courts, October 24, 1905. He had no tangible assets.

The report became current, yesterday, shortly after noon, that Cropper had returned to the city and that he was consulting with an attorney in the Stimson building. As the report spread, agents for a half dozen of the material men of the city swarmed about the offices of the building looking for the man. He could not be found and soon another report was circulated that Cropper was in hiding at the home of a relative, near the town of Watts, on the Long Beach branch of the Pacific Electric Railroad. A delegation of agents for the creditors went to Watts, but learned nothing.

A move is on foot to call a meeting of the owners of houses which Cropper failed to complete, and also of the several lumber and supply dealers of the city. In this way alone can the full amount of Cropper's liabilities become known.

WRECK VICTIMS AT REST.

Remains of Barrett and Freytag Laid Away Yesterday in Evergreen Cemetery.

Wallace Arnold Barrett and Henry Freytag, the two men killed in the Brooklyn avenue street-car wreck Saturday, were laid to rest yesterday afternoon. Indications are that no more fatalities will result among those seriously injured. The six patients at the Sisters' Hospital are all improving in condition, and Mrs. Oscar Smith, who has been in a critical condition at the California Hospital, is reported out of danger.

The Barrett funeral service was held at the parlors of Pierce Bros., undertaking establishment at 3 o'clock under the auspices of the Knights of Pythias. Rev. W. L. Martin, pastor of the Boyle Heights Christian Church, conducted the scriptural services. Many were present, and a profusion of floral offerings bespoke high esteem for the dead and deep sympathy for the widow and 11-year-old son in their bereavement. The casket was conveyed to Evergreen cemetery in a funeral car of the Los Angeles Railway, and was interred with full fraternal rites. Wallace Arnold Barrett was a native of Ohio, 36 years of age, and a member of the A. O. U. W. and Knights of Pythias.

Surrounded by a host of friends, the widow, little daughter and two sons of Henry J. Freytag took their last leave yesterday afternoon from a loving husband and father. The funeral service was conducted at the family residence, No. 2173 Blanchard street, at 3 o'clock. Interment was in Evergreen Cemetery. Deceased was a native of Illinois and was 32 years old. He was highly respected by all who knew him.

Union Gang Tries to Run Business of One Company—Concern Declines to Paste Potemite Label on Its Suits—Northern Disgruntled Walking Delegates Here.

Now it is the festive Knight of the Needle and Yardstick who thinks he will do all manner of things to the employer of Los Angeles. He intends to establish the "closed shop" in every tailoring establishment in the city, and yesterday took the first step in that direction.

The thirteen tailors employed by the J. R. Hardy Company, in the Braly building, walked out without a moment's notice because Hardy would not turn over the management of his business to the totemites.

There is an organization known as Local No. 61 of the Journeymen Tailors' Union of America, in this city, and it is this little gang that is stirring up the trouble.

At the Hardy shop there was no question of wages raised. The men simply wanted to run the business, and that is all there is about it. They asked Hardy to sign a scale and an agreement not to employ any one other than a member of the totem organization, and to also plaster the union label over every suit or coat he manufactured. Hardy refused, and not a man showed up for work.

It is believed by the tailors that this is the beginning of a campaign to establish the "closed shop." A number of disgruntled totemites from San Francisco have come here lately, and have been stirring up trouble on all sides.

The fact that a great quantity of the fine tailoring required by the residents of San Francisco has been done here since the disaster of last spring, has caused an influx of journeymen from the north. These, as a rule, bore the brand of the labor trust of San Francisco, and after they secured good jobs here urged the trust to send several walking delegates to make "closed shops" and breed trouble.

There is an organization of employing tailors in this city, but owing to the absence of any trouble among the workingmen and the existence of high wages, the organization has not been active. The employing tailors will make a united stand, employ free workingmen, and run their own shops.

Death of John M. Griffith Causes Sorrow.

His Work and His Character Worthy Lesson.

In the passing of John M. Griffith, who died yesterday morning at 9:30 o'clock at his residence, No. 939 West Twenty-first street, Los Angeles has lost another of its earliest pioneers and most enterprising and energetic merchants. He was one of the city's most public-spirited men, a citizen who had been foremost for nearly half a century in almost every undertaking for the upbuilding of the city's interests.

Mr. Griffith was a powerful factor, not only in the material affairs of the city, but also in every movement made for the betterment of educational facilities and for the moral improvement of the community through church organizations.

John M. Griffith, and house built by him in 1869 which was removed to Hill street about 1889, and on which church. As such it is still in use.

Of all the men in the little pueblo of Los Angeles, when Griffith located here in 1853, there are perhaps not twenty still alive. His old friends of early days passed away one after another. There were few of them who did not owe many and substantial favors to his generosity. Of the few left living there is not one who does not feel that in the death of Mr. Griffith he has lost a friend of a lifetime, one of the truest, staunchest and most liberal men he ever knew in all the course of his life.

Intent in his dislike of shams and frauds, Mr. Griffith was also ardent in his admiration for everything that was manly and true and right. He stood always with all the strength of his manly character against everything detrimental to the city, and strove earnestly at all times for all that was true and noble and right. He was the same in politics that he was in business and in religious affairs. He stood for every man that was true, every man that rendered the public loyal and effective service.

HERITAGE TO CHILDREN.

Passing away at the age of 77 full years, Mr. Griffith leaves to his children and grandchildren, who are all intimately connected with the affairs of the city, a precious heritage in the ideas that remains behind him, more precious than any material wealth could possibly be.

The illustration shows the old Griffith home. When it was built in 1869 it was the first really modern house ever put up in the city of Los Angeles. It stood for many years on Broadway (Fort street,) half way between Second and Third. About 1889 the house was moved back to Hill street, on the rear part of the lot, and the Potomac building was erected on the site of the old home. For ten years this row of buildings on the west side of Broadway, between Second and Third streets, was the handsomest block in the city, and the Potomac was one of the best appearing buildings in the row. The old home is now converted into a temporary meeting house for a Presbyterian congregation which worships there.

Had Mr. Griffith lived only for himself and kept his gains for himself, he might have died one of the wealthiest men in the community. He gave away a dozen fortunes, and by this gentility, he died rich in good deeds and noble purposes.

RECORD OF HIS LIFE.

Mr. Griffith was born in Baltimore December 27, 1829. In 1852 he came west, and engaged in trading with the Indians at Vancouver. He settled at Sacramento in 1857, and engaged in lighting on the Sacramento River for the California Steam Navigation company. In 1857 he was married at Sacramento to Sarah A. Tomlinson. The family came to Los Angeles in 1863 and at the head engaged in the transportation business with his brother-in-law, Mr. Tomlinson.

About 1865 Mr. Griffith established himself in the lumber business in connection with the transportation business, and later took in as partner S. J. Lynch, the firm name being Griffith & Lynch & Co. The lumber business he conducted continued exclusively, and was incorporated as the J. M. Griffith Co. January 12, 1907, and was president and

The illustration shows the old Griffith house. When it was built in 1869 it was the finest modern house ever put up in the city of Los Angeles. It stood for many years on Broadway (Fort Moore Hill way between Second and Temple. About 1889 the house was moved back to Hill street, on the rear portion of the lot, and the Potomac building was erected on the site of the old house. For ten years this row of buildings on the west side of Broadway, between Second and Third streets, was the handsomest block in the city, and the Griffith house was one of the best appearing buildings in the row. He gave away a goodly portion of his fortunes, and by this generosity, he died rich in good deeds and noble purposes.

RECORD OF HIS LIFE.

John M. Griffith was born in Baltimore county, Md., March 27, 1829. In 1852 he came to California and engaged in trading with the Indians at Vancouver. He settled at Sacramento in 1857, and engaged in business on the Sacramento River with the California Steam Navigation company. In 1857 he was married at Sacramento to Sarah A. Tomlinson. The following year he came to Los Angeles in 1862 he became engaged in the transportation business with his brother-in-law, Benjamin Tomlinson.

In the year 1865 Mr. Griffith established himself in the lumber business in connection with the transportation business, and later took in as partner S. Mathews, the firm name being Griffith & Co. The lumber business he conducted exclusively, and continued as the J. M. Griffith Co. until 1887, and was president and manager of the corporation from its inception, devoting his entire attention to it up to the time of his last illness.

Mrs. Griffith, who was well known for her charity and held in high esteem by all who knew her, died in Los Angeles July 4, 1886. Mr. Griffith was a Master Mason, an Odd Fellow, a member of the California Club, Chamber of Commerce, Los Angeles Board of Trade, and other organizations.

Served one term as City Park Commissioner, and was appointed commissioner of Yosemite Valley by Gov. George Stoneman.

For a number of years he was a vestryman of St. Paul's Protestant Episcopal Church and an active and enthusiastic member of the Building Committee, which had in charge the erection of the present church building. Mrs. Griffith gave the lot upon which the church was built. Mr. Griffith was a member of the Los Angeles volunteer fire department (old 23's company) in early days.

WAS SERIOUSLY HURT.

Late one evening in August of 1901, upon leaving the Santa Fé depot at San Bernardino, he accidentally fell from a raised platform, fracturing his left hip, which confined him to his bed for several months, and from which he never fully recovered.

The children of Mr. Griffith are Mrs. J. A. Graves of Alhambra, Mrs. H. G. Stevenson of Menlo Park, F. T. Griffith, P. H. Griffith, John T. Griffith of Los Angeles, and Howard Griffith of Downey.

There are twelve grandchildren: Mrs. Hugh P. Stewart, Selwyn, Katherine, J. A. Jr., and Francis Graves, children of Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Graves. Howard G. Jr., Clara, Frederick T., and Margaret, children of Mr. and Mrs. H. G. Stevenson; Margaret, child of Mr. and Mrs. F. T. Griffith; William H. and John S., children of Mr. and Mrs. John T. Griffith.

This brief sketch of the life of the deceased pioneer is altogether inadequate so far as showing usefulness in this community since he located here about fifty years ago. There is one fact mentioned which shows the spirit of the man. He was a member of the old volunteer fire department. His presence in that organization was far from being like that of the immature boy who seeks in it some personal glory.

The community at that time was small, and public-spirited citizens were few in number. Mr. Griffith's presence there was that of the good citizen, ready to render service to his city in a humble as well as in a more exalted way.

WORKED TO AID OTHERS.

In those early days there was not a movement set on foot for providing a better system of education, whether public or private, in the city of Los Angeles, that Mr. Griffith was not in the very front of those who were instrumental in promoting it. There was not a religious movement of any kind or under any name among the recognized Christian denominations in which Mr. Griffith's hand and purse did not figure to a material degree. Never a church member himself, he was always ready to forward any project for the establishing of a Christian congregation in the city.

About the time of Mr. Griffith's arrival here, Dr. Boardman, a Presbyterian clergyman, arrived, and Mr. Griffith was one of his first friends, one of the most liberal contributors toward the building of the brick church which stood for many years on the corner of Temple and New High streets, where the steps now lead up to the Courthouse. When this was afterward transferred to the Episcopal Church Mr. Griffith was found among the list of vestrymen, and in this capacity for more than twenty years he gave his time, his best advice, and his means in abundance, to carry forward the work of that congregation. So with every earnest attempt to establish religion in Los Angeles, Mr. Griffith was always ready, and especially so with his purse.

NOBLE QUALITIES SHOWN.

The decided and upright character of Mr. Griffith can be illustrated by two incidents. When he was engaged in the lumber business he had for a rival S. J. Lynch. The two men met on the street one day, and Griffith said to Lynch, "Let's form a partnership in the lumber business." Lynch said, "All right," and so the two concerns united under the firm name of Griffith, Lynch & Co. After some time in business together the two men met on the street as accidentally as before, and Griffith said, "Lynch, let's dissolve partnership." "All right," replied Lynch. They went to the office of the company, took all the secured book accounts, and piled them up in two sections. Griffith then gave Lynch a check for half the money of the firm in the bank, another for half the amount of stock in the yard, and then said: "Now, which pile of securities will you take?" And so the dissolution of the partnership was accomplished, and the two men remained as good friends as ever.

Old timers well remember the thrilling races that passenger stages from the steamer at San Pedro ran to see which stage would reach Los Angeles first. The Griffith Transportation Company sent a boat out to the steamer landing passengers at Timm's Point. The Banning Transportation Company ran a lighter from the steamer to Wilmington. Then began an exciting race of the two stages from the shore to the doors of the Bella Union Hotel. The conflict for business between the two companies was so exceedingly intense and the men's characters so positive that personal friendship was impossible between Gen. Banning and Mr. Griffith.

But when Gen. Banning found himself on his deathbed, he sent a message to his antagonist to come to his bedside and see him. He said: "Mr. Griffith, we have had little to do with one another in our lives but in the way of intense opposition. I want to say to you that never for a moment did I lose sight of your sterling qualities of character, your great uprightness, your usefulness here as a public-spirited citizen, and I have never entertained for you during all these years of business struggle anything but the very highest respect and esteem. Mr. Griffith, I am about to pass away, and I have sent for you to ask a favor of you. My boys are young and inexperienced. They will need advice and guidance. Will you give me your consent to say to them that when they want such advice on any matter, business or otherwise, they are to go to you for it?"

The funeral services will be held tomorrow morning at St. Paul's Pro-Cathedral.

MAKES RECORD FOR DENIALS.

Police Commission, for Varied Reasons, Turns Down Many Applications for Liquor Licenses.

The Police Commission made a record for denials at its session last night. Its first action was to deny the application of George Magica for a restaurant liquor license at No. 121 East Fourth street, because of the protest of the patrons of the Young Woman's Boarding Home, which is close by.

The commission denied the application of Palletak & Mostahinich for a restauarnt liquor license at No. 103 South Broadway, on the ground that there is now a saloon located in an adjoining building, and another restaurant liquor license a little further down the block.

J. H. Franklin was denied a restaurant liquor license for No. 236 South Alameda street, as the report of the police department was to the effect that Franklin's place would be patronized by a rough element of the colored people, and would be troublesome to the police department.

A batch of eight applicants for permits to operate employment agencies was passed, but the application of Hawkins and Fortin was held up, as it was discovered that this firm had two applications in for the same street number, one of which was in their own name and the other in the name of the Los Angeles Employment Company.

A retail liquor license was granted to M. Siglie, Jr., for No. 639 East Third street, and a similar license was given to Fox & Kellerman for No. 219-23 West Third street.

O. M. Hayward, who had an application before the commission for a poolroom permit for No. 2114 East First street, asked permission to withdraw the application, and this was granted. This was the case in which the applicant was met a week ago by a protest signed by 165 residents of Boyle Heights and at which time the protestants declared they wished no poolroom permits issued for any place within the Ninth Ward.

Stephen H. Tinkham was appointed a special policeman for the Imperial Café for Saturday nights, the regular special officer for that place appearing before the commission and declaring that it is necessary to have extra help to handle the usual Saturday-night crowds at that café.

James B. Smoot was appointed a special policeman for the Murray Show Case Company, and L. G. Mather, who is an inspector of street sprinkling, was appointed a special policeman at the request of Street Superintendent Hanley.

The request of William E. Alexander that he be reinstated as a police officer was denied, and the resignations of Special Officers L. J. Sheridan and O. A. Brown were accepted.

The hearing of the complaint of Stanley B. Wilson against Officer Fred Arguello was continued for one week.

Application was made for a wholesale liquor license for No. 1581 West Washington street by the Western Winery. This will be acted upon at the next meeting of the commission.

CHARGED WITH BIGAMY.

Word comes from Redbank, N. J., that an indictment has been found there against Carl G. Robbins, formerly of Los Angeles, charging him with bigamy. The story is that he was married in California about three years ago, but deserted his wife and went to New Jersey. There he married Ethel Raymond of Newark. But wife No. 1 followed on his trail and began the prosecution against him. His trial will be at New Brunswick in Middlesex county.

EVENTS IN LOCAL SOCIETY.

PROMINENT society folk of San Francisco who are here visiting for a short time are Mr. and Mrs. E. Clinton Worden and Mrs. Worden's mother, Mrs. A. N. Towne. Mr. and Mrs. Worden were expected to be the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Newhall, but owing to Mr. Newhall's ill health and their consequent sudden determination to go to Europe, Mr. and Mrs. Worden and Mrs. Towne decided to stay at the Van Nuys, where they now are.

Mrs. Worden is a daugater of the late A. N. Towne and her husband is a clever business man, occupying an important position as president of the salt trust of the Pacific Coast. The Wordens, with Mrs. Towne, will remain here about a week before leaving for the East to spend the winter.

MRS. E. AVERY McCARTHY,
popular young matron, who will entertain on Thursday with a luncheon for a company of women friends.

Miss Haven Here.

Miss Marietta Haven, a charming Oakland belle, is here as the guest of Dr. and Mrs. Thomas McNab of Hotel Leighton for a month or so. Mrs. McNab is planning to entertain for Miss Haven, but in a most informal manner, as her staying at a hotel makes any formal entertaining rather inconvenient.

Newhalls for Europe.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Newhall of No. 11 Chester Place are planning to leave in about ten days for a trip abroad. They will tour all through Europe, and expect to be gone about a year, and perhaps even more. This determination on the part of the Newhalls is rather sudden, and its object is mainly for the benefit of Mr. Newhall's health, which has been failing much of late.

That Mrs. Newhall is to leave is a source of regret to her friends, and especially to those interested in the Assistance League work, which she, as president, has done much to further. Mrs. Newhall's place is now to be filled, and it is puzzling the heads of the members of the league as to who will be the next president. The election is to take place on Thursday at the home of Mrs. Randolph Miner.

Tea for Miss Herron.

Mrs. Rufus H. Herron of No. 2780 Severance street has issued invitations for a tea to be given on October 30, in honor of her daughter, Miss Edith Herron, one of the most attractive of the young debutantes. Part of the guests are invited between the hours of 3 and 5 o'clock, and the other half between the hours of 5 and 7 o'clock. Young men friends of the hostess have been invited in during the latter hours.

Fitch Engaged.

The engagement of James G. Fitch and Miss Susan Hovey of Tacoma, Wash., has been announced. Mr. Fitch is a son of Capt. and Mrs. S. B. Fitch of Prospect and Magnolia avenues, Hollywood, and is spending a few days with them before leaving for the North, where he goes to be married. The wedding is to take place at the bride's home on October 24.

Potters Home Again.

Mr. and Mrs. Milo Potter and their daughter, Miss Nina Jones, have returned from a delightful eastern trip. They visited friends in St. Paul and in Chicago, in Highland Park there, and then went on to New York, where they enjoyed themselves immensely. Mr. Potter has gone to Santa Barbara for a few days to look after his interests.

Leave for Denver.

Mrs. M. L. Bates, Miss Della and Miss Emma Bates left last evening on the Salt Lake for Denver, where they go to spend the winter. They expect to remain there about six months and then go on to New York and other eastern cities for a short visit.

Henshaws Entertained.

Judge and Mrs. F. W. Henshaw of San Francisco are staying at Hotel Van Nuys, and are cordially entertained by their friends here. They were guests at a little dinner party given by Mr. and Mrs. Will E. Dunn of West Twenty-eighth street this week, and Dr. and Mrs. Ernest A. Bryant are also entertaining for them.

Mrs. McCarthy's Luncheon.

Mrs. E. Avery McCarthy of Redondo will entertain tomorrow with a luncheon party for a few of her women friends. Mr. and Mrs. McCarthy have one of the prettiest homes in Redondo, and it is the scene of much pleasant entertaining. Though as yet the McCarthys have given no large formal affairs, their hospitality is a delight to all who know them, and Mrs. McCarthy is one of the most gracious of young matrons.

Mrs. Silent Returns.

Mrs. Charles Silent of Chester Place, who has been enjoying a month visiting friends in the north, has returned home again. She visited Del Monte, Monterey and other northern resorts during her absence.

Sunshine Society Party.

Members of the Sunshine Society gave a card party yesterday afternoon at the home of Mrs. George W. Randall of No. 2623 Monmouth street for the benefit of the philanthropic fund of the association. The house was decorated with flowers and ferns and handsome prizes were given. Assisting the hostess in receiving were Mmes. W. W. McLeod, Willis M. Dixon, A. P. Chapin, E. C. Davis and Miss May Hewe, Lucille Dixon, May Flint and Lou Crawford. Young girls who marked the scores were Misses Helen Randall, Marian Haley and Feriba McLeod.

Confederate Daughters Feted.

The Southern women who have been enjoying the entertainments at the Fresno U.D.C. convention last week have returned home. Two receptions were given the visitors, beside numerous auto drives and informal luncheons and dinners. Those who went from Los Angeles chapter are Mmes. Albert M. Stephens, Jefferson D. Gibbs, William D. Woolwine and Martha Robinson; from the Santa Ana chapter, Mrs. Victor Montgomery; from Wade Hampton chapter, Mrs. Salyer, Mrs. Hutchinson and Miss McGaughey; from Redlands, Mrs. Wimberly and from John A. Reagan chapter here, Mrs. William Marvin.

Yesterday afternoon Los Angeles Chapter, U.D.C., held its first meeting of the year at the Ebell Club rooms. Mrs. Martha S. Robinson was elected president; Mrs. G. Aubrey Davidson, first vice-president; Mrs. Agnes Chichester, second vice-president; Mrs. Murphy, recording secretary; Mrs. James T. Fitzgerald, corresponding secretary; Mrs. James L. Koyer, treasurer; Miss Cora Mathews registrar; Mrs. Kate Fitzwilliams, historian.

Yaw Benefit Postponed.

The concert which was to have been given by Miss Ellen Beach Yaw for her boys of the Lark Ellen Home early in November, has been postponed. Miss Yaw has gone north on her concert tour, and contrary to her expectations, will not be able to return in November. Club women and the directorate of the home were planning to conclude the concert with a handsome reception for Miss Yaw. This will take place on her return.

Mrs. Van Nuys's Musicale.

The musicale given yesterday afternoon by Mrs. I. N. Van Nuys of No. 1445 West Sixth street, in compliment to Mrs. A. L. Danskin and Mrs. Frank Flint, was delightful to those present.

The handsome home was decorated artistically with rare flowers. In the hall and reception-room American Beauty roses were arranged in graceful profusion, and the drawing-room held glowing clusters of brilliant yellow chrysanthemums and potted plants. Above stairs in the ballroom one the third floor, pink carnations and ferns and pink-shaded lights contributed much to the beauty of the scene.

An interesting musical programme was presented, and Herr Oskar Seiling was heard for the first time here. He is a noted violinist of New York, who is here for a short time. Charles Bowes, baritone, and Edward S. Fuller, pianist, completed the musical trio, who gave the programme for the afternoon.

A large company of guests enjoyed the afternoon.

Miss Florence White and Hugo Donegan, who are to be married this morning at 9:30 o'clock.

Lovely White Wedding.

This morning at 9:30 o'clock the nuptials of Miss Florence White and Hugh Donegan will be solemnized in the St. Vincent's Church, Washington street and Grand avenue, Rev. J. L. Glass officiating.

The church has been converted into a radiant vision of snowy blossoms and ferns. Fluffy masses of white chrysanthemums are filing against the marble altar and little tapers gleam among the white blossoms. Ferns and white tulle complete the pretty effect.

The bride is a flaughter of Mrs. Cecilia M. White of No. 2324 South Grand avenue, and has lived here nearly all her life. She is popular in church and social circles, and has many friends interested in this event. She is a graceful and pretty girl, and will wear a becoming gown of ivory messaline and trimmings of Duchesse lace, and made en traine. Her long tulle veil will be fastened with a coronet of lilies of the valley, and she is to carry a shower cluster of the same flowers. Her only ornament will be a heart of diamonds, surrounding a large pearl, the gift of the groom.

Miss Georgia White, sister of the bride, is to be maid of honor, and her costume is of pale pink taffeta, made with an overdress of white silk net. With this is to be worn a pink picture hat with pink plumes, and she will carry pink Bridesmaid roses. Little Tiny Clark is to be flower girl, and will carry a basket of Cecil Bruner roses. She is to be gowned in white net over pink silk, made with showers of pink baby ribbon. Dr. A. H. Glaninni of San Francisco is to be best man. He and his wife are here for the wedding. She will be remembered as one of the charming Denker girls who was married last year. Louis A. White, brother of the bride, and Eugene F. Ganahl are to be ushers.

Prof. Wilde is to have charge of the wedding music and will play the marches and other appropriate music.

Following the ceremony a breakfast will be served at the home of the bride's mother. Here the bridal table will be decked with pink tulle and Bridesmaid roses and pink-shaded candelabra, while a canopy of tulle and ribbons will be above the festal board. Pink and white roses and ferns and smilax are used in the pretty decorations throughout the home. The bride's going away gown is of pale gray cloth, with hat and gloves to match. Mr. and Mrs. Donegan will leave for Santa Barbara and Del Monte soon after the ceremony, and later will go to San Francisco to make their future home, the groom being a civil engineer there.

Mrs. Lee's Affair.

Mrs. Baker P. Lee of No. 75 South Hoover street entertained the Daughters of Christ Church with a reception from 3 until 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon.

A pleasing musical programme was given, to which Miss Edith Herron contributed vocal solos; Miss Molony, piano numbers; Miss Portia Newport and Master Vinton Bettin, violin numbers, and Miss Nora Dickinson and Mrs. Hannon, piano numbers.

Miss Dee Is Bride.

A pretty wedding took place at the home of the bride's sister, Mrs. Fred Nielsen of No. 422 East Twenty-first street, when Miss Lora E. Dee became the bride of John D. Crews. Rev. Schultz officiated. Carnations, cosmos, roses and ferns, were tastefully distributed through the house. The popularity of the couple was attested by the many beautiful gifts received, among which was a handsome case of silver and table damask, as a token of the esteem in which the bride was held by her fellow employés of H. Jevne Company. After a week at Coronado, Mr. and Mrs. Crews will be at home to their friends at No. 2139 Trinity street.

Notes and Personals.

Miss Nell Hagadorn has returned from a most enjoyable six weeks' trip to Honolulu, which she took in company with a party of friends.

Miss Grace D. Swiggett and W. E. Craig, formerly of Los Angeles, were married on the 16th inst. at El Paso, Tex.

The B.P.O. Elks, No. 99, will give their annual theater party at the Burbank Thursday of next week.

development of the Mohawk into one of the greatest producers of the country, with a record production of from $1,000,000 per month, has attracted the attention of mining men and big operators to the immediate territory addjoining Goldfield's famous bonanza. This has resulted in the consummation of several important mining deals in contiguous territory, one of the most important of which was the purchase of the Lou Dillon claim by a syndicate of Nevada capitalists, including L. M. Sullivan, of the L. M. Sullivan Trust Company, president of the same institution, Governor John Sparks, and other prominent mining men. The price paid for the valuable property was large and two days later could have been resold at a big per cent. advance over this figure, but the offer was refused. The purchasers have incorporated a company to take over the property and exhaustively develop it with a view to making one of the great producers of the camp.

The Lou Dillon property, comprising approximately 19 claims, adjoins the Silver Pick estate on the west and is not more than 1000 feet from the great Mohawk. Developments of recent date on the Silver Pick have been of sufficient importance to give great value to the Lou Dillon, aside from its contiguity to the Mohawk. At least eight leasers are actively engaged in developing Pick ground and are making a mine showing that indicates that the property will soon take rank with the great producing mines of the district. On a lease, which is within a few hundred feet of the Dillon, several veins of high grade ore have been encountered that carry average values of from $70 to $340 per ton. Sinking is being done as rapidly as possible in order to cut these veins at the same depth at which the great Mohawk ore bodies were disclosed. According to their pitch and trend they come together on the Lou Dillon ground and, with every degree of certainty possible; it is predicted that when they meet they will form a tremendous deposit of high grade ore.

At least four ledges of gold ore have been exposed on the Lou Dillon ground that have their apexes within the boundaries of the claim. Several of these it is believed are making history for the Silver Pick, into which they pitch, and from every viewpoint the property may be said to present all the earmarks of a great high grade gold mine. The fact that the four ledges disclosed apex on the property is of far more than transient importance, as it precludes any possibility of a legal controversy over extra-lateral rights.

Exhaustive development work will be inaugurated at once and prosecuted with every energy to make of the property another Mohawk. Lying in direct line with the great ore zone that strikes through the Florence, Jumbo and Combination, then through the Mohawk and Red Top, and enters Columbia Mountain, the property that forms the estate of the Lou Dillon-Goldfield Mining Company, together with the Silver Pick, is looked upon to furnish the next great sensation in the way of development of the district, as it seems practically a certainty that the great ore bodies of these famous bonanza mines must continue into the adjoining territory, so strongly defined and permanently formed are they.

With reference to the deal and the practically unlimited possibilities of the Lou Dillon, the Goldfield News of October 6 said:

"The district lying immediately north and east of Goldfield, and adjoining the town, promises to be the greatest producer of gold for the area, known to the mining world. It is the general belief that the ore bodies of the great Mohawk underlie the Silver Pick and other ground further north and west, and this belief is emphasized by investors who are greedily gobbling up the choicest ground in that vicinity that can be had.

"Some days ago Hayes and Monnette, owning the famous Mohawk lease bearing their name, purchased the Esmeralda claim, and now follows in quick succession the sale of the Lou Dillon, the Morning Star, the September claims and the White Rock group.

"The L. M. Sullivan Trust Company were the fortunate purchasers of the Lou Dillon claim. This company has been operating in Manhattan, Fairview, Bullfrog and other districts; but when they found that the Lou Dillon claim could be had, even though at a princely price, they took it on, and have already organized the Lou Dillon Mining Company to operate the ground. The Lou Dillon lies immediately west of the Silver Pick and adjoining it, and endlines the White Rock group on the north. The Silver Pick is being worked by eight sets of leasers. The Lou Dillon has two sets of leasers at work on its own account, under the manager of the Sullivan Company.

"The Lou Dillon is one of the best pieces of ground, prospectively, in this immediate section. It shows four distinct ledges, all dipping to the southeast toward Silver Pick ground, which they will undoubtedly enter at depth. The four shallow shafts on the Lou Dillon all show these veins to be carrying values. The two leases are promising prospects. The Irvin Porter lease is down 45 feet and has values running from $10 to $14 across a 7-foot vein. The Lindsay lease is down 70 feet and assays have been had running as high as $28. This latter lease is only 100 feet from the Silver Pick sideline. Company workings will be started and pushed with the customary Sullivan energy, and Jack Campbell will get ore if there is any in that particular part."

Although this is the first announcement of the purchase by us of the property and the organization of the Lou Dillon-Goldfield Mining Company, the initial offering has been practically subscribed for in its entirety. When the news first became known, brokers of Goldfield, San Francisco and eastern centers of finance immediately began wiring orders for the stock and in all the history of quick promotions this one stands pre-eminently as the most successful. The first day after the perfection of the incorporation, we sold to the most discriminating investors 140,000 shares of stock, the subscription price being 30 cents per share. There remain but a few thousand shares in the allotment to be disposed of and for immediate returns and future developments making for dividends there is not an issue we know of that holds out greater assurances. Like Eagle's Nest and As-You-Like-It the Lou Dillon-Goldfield will be listed on the principal exchanges at San Francisco, Goldfield, Salt Lake and New York and there is not a doubt in the world that it will advance immediately to 75 cents or $1 per share. Without reservation and in the highest terms we present Lou Dillon as a mining stock that is representative of every known good quality that might attach to a gilt edged security and we urgently advise its purchase at the initial price, which is not more than the actual value of the bare ground.

AGED PASADENAN HURT BY AUTO.

BIG CAR RUNS HIM DOWN AS HE IS CROSSING STREET.

Head Strikes the Pavement and Back Is Injured so Severely That His Legs Become Paralyzed for a Time—The Wounds Not Thought to Be Fatal in Effect.

Office of The Times, No. 36 S. Raymond Ave.

PASADENA, Oct. 16.—W. S. Widney was run down by a large automobile at the corner of Colorado street and Fair Oaks avenue shortly after noon today, and so seriously injured that he had to be taken to the hospital in an ambulance. The car was owned and driven by R. S. Grant of Los Angeles, who had with him Austin W. Howe.

Widney, who is nearly 60 years old, was crossing the street when the motor car came along. He had just stepped back to allow another machine to pass and walked in front of the oncoming car without seeing it. As the car struck him, he grasped hold of the radiator and attempted to hold himself up but lost his balance and fell to the ground. He struck his head a severe blow on the pavement and injured his back so severely that his legs were paralyzed for a time. He was removed to the Pasadena Hospital. Later he recovered the use of his legs. He is suffering from the shock, but it is not thought that his injuries will prove fatal.

POLICE COURT GRIST.

George Haas was brought up before Justice Congdon this morning on a charge of disturbing the peace. It was claimed that Haas had threatened the life of his wife and, in other ways, abused her. After hearing all of the testimony the judge sentenced him to serve ninety days in jail, and then suspended the sentence.

Felix Saragossa, a laborer on the Hotel Wentworth, pleaded guilty to having committed battery on the person of one Gloris. Saragossa used a shovel on his antagonist. As Gloris was not seriously injured the assailant was allowed to go with a fine of $5.

Antonio Ballalobos and Valentine Cruz, two Mexicans who got into a fight a couple of days ago and threatened to do each other injury, were brought up before Justice Klamroth to answer to a charge of disturbing the peace. They both admitted that they had been quarrelsome, but as neither had done the other any great harm, the judge allowed them to go on probation.

Sam McBride, a negro laborer who has been a frequent visitor at the police station, fell into the official dragnet again last night. He was charged with drunkenness and was to have appeared before Justice McDonald this morning. When his case was called he failed to answer so his bail money was declared forfeited.

MID-WEEK CONCERT HELD.

The first of the mid-week open-air concerts, which will form a part of the winter's entertainment, was held, this evening, in Library Park. Although the evening was decidedly cool and wraps were needed, there was a good attendance and the crowd stayed until the end of the concert.

The concerts will be given every Tuesday evening throughout the winter, if present plans are followed out, and it is anticipated that they will prove very popular. There is talk of trying to have two evening concerts a week, later on.

Tonight's programme was as follows: March, "Constitution" (Hanninger;) selection, "Popular Georgia" (Boettger;) waltz, "Danube Waves" (Ivanoci;) Indian march, "Oscaloosaloo" (Sawyer;) selection, "Catch of the Season" (Nfahl;) selection, "Tenderfoot" (Heartz;) march, "Wedding Cake" (Neilson;) waltz, "La Sererita" (Jaxone;) selection, "Prince of Pilsen" (Luders;) selection, "National Airs" (Moses.)

NORTH SIDE NEEDS ENGINE.

F. S. Seeley, representing a number of North Pasadenans, appeared before the Council, this morning, in regard to the location of a fire engine house in North Pasadena. The petitioners had heard that it was the intention of the City Commissioners to locate an engine house south of Monk Hill, and they came to protest against the arrangement. They were informed that no such action was intended.

Mr. Seeley, on behalf of the petitioners, took occasion to call to the attention of the Council the necessity for furnishing some protection for North Pasadena at once. He spoke of the fact that the section was absolutely without protection and would, in the case of fire, be at the mercy of the flames. He departed, promising to take the matter up with the commissioners again.

WON'T ALLOW FOOTBALL GAME.

The authorities of Throop Polytechnic Institute, this afternoon, notified the members of the football team that they would not be allowed to play the game with St. Vincent's College of Los Angeles, which had been scheduled for Saturday. The reason given for the action of the faculty is that the St. Vincent's team is a collegiate affair, while the Throop team is made up of preparatory school boys.

It is not considered either wise or safe, either by the faculty or the physical director for the Throop boys to attempt to compete with the older and heavier men of the other institution, and for this reason the game has been called off. The students are not entirely pleased with the order, but it is realized that it is really for the best interests of the game and the team.

The mysterious firm of Fife & White, which secured a number of contracts for oiling city streets, appears to be the same thing as Blodgett, White & Baldwin, the firm whose bid was rejected because the Councilmen thought that there were evidences of collusion in the bids. When the first bids were opened, Blodgett, White & Baldwin were found to have made the lowest bid, but the bid was not satisfactory. When bids were again called for, Fife & White put in the lowest offer, and secured the contract.

Today, the firm of Blodgett, White Baldwin, claiming to be the assignees of Fife & White, asked for an extension of time in some of the contracts, and the cat was out of the bag. No one cared much who did the work, however, as long as it was done, and the desired extension was granted.

CHURCH DISPUTE SETTLED.

The dispute over the new Friendship Baptist Church (colored) has been settled. At the meeting of the City Council this morning the Committee on Streets and Alleys recommended that the members of the congregation be given permission to erect a building at the corner of Camden street and Vernon avenue, the structure to cost $4000. The recommendation was accepted, and now there is nothing to hinder the beginning of the work.

When it was first announced that the church would be erected, residents of the neighborhood objected. An attempt was made to reach some settlement, and the matter was finally taken before the Council. The suggestion was made that the property owners who did not want the church should make a deal with the trustees, and buy the property from them. Negotiations were undertaken, but without avail.

CARD PARTY IS SUCCESS.

Mrs. J. H. Holmes of No. 283 South Marengo avenue, was the hostess this afternoon at a charmingly arranged card party. The game for the afternoon was euchre. The card tables were placed upon the wide veranda, which had been made cool and attractive by the lavish use of many palms and hanging baskets of fern. Within the house the mantels were banked with blossoms and ferns. Mrs. P. L. Auten captured the first prize, Mrs. W. D. McGilvray the second, and the lone-hand prize went to Mrs. A. R. Metcalf. At the conclusion of the games, refreshments were served in the dining-room. Those present were: Mmes. J. C. P. Moore, Norman Bridge, Walter Wright, Helena Childs, C. P. Moorehouse, E. R. Hull, C. W. Bell, R. I. Rogers, Emma Keiser, A. R. Metcalf, J. C. McCauley, P. L. Auten, J. D. Thompson, Walter Raymond, Hampton L. Stoey, W. D. McGilvray, W. F. Knight, Harry J. Macomber, C. C. Bragdon, and the Misses Lindsay and Cameron.

MISS GIPSON MARRIED.

This evening at the home of the bride, No. 206 Lincoln avenue, Miss Zela Gipson was united in marriage to Asa Parlee. The home was decorated with white blossoms, ferns and white tulle drapings. Eight young girl friends of the bride attended her, singing a bridal chorus as they descended the stairs. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Frank M. Dowling of the First Christian Church. Miss Gipson is a member of the choir in this church. Mr. and Mrs. Parlee will be at home to their friends after November 1 at No. 470 Winona avenue.

PLAN ROCKETS TO LIFE LINES.

[SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

VENICE, Oct. 16.—The city officials are considering the establishment of a scientific life-saving station at Venice. The plans, when perfected, will make it possible to hurl life lines out into the ocean by means of rockets. The officials are determined to install only the most modern equipment. Detailed reports will be presented at the next meeting of the City Trustees.

VENICE MAY BE MADE A HARBOR.

MOVE OF RAILWAY COMPANY INDICATES BIG PROJECT.

Franchise Asked for to Water Line Points to Belief That Ocean Front Will Be Used as Shipping Point for Los Angeles — Either Kind of Track Is Wanted.

OCEAN PARK, Oct. 16.—At the meeting of the City Trustees last night a petition was received from the Los Angeles-Pacific Railway Company, asking for permission for a right of way over Mildred avenue, from Pacific avenue to the ocean front. It is said by many that this franchise to the water line is sought as a part of a plan to establish a harbor at Venice, as a convenient shipping point for Los Angeles.

The ordinance covering the right of way provides that work on either a broad or narrow-gauge track must be begun within six months after the franchise is secured, and to be completed within eighteen months.

In beach business circles it is accepted as an assured fact that the Southern Pacific and Los Angeles-Pacific interests are identical.

The application for the franchise as asked for was referred to the committee on public works, with the advice that the petitioners secure the consent of the property owners on Mildred avenue.

GETS BANDA ROSA BAND.

The Ocean Park music committee have engaged the Banda Rosa Band, now at San Francisco to furnish the music for the out-of-doors concerts at the Pier-avenue plaza. To local people this aggregation of musicians is what is known as the Carnival band, which furnished the music during the carnival season of March, 1904. Gregory is the director. They will begin their engagement here about November 1.

OCEAN PARK BREVITIES.

D. M. Crist has resigned as chief of the fire department and city electrician. The resignation has been accepted by the Trustees, and C. M. Spranklin appointed to serve as fire chief.

The resolution of intention ordering a cement walk thirty-five feet wide on the Ocean Front, from Navy street to Harrison avenue, was passed. Bids for the work will be called for.

Orders have been issued to proceed with the construction of the Short Line Beach bulkhead. The work will be pushed as rapidly as possible, so as to have the bulkhead completed before the rainy season begins.

Maj. H. P. Schofield, Col. Harry Wagar, J. R. Slack and A. W. Layne of Ocean Park and E. K. Alpaugh and H. L. Miller of Los Angeles have gone to Elizabeth Lake for a week's hunting and outing. They will travel through the central part of the State by automobiles.

Mrs. Ben Letcher, mother of Mrs. Frank Peltret of Venice received a telegram from Henderson, Ky., this morning stating that her husband had suffered a severe paralytic stroke. Mrs. Letcher had come to Venice to spend the winter, but left tonight for the bedside of the afflicted husband and father. Just before leaving home, Mr. and Mrs. Letcher had celebrated the forty-eighth anniversary of their wedding.

RAILWAY BRIDGE MAY BE MOVED.

U. S. ENGINEER GETS PROTESTS OF LONG BEACH MEN.

Trestle Across Mouth of San Gabriel River Is Declared by Some to Be Detrimental to Navigation—Map Filed Shows That Stream Might Accommodate Freight Vessels.

LONG BEACH, Oct. 16.—Capt. Amos Fries, chief of the U. S. Board of Engineers, gave a public hearing at the City Hall in this city this afternoon on the proposed order of the War Department to the Salt Lake Railroad to remove the trestle on the main line at the mouth of the San Gabriel River, which the City of Long Beach has been granted permission to dredge, widen and deepen and substitute therefor a draw-bridge within one year.

The Salt Lake people sent word that they had been unable to prepare a full data of their protest and asked for further time. They submitted a summary of their formal protest in which they claim that the San Gabriel River never was navigable, that the government has no jurisdiction and that the fee simple rests with the Salt Lake Railroad. To open the mouth of the San Gabriel River they asserted would be detrimental, as it would lower both the waters of the bay and of Cerritos River, which latter stream, they insisted, was the only logical waterway to the inner harbor channels now being dredged.

George H. Bixby protested against the maintenance of the Salt Lake dam and trestle as detrimental to the interests of the Palos Verdes Company.

ANOTHER PROTEST FILED.

Charles H. Windham filed a similar protest on behalf of the Dominguez Investment Company. Both of these enterprises have large holdings adjacent to the bay and to Cerritos and San Gabriel rivers.

H. M. Barstow, attorney for the Los Angeles Dock and Terminal Company, which is developing the inner harbor and seeks an entrance from the ocean by way of the San Gabriel River, claimed that it was the desire of a majority of the people of this section as well as the increasing commercial interests of Wilmington and Long Beach, that the obstruction be removed. He maintained that the river was navigable.

Maj. Arthur L. Sondregger, consulting engineer of the city, submitted and filed with Capt. Fries a map of a geodetic survey of 1872, in which it was shown by United States engineers that the river was undoubtedly navigable and capable of carrying vessels of 100 tons burden.

ENGINEER FILES MAP.

Col. M. J. Kelleher, also a consulting engineer of the city, also filed a map which he said proved conclusively that the land and waters now in dispute had been duly dedicated to the government.

After the protests had been filed Capt. Fries said he would hold the question open for two weeks, during which time all protests must be reduced to writing and signed and submitted to him, and these will be forwarded to the War Department for final action.

As a provisional order has already been made against the railroad and permission granted the city to fill in the mouth of the river, it looks as though the hearing today was merely to get the protests of both sides on record.

WILL USE ELECTRICITY.

Unable to furnish a third dredger in less time than sixty days, the North American Dredging Company has notified the Los Angeles Dock and Terminal Company that in order to fulfill its contract on the inner channels it will substitute electricity for steam on the suction dredger as soon as poles and wires can be strung and double the capacity of that machine, and further promise that the third dredger will be at work by December 15.

WHIST TOURNEY ENDED.

In the Cosmopolitan Whist Club Richards and Osborne, who were scratch men, won with 32 points, going ahead of Laubert and Adams, who had a handicap of 4. A new tournament will begin Friday night.

MUST GET BRICK FLUES.

Notice has been served on the owners of seventeen shacks at West Long Beach by Inspector Newcomb that tin and tile shantics now in use must be furnished with brick flues. The shacks are in squatters' row, along the Salt Lake right of way and near the California Cannery buildings. It is with an aim to decrease the fire risk that the order has been made.

LONG BEACH BEVITIES.

Charles Albert Wilson, 54 years of age, died this morning. He came here a week ago from Omro, Wis., in the hope of improving his health.

Wharfinger Beattge engaged the San Diego this morning to hoist a heavy anchor belonging to the city, sunk near the pier, but in the effort the steamer broke her anchor chain and she lost her own anchor and the other one.

Charles S. Richards, aged 54, died last night after a long illness. He was a native of New York. A widow and son survive him.

NEWS REPORTS FROM CORRESPONDENTS OF THE TIMES.

STIRS MILKMEN OF SANTA ANA.

STATE DAIRY INSPECTOR SAYS PLACES ARE UNSANITARY.

Owners of Four Plants Publish Affidavits Denying Visit by Official and His Returns and Makes Another Tour of Inquiry—Gives Out Signed Statement.

SANTA ANA, Oct. 16.—The milkmen of Santa Ana are stirred considerably over a recent visit of State Dairy Inspector J. L. Starr and the publicity he has given his complaints regarding certain unsanitary conditions that exist in some of the dairies. Mr. Starr, not willing to bring any particular dairyman into unpleasant notoriety with his criticisms, made his denunciations general instead of specific. This aroused the ire of some of the milkmen and the statements of four of the leading dairies found their way into print in an affidavit to the effect that Mr. Starr had not made inspection of their plants for several years.

Mr. Starr returned to Santa Ana yesterday and made a tour of every dairy in the city as well as a number outside of the city limits. He then gave out a signed statement to the effect that while the dairies were in better condition than when he went over the field before, they were still far below the requirements of the State Board in many of the sanitary features. Mr. Starr said that the board will not propose to tolerate any of the unsanitary measures this year, and every dairyman, whether in Santa Ana or elsewhere, must conform to the rules or get out of business.

BALLOT FOR NEXT GOVERNOR.

Hon. James N. Gillett, Republican candidate for Governor, will speak in Santa Ana Wednesday, October 17. Mr. Gillett will come from Orange, arriving at the corner of Main and Fourth streets in Santa Ana, will speak on the issues that lay before every voter in California. Mr. Gillett will come in an automobile. After the speech Mr. Gillett will meet the Republican people at a public reception in the Columbia Club headquarters. George A. Knight will make the address here tomorrow evening.

THE STREET SWEEPER?

The citizens of Santa Ana are beginning to wonder when that new sweeper, which they have heard about, is going to arrive. Inquiries among those that are in the know failed to elicit any definite information about the new machine, beyond the bare fact that one had been ordered, no one seems to know much about it. After months of talk and delays of one kind or another an order was finally given to the William F. Lutz Company of this city for a street sweeper. The Lutz company put in the lowest bid for the work, and to furnish a machine to do the work for about $600, which was considerably under the bids put in by other parties. The order was given Mr. Lutz on July 3, and it was said that the machine would be delivered by September 1. It is stated that Mr. Lutz placed the order with an Indianapolis firm of carriage manufacturer. The machine is a second-hand one, this being the way in which it could be secured at the price quoted, as other bids were on all sweepers for the new work. When Mr. Lutz returned a few days ago he stated that he was keep on route and find out the cause for the delay.

PEACE IS SUCCESS.

Satisfaction is expressed by the trustees over the working of the septic tank. The tank is now in thorough working order, and the flow of waste water is practically free from disease germs or bacteria. This is a boon to the entire community and the surrounding country is going a long ways toward the possible breakage of any kind. The tank is one of the best in California, is well built, and is acknowledged to be the most important improvement completed by this city. It is so constructed that it will amply sufficient for all time to come, and has successfully solved the problem of the sewage question for the City Trustees have been faced with in the past.

PEACEMAKER PARADE.

At a general mass meeting held in the rooms of the Chamber of Commerce at the City Hall last night for the purpose of listening to the report of the Executive committee appointed to prepare plans for the Peacemaker Parade of Products, and to act upon the suggestions offered, the date for the parade was set, and many details concerning the programme for that day. At the end of the proposition to parade, and there seems to be no doubt to prevent this celebration being a record-breaker in the history of Santa Ana and Orange county.

MEETING NEW TOWNSITE.

Surveyor S. H. Finley sent a party of surveyors to Wintersburg yesterday to plat a new townsite. The tract consists of twenty acres recently purchased by T. J. Schaeffer of Santa Ana. It will be laid out in lots and sold for home sites. There is a large demand for property in Wintersburg, by members of the celery colony, and the promoters of the new town will have no trouble in disposing of all their holdings to the people in the past fields, who desire to own their own homes.

HONOR FOR FINLEY.

Lieut. S. H. Finley, commanding the Seventh Infantry, N.G.C., has received an invitation to be present at a banquet to be given by Company F, San Diego. The celebration is in honor of the twenty-fifth anniversary of the life of the company, and will take place on the night of October 17. A number of other military men are expected to attend. Col. Finley has been invited to give an address on the National Guard of California.

HUNTINGTON BEACH MEETING.

Ministers Will Hold Interesting Public Discussion in M. E. Church This Evening.

HUNTINGTON BEACH, Oct. 16.—The ministers will hold a public meeting Tuesday evening, October 17, at the Methodist Episcopal Church. The subject of Christian citizenship is one of the programme, which promises to be interesting. Five-minute talks on Christian citizenship will be given. The pastors of the various churches will represent the ministers; C. W. Warner, president of the Board of Trade, will represent the business body; A. L. Reed, editor of the Huntington Beach Company, will represent the company, and J. J. Goetz, principal of the grammar school, will speak upon the influence of Christian citizenship upon the youth of the land.

Musical selections and recitations will be interspersed among the talks, and it is safe to say that every number on the programme will be worth hearing.

HUNTINGTON BEACH BRIEFS.

Paul Sigler, engineer at the electric light plant, has returned from a month's vacation at Beaumont and other places. He had a fine time but is glad to be back again.

The Santa Ana Marching Club took possession of the town Monday night. They came on a special car and held a grand rally here.

ANAHEIM BANK PROSPEROUS.

ANAHEIM, Oct. 16.—The stockholders of the German-American Bank have elected the following board of directors for the ensuing year: Joseph Helmsen, Ed Miehod, A. Nagel, Tim Carroll, Dr. J. L. Beebe, Erwin Barr, W. A. Bonynge, W. McLaughlin, H. W. Chynoweth. The bank was organized about a year ago, and the annual report showed that it would pay all expenses, and 5 per cent. on the capital stock above expenses. The directors elected H. W. Chynoweth, president; J. Helmsen, vice-president; Charles A. Boege, cashier.

Hon. J. M. Gillett will deliver an address here at about noon tomorrow. He will be given a grand reception.

RIVERSIDE TODAY CHEERS GILLETT.

ROUSING RECEPTION AWAITS STATE'S NEXT GOVERNOR.

Republican Stalwarts of City and Its Vicinity Complete Plans to Make Greeting the Most Memorable Political Testimonial Ever Known in the Great Orange Belt.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

RIVERSIDE, Oct. 16.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Riverside Republicans are gathering their forces to give a glad welcome to James N. Gillett, California's next Governor, upon his arrival Wednesday evening, October 17. Popular interest in Gillett is strong in Riverside, and the rally will lack nothing either in numbers or enthusiasm.

Mr. Gillett and Congressman Smith will arrive from Santa Ana at 7:20 o'clock p.m. They will be met at the depot by William Collier and Assemblyman Estudillo, and will be escorted to the Glenwood Tavern, where an informal dinner party has been arranged. Judge F. E. Densmore, Edward Hyatt, nominee for State Superintendent of Public Instruction, and a number of other prominent Republicans will join the party.

The Loring Theater, which has the greatest seating capacity of any hall in the city, has been engaged for the rally, and it is believed that it will not be large enough to accommodate the assemblage.

The Riverside Military Band will play before the speaking. William Collier, S. D. Pelton, E. P. Clarke, M. Estudillo and Karl Carlton will take an active part as a reception committee. Judge Densmore will preside. About sixty staunch Republicans of Riverside have been appointed vice-presidents and will occupy seats on the stage.

It is not believed that C. O. Barker, chairman of the Republican County Central Committee will return from his wedding trip in time to join in the demonstration, but the other members of the committee, assisted by the loyal Republican hosts of the city, will see that the rally is made a memorable one.

Plans for a reception after the meeting have been given up, owing to the fact that Mr. Gillett will come to Riverside after a fatiguing day's campaigning in Orange county.

ALL VENTURA TO TURN OUT.

Next Governor of State Will Be Given Enthusiastic Greetings at Great Assemblage.

VENTURA, Oct. 16.—Mr. Gillett will be in Ventura Saturday night, and a huge crowd will gather to see him. Preparations are making for a general county turnout to hear him. There will be special trains from all sections to hear him. The greatest enthusiasm prevails among Ventura Republicans over the visit of the nominee, whom all are anxious to see. The county will certainly roll up its usual half a thousand Republican majority for Mr. Gillett on election day. With Mr. Gillett will be Warren Porter and Frank Domingues.

DIES FROM HUNTING MISHAPS.

A sad accident occurred yesterday near Birdsdale, in which Frank Taylor, a youth of 19 years, lost his life. Young Taylor and J. W. Price were out quail hunting, and were in the act of getting through a barbed-wire fence. Young Taylor was just a little ahead of Price. In some way the latter got his gun caught in the fence. It was discharged. The load of shot entered the calf of the boy's leg, shattering the bone. Medical attendance was not available, and Taylor was put aboard a train and taken to Los Angeles for treatment. The injured leg was amputated at the knee, but the wound was such that the young man could not withstand the operation, and he expired. Both men were late residents of Fillmore.

SAN DIEGO PEN POINTS.

SAN DIEGO, Oct. 16.—Pupils of Russ High School are contemplating the formation of a military company under the leadership of Principal Hardy, who was for some time in charge of the Harvard School at Los Angeles. It is planned to spend vacations in camping as a body.

The City Council last evening passed an ordinance reducing water rates by fifty per cent.

After many weeks, and in one sense, after many years of incessant labor, the debt on St. Joseph's Catholic Church has at last been removed. The church was first built in 1884, and ever since it has been many thousands of dollars in debt.

William Myers was the victim of one of the most peculiar accidents that ever happened to a bicyclist when he was riding a wheel yesterday about 8 o'clock at Nineteenth and F streets. Myers was riding along with only one foot on the pedal, and his left foot, which was not on the pedal, became in some manner entangled between the sprocket wheel and the frame. For over half an hour all efforts to get the young man out of the confused mass were useless.

SAN BERNARDINO LIQUOR LICENSE.

COUNCIL DECIDES TO ADOPT MORE STRINGENT LAW.

Failure of Present Ordinance on Drinking in Restaurants and Hotels Leads Board to Instruct the City Attorney to Frame New Measure.

SAN BERNARDINO, Oct. 16.—The City Council has apparently decided the liquor-selling problem for hotels and restaurants, by instructing the City Attorney to draft an ordinance strictly prohibiting the drinking of intoxicants in restaurants unless licensed, and permitting hotels having fifty or more rooms to serve liquors, with meals during regular meal hours. The present ordinance was supposed to prohibit restaurant keepers having no license from serving liquors in their dining-rooms, but since an arrest has been made the City Attorney finds that the ordinance it fatally defective.

HUGH L. DICKSON, of San Bernardino, Grand Counsel of the National Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen.

WINS HIGH POST IN ORDER.

In this column appears the latest photograph of Grand Counsel Hugh L. Dickson, of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen. At the recent national convention of the order, held in Milwaukee, Wis., Mr. Dickson's name was presented, backed by the California delegation. The enthusiasm of the Californians swept the convention.

The new Grand Counsel of the order was formerly a railroad man. One day a train wreck was impending; lives were in danger. Fireman Dickson stood by his post. He came out of the crash with two handless arm stumps. Some men would have been discouraged, but the injured railroad man applied himself to the study of law, being admitted to practice, and has since made a record of which many a university trained jurist might well be proud.

In Arizona he cast his lot, where his name became a terror to the lawless, for, as public prosecutor, he sent many an outlaw to the penitentiary.

MEYER AND HOLLEY ACT.

For 300,000 shares of capital stock, W. V. Holley and Jacob Meyer have deeded to the Standard Mines Company of Cima all their interest in the mines. It is thought that this move is the result of a suit commenced against them by two of the company's stockholders, alleging misappropriation of funds. Active development of the property is under way, and reports received here are of a decidedly encouraging nature. All the region for miles about the group of Standard claims has been located, as a result of rich strikes reported in the Standard property.

RANCHERS FIGHT FLAMES.

A brush fire, which for a time threatened great damage, occurred this afternoon just south of Devil Cañon. Ranchers for miles around responded to the call of the fire wardens, and for hours fought the flames, their efforts being aimed, principally, in keeping the flames from Devil Cañon, toward which a strong air current was drawing. Late in the afternoon a force of rangers arrived from Fredalba, but the flames were under control, and their services were not required. Several hundred acres were burned over.

INCLINE CABLE RAILWAY.

An incline cable railway is to be installed at the new lime kilns being built in Cajon Pass, above Verdemont. The Santa Fé has about completed putting in a side track and long spur to the plant. There are to be four kilns, each of immense size. The quarries are located some distance up the mountains, and from these the incline cable railway will be installed to carry the lime rock from the quarries to the kilns. Los Angeles capital is promoting the enterprise.

REDLANDS BANK APPEALS.

An appeal to the Supreme Court has been taken in the case of the First National Bank of Redlands against Mrs. Gertrude S. Bowers, to recover a large sum of money alleged to be due on a guarantee, whereby the bank claims Mrs. Bowers promised to stand good for notes drawn on a Redlands fruit company. A jury twice brought in decisions against the bank, and once before the case has been brought before the Supreme Court.

GREAT VINEYARD PLANNED.

E. D. Roberts and H. E. Harris have sold to Los Angeles parties, whose names are not disclosed, 960 acres in West Rialto for $28,000. The land is vacant, but will be set to wine grapes.

It is announced that the Arrowhead Realty Company of Pasadena, which last week paid $50,000 for West Rialto acreage, proposes to divide the tract into small holdings for homeseekers.

Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Hengerer of Los Angeles are the guests of Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Harris.

POLICE HUNT FOR FOUR MEN.

BELIEVED TO HAVE TRIED TO WRECK SANTA MONICA CAR.

Two Mexicans in Jail Tell Contradictory Stories as to Their Alleged Guilt in Plot to Derail Trolley Coach Near Coyner's Ranch—Prisoners Under Heavy Bond.

SANTA MONICA, Oct. 16.—The bold attempt to wreck a car on the Los Angeles-Pacific Railway, a short distance west of Coyner's ranch, this side of the Palms, at 1 o'clock Monday morning, is engaging the attention of the local police. Two of the men implicated have been arrested, but their stories are contradictory and unsatisfactory. The railroad company believe they have a strong case against James Garcia and Sylvester Urquidez, the two Mexicans now under arrest. Four others are believed to have been associated with them, but as yet the local authorities have not been able to fasten the crime on any others.

Under orders from Marshal Barretto, the Santa Monica police are making every endeavor to locate the four accomplices. Up to 6 o'clock tonight no new evidence had been obtained. The two men under arrest are in the City Jail, under $1500 bonds each. They will have a hearing on October 25.

The railroad officials are lending all efforts to capture the quartet still at large. The report that the men now in jail had confessed is untrue.

WOMAN ACCUSES MERCHANT.

Before Judge Jenness, this morning, C. P. O'Brien, a Sawtelle business man, was arraigned on a charge of assault with a deadly weapon. The complaint stated that O'Brien attempted to drive Mrs. Oliver Thatcher out of his store at the point of a revolver. O'Brien pleaded not guilty, and the case was set for October 18. Mrs. Thatcher's story, as well as that of her son, is that O'Brien agreed to sell them his grocery store, but that when they went into the place to take possession, O'Brien pulled out a pistol and ordered them out. O'Brien denies that he ever flourished a weapon or that any sale of his stock and store had ever been made to Mrs. Thatcher or anybody else.

WARM SESSION HELD.

At the meeting of the City Trustees last night, Engineer Ellison, of the Los Angeles-Pacific Railway Company, was present and asked that the company be permitted to put a feeder wire on Twenty-sixth street, from Oregon avenue to San Vicente boulevard. This brought forth considerable discussion of the 5-cent fare question, in which the Trustees and the public took part. The discussion became so warm that Mr. Ellison concluded to withdraw his application.

The understanding seemed to be reached suddenly that the Trustees would grant no favors to the railroad company until that corporation would make a 5-cent fare within the corporate limits of Santa Monica. The citizens claim that the company has discriminated against this city.

CITIZENS FLAY COMPANY.

The company is about to double track its road on Ocean avenue, and the City Trustees had asked the railroad company to run a cement curb along the easterly side of the road, and the company was about to be granted the privilege of this curb by the Trustees when the trouble came up. City Attorney Taft took the position that the privilege would be good only until a private citizen takes action or any Board of Trustees orders it out. After a deal of discussion, in which a number of prominent citizens made denunciatory speeches against the attitude of the railroad company toward Santa Monica, the privilege was granted.

It is believed that this curb along Ocean avenue will be of great advantage to the city in taking care of storm waters.

WILL REBUILD LUMBER MILLS.

Member of Brookings Company Tells of Losses by Great Fire at Fredalba.

REDLANDS, Oct. 16.—W. D. Brookings, a member of the Brookings Lumber Company, which recently lost its Fredalba mills by fire, gave out the first authentic information today regarding the rebuilding of the mills.

"Of course we will rebuild," said Mr. Brookings, "there is no other course to pursue. We have the stumpage to keep us cutting for years. We have the railway in the forest and we have the yards in this end of the valley to supply. The only question is the kind and size of the mills. This will be decided as soon as my father returns from the north. The mills have been operated for the past nine years, the latter seven of which we have owned and run them. During the past five years the mills have been visited by three great fires."

The total loss by this fire which consumed the mill, 2,000,000 feet of lumber, the blacksmith shop, toll house and gates is estimated by the owners as $110,000, upon which there was an insurance of $71,400. When this amount is paid the total amount of insurance paid to owners of these mills within the past five years will be $150,400.

The mills were among the largest and most extensive on the Coast. They had been running for this season since last March sawing from 45,000 to 60,000 feet of lumber a day.

REDLANDS NEWS BRIEFS.

At a meeting of the senior class of the Redlands High School held yesterday the following staff was named for the annual publication of the Makio: Editor-in-chief, Arthur Prendergast; josh editor, Clyde Hinkley; athletic editor, William H. Goucher; illustration editor, William Truslow; school editor, Ellison Canterbury; class editor, Mamie Reeder; literary editor, Natalie Feraud; general manager, Harvey Hewitt. The society editor has not been named. It is the plan of this year's class to make the Makio a more notable publication than ever before. It will be replete with stories, descriptive matter, illustrations and joshes of all kinds. It will make its appearance at the end of the school year.

Talk To Men

On Contagious

Blood Poison

By DR. TAYLOR, The Leading Specialist

DR. TAYLOR
The Leading Specialist

On account of its frightful hideousness, Contagious Blood Poison is commonly called the king of all venereal diseases. It may be either hereditary or contracted. Once the system is tainted with it, the disease may manifest itself in the form of scrofula, eczema, rheumatic pains, stiff or swollen joints, eruptions or copper-colored spots on face or body, little ulcers in the mouth or on the tongue, sore throat, swollen tonsils, falling out of the hair or eyebrows, and finally a leprous-like decay of the flesh and bones. If you have any of these or similar symptoms, you are cordially invited to consult me immediately. If I find your fears unfounded I will quickly unburden your mind. But if your constitution is infected with poisonous virus I will tell you so frankly, and show you how to get rid of it. My special treatment for Contagious Blood Poison is practically the result of my life work, and it is indorsed by the best physicians of America and Europe. It contains no dangerous drugs or injurious medicines of any kind. It goes to the very bottom of the disease and forces out every particle of impurity. Soon every sign and symptom of Contagious Blood Poison disappear completely and forever. The blood, the tissue, the flesh, the bones and the whole system are cleansed, purified and restored to perfect health, and the patient prepared anew for the duties and pleasures of life.

Don't throw this announcement away. Cut it out; put it where you can find it, and if what I have to say to you today is not of GREAT interest, watch for another talk. Shall I send you a treatise on any other trouble? I will if you live out of the city; and if you can call I will give you in addition a beautifully engraved chart of the generative organs in three colors.

WEAKNESS
Decline of functional activity, strength and vitality is nearly always traceable to a disturbance in the functions of the reproductive system. Under my treatment functional equilibrium is restored, the nerve irritation reduced, the circulation increased and strength renewed.

CONTRACTED DISEASES
Become chronic through improper treatment; painful caustic remedies are the direct cause of stricture, ulceration and deep seated inflammation of the urinary tract. Chances are that every case now chronic could have been cured in one week to ten days with the right treatment scientifically applied. I am confident I cure these ailments more quickly than any one, with less pain or inconvenience to patients.

LOCAL PRODUCE MARKET.

Business in produce yesterday was chiefly of a routine character and price changes were only of minor consequence, the general market displaying no discouraging features. Receipts of all kinds of staple goods were heavier than usual.

Arrivals of eggs were 223 cases.

Dealers were asking 28 cents flat for offerings on 'Change.

Receipts of butter were 22,806 lbs. One carload of fresh eastern butter came in. This will be about the last carload of eastern butter shipped here this season as prices are too high in the east for western consignments.

Cranberries were the feature of the fruit market. The price was advanced to 9.50 per barrel yesterday, with the prospect of another raise almost any day. It now costs 8.50 to lay a carload of cranberries down here from the east. The holiday season is coming on and with the increase in the consumption, prices are beginning to soar.

Grapes were a drag on the market yesterday. Muscats in particular were in oversupply and lacked attention. Peaches are easier at 90@1.35. Watermelons and cantaloupes were in small supply and firm.

The vegetable market was dull and featureless. Lettuce was easy. Cabbage was firmer at 1.60@1.25.

Fish was scarce. Lobsters were plentiful. The receipts of produce as reported for yesterday's exchange were as follows: Eggs, 222 cases; butter, 22,035 lbs.; cheese, local, 12,958 lbs.; potatoes, 4243 sacks; onions, 1263 sacks; beans, 382 sacks; sweet potatoes, 156 sacks.

SAILOR DROWNED IN HEAVY SEAS.

WASHED OVERBOARD FROM THE YAWL YACHT ROYAL.

Craft Bought By Los Angeles Men Has Stormy Passage from San Francisco to San Pedro—Owners Mystified by Actions of One of the Crew.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SANTA BARBARA, Oct. 16.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The yawl-rigged yacht Royal was towed into port late this evening by the steam launch Point Firmin, having been brought from Point Concepcion.

The Royal left San Francisco October 8 and experienced a series of misfortunes on the south-bound trip. Last Friday the yacht encountered heavy seas and foggy weather off Concepcion, and one of the seamen, a German, whose name could not be learned, was washed overboard and drowned. Sam Kenny, the other man engaged to bring the yacht from San Francisco to the Corinthian anchorage at San Pedro, cruised around the scene of the accident in the hopes of picking up his brother seaman and after a search alone in the boat for forty-eight hours managed to put in at Gaviota, where he telegraphed to this city this morning for help.

The Royal was purchased recently by E. H. Laubersheim and W. T. Kraig of Los Angeles. The owners gave instructions to have the yacht sent to San Pedro. Both owners arrived in this city tonight from Los Angeles, to find that Kenny had taken the evening train for San Francisco, without leaving any word of explanation.

Mr. Laubersheim said tonight: "The whole matter is a mystery to me, but from the appearance of the yacht I would say that the two men in charge were inexperienced seamen. Mr. Kraig and I purchased the yacht in San Francisco and left instructions to have her sent to San Pedro by competent men."

It is expected that the Royal will be put in sea shape and will leave this port for San Pedro tomorrow.

STORM KILLS TEN THOUSAND.

Seventeen Ships and Thousand Junks Are Lost.

Twenty Millions Damage in Hongkong Typhoon.

Twenty-four White People Among the Dead.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A. M.]

VICTORIA (B. C.) Oct. 16.—Ten thousand lives blotted out, seventeen steamers and sailing vessels wrecked or badly damaged, over a thousand junks swamped, turned over or battered to pieces against the stone walls of the Praya, eighty per cent. of the lighters, launches, yachts, houseboats and other craft entirely destroyed, many wharves entirely wrecked, and many damaged, was the result of a typhoon lasting but two hours at Hongkong on September 18, according to advices brought by the steamer Empress of Japan, one of the few vessels to escape the disaster, which arrived yesterday.

The Empress of Japan but a day before gave place at the Kowloon company's wharf to the steamer Changsha, which was entirely wrecked at the dock.

Kowloon sustained the heaviest loss but all sections of Hongkong and the Hinterland suffered. There were twenty-four Europeans among those killed, others were Chinese, consisting mostly of the junk population. They usually ran for shelter when the warning gun was fired but on the morning of the storm the signal was fired at 8:10 and at 8:30 the typhoon was at its height. The junk men scurried for shelter, colliding with each other cutting down yachts, houseboats, etc., striving through the driving rain to reach Causeway Bay. Thousands were soon thrown into the sea, lashed to a fury with waves twenty and thirty feet high.

HUNDREDS PERISH.

The wind blew the Junks around and sent them swirling and twisting to be dashed to pieces against the Praya where hundreds of junks and sampans were dashed to matchwood and the mangled bodies of the crews battered against the stone walls within sight of those on shore powerless to lend aid. The storm ceased as quickly as it began. The sun shone then on scenes of unparalleled destruction at Hongkong. This typhoon exceeded all others experienced there in severity.

Hundreds of Chinese gathered on the sea front waiting, hundreds of newly made widows wept bitterly and many stood stolidly looking on as they usually do.

Hundreds of bodies were swept ashore and the work of carrying them away, by cartloads to impromptu morgues began at once, corpses being photographed in groups of eight and tagged for identification.

Hundreds of mangled bodies were piled among the débris, and the scenes were sickening. It was evident soon after the storm began that the shipping would not ride it out, and vessel after vessel dragged, swerved, and was driven on shore, some being piled right among the stately buildings which line Hongkong's sea front.

WARSHIPS ARE WRECKED.

The Canadian Pacific steamer Montcalm, which drove ashore at Kowloon, broke the French gunboats Fronde and Francisque adrift, and both were driven ashore, the latter being a total wreck, and five of her officers were drowned. The steamers Kwong Chow and Albatross, both foundered with all hands, each vessel having only a white master and engineer. The loss of life on the larger craft, however, was not as great, the junk men contributing the larger bulk of the dead.

LIST OF DEAD.

The identified Europeans are:

Bishop J. C. Hofer, Bishop of Hongkong, whose junk capsized when he was bound on a preaching voyage to a fishing village.

W. F. Donaldson, wife and two children, who were on the steamer Kong Chou.

Capt. Patrick and Chief Engineer Wallace of the steamer Albatross.

Capt. Meade and Chief Engineer Morgan of the Kong Chou, and Capt. Mayfield and Chief Engineer J. Williamson of the steamer Hongkong.

STEAMERS WRECKED.

A list of the steamers sunk, run ashore or damaged, follows:

Sunk—Steamers Sancheong, Ayentede, Sorsogan, Kwong Chow, Albatross, Perseverance.

Ashore—Steamers Monteagle (afterward refloated,) Heungshan, Kinshans, Changsa, Fatshan, Winsai, Takhing, Kongmoon, Sunono, H.M.S. Phoenix, H.M.S. Rosario, French gunboats Fronde and Francisque, Joanne, Sexta, Single, Petrarch, Emma, Luiken, and American ship Hotchkiss, this vessel being right upon the seawall near the torpedo depot.

Damaged—Steamers Prins Waldemar, Deavegongee, Quinta, Strathmore, Coptic, Redbershir, Poona.

When the union officers were endeavoring to save the steamer Hungshan, gallantly swimming ashore with life lines, thieves started to loot the baggage of the passengers. After waving the vessel, the officers turned their attention to the looters, most of them escaped ashore, some being drowned.

The damage a Hongkong and Kowloon and vicinity is estimated at over $20,000,000. The damage in the city was not enormous, being confined to uplifting roofs, broken windows, etc. The bulk of the loss was in the harbor and on the water front.

MILK BOTTLES IN DEMAND.

All Nations to Be Represented at the Baby Show on Saturday Afternoon.

A host of youngsters will be at the baby show, which is to be given in the East Side Congregational Church, on Daly street, Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock, under the auspices of the Woman's Work Society, of which Mrs. F. E. Pryor is chairman.

The children of all nations represented in Los Angeles, with their mothers, will be there, dressed in their native costumes and ready to entertain all callers. The little almond-eyed Celestial will keep company with a host of his American friends. The daughter of the Russian colony will sit beside her Japanese brother, with perfect peace between them. Three Indian babes, dressed in gorgeous colors, the little Spanish señoritas, the fraulein of a tender age, babies of every nation you can think of, will be represented at this entertainment, not even omitting black-eyed and curly-headed Africans.

One of the pleasant features of this show, not practiced in most baby shows, is the omission of a prize for the prettiest baby. All the babies are prettiest—just ask their mothers. No mother's heart will be hurt, no tears will be shed, no unkind words spoken at this show. Mothers will be happy, for each child will receive a pretty ribbon badge.

Flags representing the different nations, together with palms and much greenery, will form the decorations of the forest-like apartments, and here Mrs. Willoughby Rodman will introduce the babies. During the afternoon music will be contributed by Mrs. Godsmark, who will sing a number of cradle songs, and by Delta Katt, who will render a violin solo. Miss Rusbach will be heard in a piano selection. Of special interest will be the kindergarten exercises which have been prepared by the little ones.

THREATENS FOR MONEY.

Young Man Arrested on Charge of Sending Extortion Letter to Girl in Shady Place.

Joseph E. Hood, 20 years old, arrested on Monday night, charged with sending threatening letters, demanding money from a girl, will probably have to answer to the Federal authorities, as the offense with which the young man is charged comes under the United States statutes.

The case is peculiar. Hood, whose home is at No. 1143 Fedora street, comes of a highly-respected family. Several days ago he wrote a threatening letter to Jennie Logan of No. 351 New High street—a shady place—demanding $10 and threatening her life if she did not send the money. She complained to the police.

Following the instructions laid down in the letter, the Logan girl sent a marked $10 bill, addressed to H. J. Keeley, general delivery. Hood was arrested with the marked money in his pocket.

"RAILROAD DAY" EXCURSION.

Three Pullman Sleepers Not Enough to Carry People to Bullfrog for Coming Celebration.

Three Pullman sleepers are not enough to carry the people who have already reserved berths for the "Railroad Day" excursion to Bullfrog.

The special train will leave here next Sunday at 8 o'clock, arriving in Bullfrog late the next day. The cars will be sidetracked, so that it will be possible to sleep in the train. Excursionists will have two nights and one full day at Beatty, arriving in Los Angeles the 25th inst. The excursion tickets are good for fifteen days. The fare will be $20 for the railroad ticket and $3 for the berth, each way. For those who sleep in the train at Beatty, the entire expense of berth and tickets will be about $30. Most of those who have made reservations intend returning to Los Angeles immediately.

The celebrations of "Railroad Day" will contain unique features, including miners' drilling contests and races.

J. Ross Clark will accompany the expedition from this city.

"OWL" WILL KEEP ON.

Nothing in Report That Late Street Car Service Will Be Discontinued. Brooklyn-avenue Matter.

W. E. Dunn, attorney for the Huntington railway companies, last night refuted the report which has been circulated about town that the owl-car service is to be discontinued on November 1.

"I am sure there is nothing in that report," said Dunn. "I was the originator of the owl service, and I am sure that if it were to be discontinued I would know about it. I have heard nothing to that effect, and I do not believe that such a move is entertained by the railroad officials."

Mr. Dunn stated that the committee from Brooklyn Heights waited upon him yesterday morning and that the matter of the straightening of the crooked track on the Brooklyn-avenue grade, where the Saturday accident took place, was entirely discussed. "I believe that when the committee left my office the members were fully satisfied that the railroad company is not at fault because the desired improvements have not been made," said Dunn.

COEUR D'ALENE FREE.

Western Federation of Miners Has Lost Its Grip on This Fine Mining Country.

Now that the Western Federation of Miners has lost its grip upon the rich Coeur D'Alene mining district in Idaho, renewed activity and prosperity is appearing in that section and a number of Los Angeles citizens have become interested in mines there.

It was among the Coeur D'Alene mines that some of the most riotous acts and scenes of incendiarism and murder took place at the behest of the Western Federation. But the decent element in the district rose in revolt and even the union men broke away when the alleged head murderers and assassins of Gov. Steunenberg were placed safely behind the bars.

The district is still a union district, but every union man has to sign an agreement to refrain from violence and rioting and they are no longer dominated by the hand of cut-throats which have caused so much bloodshed and violence from the Coeur D'Alene to Cananea.

At present each mining district or group of mines has its own union and they have set their organized face against strikes or thuggery of any kind. A. J. Richardson of the Chamber of Commerce Building, who is largely interested in mines in this district, states that there is now an agreement between the mine owners and the men by which a regular scale of $3.50 for eight hours' work is paid. The mines are producing, the miners getting good pay and all is peace and prosperity.

Among the mines which a number of Angelenos are interested are the Snow Storm, Idaho-Los Angeles, Snow Storm Extension Copper Company and others.

CANNOT ENJOIN HIM.

SALT LAKE (Utah) Oct. 16.—Joseph F. Smith, president of the Mormon church, cannot be enjoined from using the funds of the Mormon church in commercial enterprises, nor can he be compelled to render an accounting of the tithing funds in his care, as trustee of the church.

A decision to this effect was rendered today by Judge Morse of the State District Court when he sustained the demurred filed in behalf of President Smith in the case brought by Don Carlos Musser and Charles A. Smurthwaite, former members of the church.
